

Tuesday Nite.
Home.

Dear Len:

I really was busy the last few days-sewing. Gjep! I've started to sew again. Lets see now what didn't I tell you.

Pa is getting along just fine - He came down to eat with us this noon for the first time over a month. Every day is Sunday for him now. You know they say, "if you don't go to church, it will come to you." well, the congregation and all have come all right. When we bring the meal up to Pa, he, being fed up on the Bible, will start in discussing the disciples and their teachings of Christ. Gosh, he sure has a keen sense for reasoning - a thinker. I think he likes philosophy, don't you? He is now reading Paul's letters - Don't ask me where in the Bible, one finds Paul. I get a big slot listening to him though, only my mind is so small that it doesn't interest him so ^{much} as he does me. When he starts into talk about the angels and the "don'ts" of the Christian, we all have to more or less smile. Sporter came home yesterday from his doctor, you never would think that he had so many white hair. I guess the brown color was dirt. He sure looked nice and clean - so fluffy and smelt hospitalish. For once, he sort of made me feel dirty. Well, I hope this will be the last of his expenses. He wasn't so "free" after all. Dr. Preiter told Son that he's a good fighter. He hit on English Bull there. If we should have to raise any fund, we'd conduct a dog-fight and charge admission like they do for cock-fight.

Thanks a lot for getting my Quad. I'm saying "merci" to be sure that you get it and not with assurance that you already have obtained it. This "thanks" is not like yours when you get a box from the cooking school but more like the one that comes after you receive the laundry bag with clean shirts when you couldn't possibly wear the one you have on, an hour longer. It's got that "it."

Have you got an Etiquette Book there. If so, here's a reference. Read the chapter on wedding - the subdivision on gifts to the bride. I thought I'd better hint to you that etiquette requires that every member of the family give a present to the bride beside her regular needs. I'm expecting to pay about $3. for it. Maybe you knew all this - well if so, it fills this page.

I hope you're having a best good time before finals and home. Oh boy, you sure would if you saw the loving propagating house and heard the goal of Pa's ambition. Nick asked me to say, "hello" and that the house is cleaned and white-washed. Then Pa, with this rest, he ^{will} feels like a billion dollars. I mean, he thinks he will have to make up and will not ink, cut mod. Good I bet this is a darker cloud than a simple but forgotten answer to a little but expressive question in ferals. What a good cheer, I turn out to be. One would think I was worried more about your eps than you yourself.

well, here's lucks - and plenty of them. Luck plus knowledge equals ? If I'm so bothered about the studious little boy, I guess I wouldn't write such a beauty ~~and long~~ letter. Tok & Yuri said this is an Eng. 7 Comp. Darn good thing, *note, I forgot I can't tell about it it ain't. wed and the homecoming. I'll see what I can do. This means another mail from someone I guess.

Goodbye and hope you be come air-brinded and fly thru your eps with high colors - you know flying Aces. Only don't have Aces and grey matter flying away: used the again when! how is for a - work.
