

Stamp

A Reply

Yo the fine lookin' and fast Cookin'
Dudes in Cabin # 7~

For 4 days now we've been checkin' out your cabin and just had to reply to the message we felt you ment especially for us...

Your foxy mustaches, broad, tanned shoulders, and cute little baby faces have captured our hearts -

so in reply to your question we'd like to say "how 'bout cookin'
with us???"

We could get in out of the rain and dry off ... TOGETHER!

Remember only 3 more days of camp left... don't let them slip away.

If you dare to reach out...

... we're the girls
in Cabin # 11 ♡

To all of you sexy bodies in this cabin ooo

Would you like to have some fun?
I'm 36-24-36. (If you haven't seen me, I wear concealing clothes.)

I'll be at the dance tomorrow night. Maybe afterwards we can find a nice spot by the lake ooo

If you want to know who I am,
put a big star on your poster tomorrow. If you forget, ooo forget it, cuties!

Waiting,

A Brick House

To you fine dudes 000

I saw your star on the poster today. Now here's the problem 000 there's only one of me and a whole cabin full of you! But we can work this out later.

Now here's the tough part. Whoever (in your cabin) wants to meet me must pass a little test 000 each one of you must write a paragraph on what kind of girl you would want to take out. (For example, looks, height, personality, etc.) Please be honest.

Leave your papers in cabin No. 11 on the ledge by the light switch Before the dance. If they aren't there, forget it.

you'll be hearing from me.

Brick House.

Dearest Brad, Dave, Steve and Frank . . .

I guess I liked your letter. You were pretty honest. (Especially about the personality.) But ~~for~~ one thing wrong . . . I'm disappointed that you were so interested in meeting me in the dark - in the corner. How could we have a good relationship starting like that? And for only two days? I'm sorry guys, I think your reasons for meeting me ~~are~~ aren't right at this time. Maybe next year we can really get to know each other. Maybe even in the near future . . .

A very disappointed
Brick House

Frank, Dave, Steve, Brad, Kenny, Elen, Willie

I guess I should be honest with you guys now. I'm no "Brick House". I just thought it might sound good to say that. Please forgive me.

But, I still believe in what I said in the last letter. Actually, I'm even more disappointed. To Elen and Willie & aren't you taken? How heart-breaking to your girls!

As for my identity, well, I might reveal myself to Steve, since this seems to be his last year. But, he can never tell the rest of you.

I'm sorry that we cannot meet this year. It's just that I think your motives for meeting girls is wrong.

Sorry to break your hearts. . .

Brick House