

8th of May 45

My dear Bill, Never mind my poor English and all my mistakes, I'm too happy to take care of that - So, the war is over, at last! - - - - Is it to be believed? There is a so long time we are waiting for this end! I'm very and very glad and I thank all the soldiers who made this terrible war ended - I thank you, Billie, my little american friend - And I hope so much our two nations will be always as good friends as now - But in any way we, we'll be always good friends, is it not? - I pray God now to make the war over in Japan too and very soon; He make too this war the last, and the world happy for ever ----

It seems me there is a long time I did not receive any letters of you - Does it mean you are coming back Nice pretty soon? But I saw Andrie yesterday and she told me Tom had written to her - So, Billie you are a bad boy; but, nevertheless I Kiss you for the Victory. Hurrah for America, Hurrah for France. —

Best regards from my mother —

Very sincerely, your little french friend Suzanne

Jack is very unwell; for these many days he is in a hospital... nothing serious - Regards from him.
