Dear Lan & Sally -

How did your protege, Kazumi Odachi, come out in the GM competition? Hope he was one of "the minority group" this time.

We are interested in your latest pre-fabricated 3-bedroom job. How much & when can we get one maybe?

How's your house coming along. From the picture, it looks like you ~~have~~ have plenty of room! Got any tenants on the top floor yet?

But Mike is talking all the time now! Lan, Jr., is starting to talk now too, isn't he?

Putting words together is still too much for Joyce, but she makes up for it by actions. She's like she is always climbing up on her head & falling off on her head.

It's a wonder that she isn't punch-drunk by now. ... Or maybe she is!

We're waiting for Gas, Lili & Mimi to show up here for Sunday dinner. Tazi managed to buy a non-black market chicken (a small one) & she fried it & is now baking a lemon pie. Oh boy! I can hardly wait! Hope Gas doesn't have too many calls to make. Like all doctors, he is pretty busy even on Sundays.

Dads, gotta watch the bath-water, & find Joyce who's wandered over to the neighbors next door.
