

①

TRANS. O

Mrs. Yuriko Inuhada
13 Parkman St.
Boston, 14, Mass.

Tuesday Nite

Honey. —

It really isn't getting to be my habit — this business of shipping the days of letter writing.

Last nite we took inventory after closing time and I came home a little tired and sleepy. The B- didn't let me know until that morning so I was caught unprepared.

Darling, don't worry. I'm not overworking at all. Just the matter of getting used to the set-up — I still do not know the art of resting and pretending to be busy at the same time.

Honey, every evening when I'm walking "home" through the tree arched streets, I get a wonderful feeling of anticipation of you waiting for me there. I can't be true I say to myself but the feeling is there — strong and sure.

Tonight there were two of your letters — Sunday and Monday (came morning & afternoon).

respectively.) With the best news your husband can receive - your darling is coming to be with me! Already I can think of nothing else than of your coming. I'm going to enclose your ticket in the mail - tomorrow I'm going to pick it up at Grand Central and enclose it with this letter.

Now, on Saturday I can meet you at Grand Central at 8 P.M. and on - if you can get in at 7 P.M. you may have to wait for me for a few minutes. So, darling, if you should get in at 7 P.M. could you wait for me on the lower level - section where the New Rochelle trains go out? There are benches along the wall where you could sit.

LEAVE: BOSTON

2:00

3:00

~~4:00~~

~~5:00~~

4:00

ARRIVE

7:10 G.C.

7:45 PENN.

9:15 PENN.

} could meet you anyplace at their home

In case we get the signal mixed up - I shall wait at the lower level at Grand Central - OK?

Why honey, if I think of all the things I have to do and haven't I'd get so scared that I'll move right downstairs again. Mr. Dick just doesn't think about them. About the only thing which annoys me are mosquitoes - and one is hovering about me right now.

Yesterday Masao wrote for a train enroute to Washington D.C.! He will be banished in VA. We'll get a chance to see him soon and boy, he sure is glad to come out this way. Also he said that he would refuse volunteering for occupational work. I hope it goes there because he has all reasons to refuse, as compared to some other nicees who don't have close relatives there as we do.

They. I don't say much about my work because nothing exciting happens around here. All I'm curious about is the customers' reaction but they don't seem to mind - I learned there were three nicees here before me so they must be quite used to me by now.

Book only 3 weeks away for Alie! It seemed only a couple months ago that we saw her. See, darling, we've a big must for our future ne?

darling, I'm not counting the hours until I can see you.

I am going to tell you very happy

Good night darling -

Your husband Hub.