

A black and white photograph of the Broadway High School building. The building is a multi-story structure with a prominent central entrance. The entrance is a large, dark, arched doorway with a set of wide steps leading up to it. Above the entrance, the words "BROADWAY HIGH SCHOOL" are inscribed in a light-colored, sans-serif font on a darker background. The building's facade is made of stone or brick, with several large, arched windows on the upper floors. Some windows have decorative tracery. In the foreground, there is a street lamp with three spherical globes on a tall pole. Bare tree branches are visible in the foreground and around the building, suggesting a winter or late autumn setting. The overall style is that of a historical or archival photograph.
