Hello Kan -

Thought you'd like to know how your most brilliant advice turned out. That's the one on jungle fighting. I asked a fellow from the jungle of New Guinea to comment on it. He, being a veteran fighter, was more than glad to do so. The conversation ran -

ME "According to a well-known psychologist it's easy to turn the table on a Japanese soldier who has succeeded in getting the drop on you"

HE "How?"

ME (speaking like an authority) "All you have to do is to bow from the waist."

HE (puzzled) "and then what?"

ME (with a straight face) "The Japanese warrior, caught off guard and not wishing to be outdone in politeness will unconsciously bow also. You then take this opportunity to blight him down with hot leads from your Tommy gun"

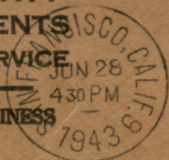

HE (somewhat flabbergasted!) "I think you got something there!"

Will try it when I meet like situation. If you don't hear from me, you know what happened. Just my luck to meet an "impolite" one!
