

16 Union St
New Rochelle, N.Y.

NEW ROCHELLE
JUN 18
10³⁰ AM
1945
N. Y.

Mrs. Yukiho Fukuda
13 Parkman St.
Boston 14, Mass.

June 16, 1995

Dear Yuiho-san,

Hiroshi-san (博+士) thank you for the present of the necktie and derby.

This morning I took out your photograph and looked. I could almost see your lips moving. "Congratulations Pops!" and my heart thumped so hard - like the first time I danced with you.

Have you used your credit with Jay's yet? Be sure to use it for anything you like in there.

Yesterday, Saturday I played around the house. Made a low banister so the children could hang on to the rod when they come to wake me up.

Today, Sunday I got up at 8 A.M. ... washed my clothes - Tho' Sally said she'd do it. Loafed all day.

Peter Aoki came to see Han today. San Franciscan now working in N.Y. - SACL. I wasn't much impressed.

Tomorrow, I shall be in New York. Must get a hair cut just up the street. Han got his yesterday and it looks very good.

Honey. I still cannot make up my mind as to whether to actually look for the job in F. T. I'm almost tempted to work at something else and in the meantime look for an opportunity to investigate and study on my time and go into it myself - in a small way. I'm so anxious to break into the game on my own that somehow it doesn't seem ethical to go into the thing
and take a run out powder.

This week I shall have to make up my mind - "temporary" type of work, civil service, F. T. or industry? It's all looks of fun. The gallop of it is that your husband is rather confident of himself and dear - I know that it is because you are behind me - praying, encouraging
me - Thanks dear and good night.
Your loving husband.
Dick.