

May 7, 1979

Dear Friends:

Plans are in the making for a "Weekend In Vermont," arrangements courtesy of Mayme Noda.

Dates: June 9 - 10, 1979

Location: The Farm & Wilderness Camp
Plymouth, Vermont

A map will follow at a later date.

This facility is a very large boys' and girls' camp on a lake. We will have the use of the girls' camp, Indian Brook, which has a large lodge and cabins for sleeping. The cabins are three-sided and rather breezy, so warm sleeping bags are required.

Cost: There is a $50.00/day charge for this facility, plus a $2.50/person fee. The finances will be settled during the weekend.

Activities: Boating (canoes, small sail boats, row boats available for our use), swimming, hiking, fishing, and for those so inclined, a sauna.

It is strongly suggested that one dress for the outdoors with sturdy shoes or sneakers.

In case of rain, ideas and/or preparations for indoor activities from any quarter would be appreciated.

A waterfront person has been hired, so no one need worry.

Necessary items to bring include:

A warm sleeping bag
Flash light (a must!)
towels
soap
bug repellent (Cutters or Fisherman's Fly Dope are especially effective - an absolute necessity)

Meals: Saturday lunch: Each family to bring its own.

Saturday dinner: A Japanese pot luck.

Sunday breakfast: Prepared for all by some.

Sunday lunch: Hamburgers, hot dogs and a variety of salads.

A vigorous and enjoyable weekend is anticipated, and we hope many will respond by May 20th.

Food and Items already volunteered:

Nobu Hibino - 15 rolls nori maki, potato salad, cups, grill
