Dear Yuni,

I just heard from Tak for the first time since I arrived here in Philadelphia - she told me about your father. Knowing how deeply you all loved him, I know how hard it must be for you to be reconciled with the fact that he is gone. As I tried to write this to you, I tried to think of how I would have felt in your place and the only thoughts that came to me were of the unselfish and considerate way in which you all gave yourselves for him while he was here. If there is any consolation in the thought that he must have gone happy in the thought that his children were so devoted to him, I know that much is true.

I realize that words are so inadequate at such times as these, but because in my own experience I'd found that sorrows when shared by someone dear were lightened, I hoped in some small measure that my thoughts of you at this time might help.

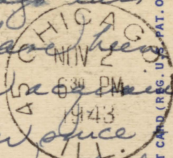

If in any way I can be of service to you, let me know. I'll again,

Sincerely,

Margaret

Dear Yuri,

Thursday and have been trying to become acquainted with the city ever since it is so immense that the task of getting around is not easy - no wonder people never see each other here - am hoping to leave Monday for Phila. saw Chigo and Clara in Denver - liked Denver very much as a place to settle in - In again
