

Many things do come in handy, you can never tell. I am glad I learned how to do them when I was little.

But I won't be able to make it for the recital. I've got a horrible tooth ache and I shan't be rid of it til Tooth ache? My darling this is no time for tooch aches. You may have it after the recital.

But dear teacher

You simpley must be there. The show cant't go on without you.
Someone had dropped gum on the floor so her foot got stuck there
The ^{such} was very gay now. Like most gay places it was

Such poace are ~~ne~~ either very gay or very dull, and now the xxx was at its peak. Gayly, how gayly.

What was he thinking about? His wife in Japan or his new mistress. They called him the candy man,; perhaps he was trying to ease his conscience. Avoid pocket pickers.

the cuckoo bird has such apierce cry that it spits forth blood
when it cries.

We call him Li Paku in Japan. He is called Li Po here.

It is said that he drowned, trying to catch the moon's reflection.

I am glad, aren't you?

Perfectly.

He is a darling teacher. ~~He is always smiling,~~ He is always smiling, wears glasses. He might sleep with a bird cage and a writing brush under his bed. ^{Yes, that charming.} He is that charming.

Her fingers were transparent and alive.

^{time}
Forthe first she loved her dance; such a feeling she had never had before. Throughout her body ~~as~~ as intimate and necessary to her as her own blood, the spontaniety ~~and~~ was the and the naturalness of the creator she was reliving the feeling of the

He looks like the God of Happiness,
Cupid & Juno.