Thursday, July 19th

Dear Yuri,

Just a note to warn you that I'm scheduled to arrive in Boston on Saturday, July 28th and am hoping to see you and meet Dick.

Please don't tell a soul, but my roommate, Ken Sakai of San Francisco, and I have made reservations to fly up on Saturday. We're scheduled to arrive in Boston at 12:15 noon. We're making reservations at the "Y" there and will stay until Monday when we intend to take the boat trip to Provincetown, come back but I'd hate the thought of going to Boston and missing you completely. Can I reach you by phone?

Jack left for home a week ago and will be gone for a while now. I'm beginning to miss seeing her already.

Clara and Chetohi arrived yesterday to stay a week, but the weather is not cooperating and I feel so badly about it. They're both looking fine and happy but they left Mary in Washington and I'm wondering when Clara will weaken. She tries to keep Mary out of the conversation

Friday night in time to take the plane back here. Yes, we decided to plunge and get a taste of flying before we die and since we'd neither of us been to Boston and since the trip wouldn't be too expensive, and since we wouldn't be interfering with the war effort very much, we thought we'd do it. We want to see a few historic spots in Boston and take in Harvard, but of course we'd like to spend a few hours with you if you can spare the time. I realize you're very busy with studies, so we won't impose too much on your time, sation, but she always manages to slip in. When are you planning to come down?

We've been having a stream of visitors - it's been so much fun!

By the way, have you heard that May Thorika is married?
She's Mrs. William Okamoto now and they say she's radiant!!

I do hope you'll be in Boston when we go there
'counting on meeting you one and only and seeing what marriage has done for you. 'Till again then,

Always,

Margaret
