Thursday night

Dear Ken: The telegram probably shocked you - well, I'm just as surprised but the other day I decided to start things rolling from this side & went down to see Hansen who said I'd probably have to wait a month before I'd get any Pullmans to N.Y. since a woman had just the day before made a request for one to Chicago & was told the earliest she could leave was the 24th of October - well - Nechie came up with this startling information today - leave here on the 13th - leave Chicago on the 15th - The only hitch is there's only one Pullman from Chicago to N.Y. but chances of getting last minute cancellations ^(in Chicago) seem fairly good - I pondered over this for several hours & finally decided to leave - house or no house - we can stay at the hotel for a few ^(hope) days - it just happens to be a lucky break so honey, I hope I didn't do wrong. There's a heck of a lot to do yet but by hook or crook I'll leave on Friday morning. You see I couldn't wait to ask what you thought 'cause the ^{reservations} tickets were being held just over today - next time I'd probably have to wait until the middle of November & it's really too cold then - right now seems to be a fairly good time to travel so far as weather goes although we've had some pretty cold days lately.

So - will you wire me some money right away? I've already borrowed $10.

The stuff you said you were mailing hasn't arrived yet but I hope you've mailed them to me - it takes about a week for things to come.

I want to get the freight off by Monday - & unless I hear ^{from} you before then I'll send it in care of the N.Y.
W.R.A. as Wak & you did their stuff. I hope Wak writes me soon about ~~the~~ the rest of their things.

Solly, I hope it doesn't take ~~too~~ too long for the title search or whatever it is to come through. - All gas went home much clothes when we got there - primarily because I counted on several weeks of sewing after the freight left but no use worrying about that now - will have to rent a sewing machine until mine gets there. When do you plan to send for the things in California?

Will write later
