Hello Trivette

Well Billie yours truly is now enjoying the comforts and enjoy of camp life. Of course the comforts are few and far between but not bad considering.

The food out here was really terrible at first. Its improving though. Saw Carol a couple of days back and talked about old times. Its certainly would be swell if you were out here too.

About that platonic friendship business, I'm afraid you misunderstood me. I didn't mean to say Sara was a platonic friend - not by any means. What I meant ~~to~~ was that I had platonic friends outside of Sara but she doesn't believe its platonic.

Concerning the advice you asked me for - I'm no authority on that kind of thing but I'll give you my advice for what its worth. Joanne is a very enjoyable companion but I would be very careful and not commit myself.

Saw her Saturday morn at the dance
we had at San Juan and from her conversation she seems pretty interested in Luther Ogawa's brother. Since I wouldn't know but if I were you
I'd be mighty cautious with her.
As for as keeping it mum Billie it's buried in the annals of time so don't worry.

There are certainly lot of kids
here I haven't seen for a long time.
All of Oakland, Berkeley, San Mateo, part of San Francisco etc. is here so you can about imagine all the Japanese here.

Right now I'm feeling miserable.
Got me a bad cold and feel like hell. Here we are in the middle of summer and it gets cold. Wonder how it gets during the winter.

Working with the Recreation Dept.
right now. Trying to map out a program for the kids.

Tuesday

Went to the dance again last nite. Wasn't so bad - lasted from 7:30 - 10:00 P.M. Danced with Iakho, May Kiskii, and Joanne. May and Iakho are still that way about each other and they certainly make a cute looking couple. Bobby Quigula seems to be taking Minnie to the dances over here. Jenko took Iakho last nite.

Went to church this morning and they certainly had a large turnout. Asa and I stood through the whole session. John Yameshuta gave the sermon and lasted pretty long.

They had food inspection today and did we have good food. We had good roast beef, potatoes, lettuce salad, carrots and a whole banana for dessert. Food is improving all the time.

I feel much better as far as my cold is concerned but my cough is getting awful.

Nothing much else of interest now but will write again.

So Long Bill
