

WALL S
STAT

Mrs. Yukio K. Iwahada
13 Parkman St.
Boston 14. Mass.

Sunday 7th

10:30 P.M.

Hello Darling.

Am stretched out on the bed after a warm bath. Sort of fussed around the 3rd floor all day and got just enough exercise to make me feel dreamy tired.

Guess, my heart dominated me all day because I kept feeling all wonderful inside - thinking about our coming week-end together. So, even with most of Kar's help I didn't accomplish very much.

Back to work tomorrow. Guess around Wednesday I'll ask him to let me off a little early.

B - is married too. Has a ring almost like mine but not as nice. Seems he's been married not too long a time. Wife's name is Lulu - isn't that something!

Just hoping that the days will not drag. Last week went awfully fast - with Friday come right away.
Then Saturday and Friday my favourite novel will be "Hold Back the Slaves".

I haven't decided what I would like to have for dinner. Ah heh!
darling. Talking about eating when I'm only hungry for you. Darling, the first thing I want to do is to look at you - every bit of you - do you mind?

Until tomorrow then darling. My tomorrow's letter will reach you wed.
That would be only one more day of waiting until Friday. I can hardly wait what shall I bring up with me?

Good night, dear.

Your sleek always.