

AN EXHIBITION

BY

Elinor Ulman

Dear Ken,

Sorry you couldn't join us for Christmas dinner - We had a swell reunion -

Now it looks as if I shall spend the next semester studying at Oberlin - ecology (plant), physiography, surveying, with directed reading about conservation, rural problems etc. - Then in the summer make an extensive tour to study different types of rural communities - from the Pennsylvania Dutch on to modern developments, T.V.A., Texas + so on,

The Baltimore Museum of Art takes pleasure in announcing an exhibition of paintings

by

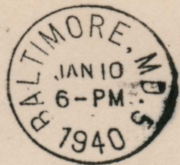

Elinor Ullman

in the Museum's downstairs gallery from January 17 through January 30 coast to coast - Want to come along? I look back with pleasure on our swell jaunt from Talesin to the Asia Garden - Think what we could learn by ringing strange door-bells all over these United States!

Do let me know news of Talesin + yourself - How's life under canvas on the desert, & have you decided against being further exploited? I continue to find it a lovely place not to be, but can see this might not apply equally to everybody - Always, Elinor
