Dear Gini

It's been such a long time since I last wrote - please forgive me - so much has happened since the last time, much that I cannot explain at the moment and my correspondence has suffered negligence for many months now.

About 2 weeks ago I moved into a two room efficiency apartment with 2 very young girls who were staying with me at the "Y." While we are a bit crowded we have a place we can call our own and where we can invite our friends for short visits. It was so difficult while we were at the "Y."

Last nite, Igo and Min came for dinner and Igo told me you were due to arrive here very soon. I decided I would drop everything and send a few lines your way to tell you how happy I'd be to have you here. As a matter of fact, I'd been inquire-ing about job offers for social service at the WPA. However, considering the great number of ~~social~~ service organizations here, you would have no difficulty in finding something and besides from what Igo said it sounded as though you have some good opportunities lined up.

Let me know when you expect to arrive, won't you?
Are you planning to come alone or with someone else?

I've been trying to get Jack to come put her ~~to~~, and in fact, I think she is negotiating at present with the dietitian at the hospital where I'm working, Pennsylvania.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have you both here though!!

Everyone here now is so young! Most of them are students and everything has centered around the Student Relocation Council, but we're hoping ~~many~~ people will be proving for employment.
I, personally, may plan on going on to New York if things work out as hoped for. Everything here is as much as can be expected. I have no real complaints about my job except that I'm not getting anywhere in it and it does not even remunerate well.

One or the other might be incentive enough to stay, but other things have made it difficult for me to stay. I've not been to New York as yet, but hope to visit the big city very soon, perhaps in a couple of weeks to look over the situation.

Heard from Sammy a few days ago - she wondered if I'd decided to forget my past contacts - you see how bad I've been. She doesn't seem too satisfied with things as they are there either, nor ~~has~~ Masha and Tim.

I could write much more, but if you are contemplating a trip out here soon. I'll save everything until you arrive. If you have no where else to stay, you could sleep with me on a studio couch if you'd like. The other girls wouldn't mind I know. I'll be anxiously awaiting your reply then. My address now is 2004 Chestnut St. 'Till again then,

Always,

Margaret
