

Mrs. Yuriko Tsukada
13 Parkman St.
Boston 14, Mass.

Enclosure: Pencils

Thursday 9:30

Darling!

Boston 4:30 PM - N. R. 9:00 AM. That's how soon the letter came. It makes me feel very close to you when letters come so soon. And in feeling so. - well, I get to missing you more and more.

Tomorrow is Friday again with another week-end pounding at the door. Haven't decided just what to do the two days. I do know that I won't be doing the only thing Dick wants to do - being with you.

In the letter it was a funny coincidence that you asked whether Conys had gotten into Nan's painting - "did" - today. Hair was stuck together with the mess and had some all over himself when I came home.

Darling, from reading in-between, it looks like you'll be able to finish the thesis in time - ahead of schedule. To help it along and I

02:19
Thursday 9:30
hope you won't need them, are a couple of pencil erasers for the typewriter. They're pretty good and handy.

See, honey, wonder what you are doing before I disturbed you with my darnly long distant meeting. It's around 9 or 10 AM - no? I'll bet you have slacks and the T shirt on - with a couple of very nice dimples. I miss them very much. Have ^{you} taken good care of my pets? Do they nurse Dick?

Even if it is Saturday tonight, I guess, you won't be mine tonight.
But please don't stay up all night.
You had a tough week-end so go to bed as soon as you can, please.

But you will know darling as ever that I shall ^{to} sleep wanting you and loving you, always. Goodnite darling with all my kisses. &

your husband
Dick