

RAILROADS, SAWMILLS, FARMS & CANNERIES

Before World War II, Idaho had and has varied agriculture, forestry, and minerals. The country has and has had, and especially since 1900, a heavy dependence on agriculture. Agriculture is the main industry of the state, and the main source of income. The main source of income is from the sale of agricultural products. The main source of income is from the sale of agricultural products. The main source of income is from the sale of agricultural products.

Development of major industries and of their location in the state is the result of the location of the state. The location of the state is the result of the location of the state. The location of the state is the result of the location of the state. The location of the state is the result of the location of the state. The location of the state is the result of the location of the state.

Year	Population	Area	Population	Area
1890	100,000	10,000	100,000	10,000
1900	150,000	15,000	150,000	15,000
1910	200,000	20,000	200,000	20,000
1920	250,000	25,000	250,000	25,000
1930	300,000	30,000	300,000	30,000
1940	350,000	35,000	350,000	35,000
1950	400,000	40,000	400,000	40,000
1960	450,000	45,000	450,000	45,000
1970	500,000	50,000	500,000	50,000
1980	550,000	55,000	550,000	55,000
1990	600,000	60,000	600,000	60,000
2000	650,000	65,000	650,000	65,000
2010	700,000	70,000	700,000	70,000
2020	750,000	75,000	750,000	75,000

19

