

Monday.....

Dear Darling.....Mr Tanner is going back to the ranch tonight and says about Thursday he'll send back Mac to get me as he is going to camp to get the new cook's things so he will ask him to drive up here and take me down.

I got your letter of Saturday's this am and am glad your arms both of them are getting better.

Don't take the bandages off, will you? I went to the LDS church Easter morning, and came back with an awful lot of mosquito bites on my legs up to the knees. Gee.

I'll get the photographic things today or tomorrow. Ray goes back to the ranch tonight. He took Ben to the ranch for the Easter weekend. They have a bath house with hot water heater, etc. partitioned off for dressing room, etc. It is situated between the coop and the toilet, where the wired turkey trays were sitting out. Remember? Past the place where the clothes line was. Ben dropped in for a moment, then was driven home, as he had heavy work shoes and clothes, etc with him. He said he had a swell time. Despite the fact that the Rainbow Gardens opened up last night and we had a date which he ditched to go....postponed till Wednesday. Hope you don't mind, Henri....you know everything will be quite all right, and you won't worry will you? He is almost two and a half years younger, and we have nothing in common except that we like each other for dancing. Except that I like you better since you are head and shoulders above him when it comes to smooth dancing. It is near school and many nisei are expected to be there from BYU and NYA " so it is quite safe. It isn't far from here, either.

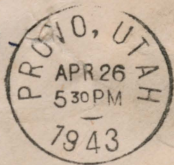

I'm so happy about coming back to you...maybe Thursday or Friday. Thye, especially Mrs. Tanner, is pestering me about coming back to sew. She sure is swell, it is a good place to work, and I love it. We are quite fond of each other.

Tell you more when I come back. What is inspection like? I bought a very sharp knife at a hardware store. Kitchen knife. Can I get it in?

As always, with love, Yours,
Tomnie

Henry E's article makes me so mad to wreck my page, it burns me up to think of it, even. It smells.
