

Dear Mrs.:

June 17, 1956

The Raymond Melot
is (has) wonderful. I invited Gregg, my nephew, over to open it with me because he loves trying different red wines, and he was tremendously impressed with it. (By the time he finished his second glass he was calling it great.)

Anyway, it was lovely and rich, and you were extremely

sweet to bring me
a bottle.

Truly, cheers.

Gene

P.S. My cousin Midori Kurima passed away the morning of her scheduled 99th birthday party. A lovely memorial service was held Saturday. She had her quite a lady.
One of the church ministers said she had not missed a single Sunday service in 78 years, except for one Sunday each year, or which she celebrated with other graduates of Kate Warner's College.

Not only had she attended that school, but so had her mother.
