Dear Sir:

I am taking the liberty of writing to you at this time to inquire if you will provide me with some information and, if possible, advice concerning the questions I have listed below.

My GRADE, Rating and Examination title is
The reason I am anxious for the information is that I put myself into a very awkward predicament by taking for granted that there would be some vacancies in your agency occurring in the very near future, and thus I disposed of my business which was my only source of income.

Considerable time has lapsed since then, and my personal circumstances do not permit me to remain thus too long. With your assistance, I hope to decide whether I should maintain status-quo or should take steps to alter my plans.

I hope I will hear from you soon.

Very truly yours,

Takami Frank Hibiya

P.S. Please change your records of my address to the one above.

4. If I am willing to accept a position at a lower salary, will I have a better chance of being reached for consideration for the appointment?
