Dear Mrs. Robbise,

I want to thank you for having sent me such an attractive Christmas card, and also apologize for not having sent you one. The truth is, I addressed the cards before my grandparents came out from New York, and consequently didn't know your address.

We all admired your cards, and thought them to be among the nicest of the year.

As you know, Gram and Gramp - I'm sure you will excuse my familiar name for them! - have been out here for the last three weeks, and we have been spending a grand time. Time has passed so dreadfully quickly, however, and they must leave tomorrow. As you might <sup>have</sup> guessed, we are all very depressed about this.

I am very happy to hear that you and your son are well. I hope that we will be able to visit New

You sometime soon, and then I would love to see you again.

Thanks again for the cards. I hope you had a pleasant Christmas. Best wishes for the coming year!

Sincerely yours,

Frankie Walker
