

RAILROADS, SAWMILLS, FARMS & CANNERIES

Before World War I, nearly every good forest tract in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and California was being logged. The logging industry was one of the best regulated and most profitable in the world. It provided a market for the lumber and other products of the forest, and it was the source of the timber that built the great cities of the West.

Forestry of today is a different story. It is a science, and it is a business. The forester is now a professional, and he is trained in the use of the tools and methods of the forest. He is also a conservationist, and he is concerned with the future of the forest as well as the present.

Year	Production	Value
1910	1,000,000	$10,000,000
1920	2,000,000	$20,000,000
1930	3,000,000	$30,000,000
1940	4,000,000	$40,000,000
1950	5,000,000	$50,000,000
1960	6,000,000	$60,000,000
1970	7,000,000	$70,000,000
1980	8,000,000	$80,000,000
1990	9,000,000	$90,000,000
2000	10,000,000	$100,000,000

10

PROCESSED BY

Kodak

APR. 85 P

PROCESSED BY

Kodak

APR. 85 P