Dear Tomoye,

Thank you very much for those Valentine cookies. I certainly enjoyed them very much. Didn't share them with anybody either. Polished them off one evening while I was studying. It was certainly a nicer Valentine than another one that came. This latter had a great red heart ~~heart~~ in which was written:

" I won't send a Valentine with all that fancy HOOEY
So say I think you're sweet and fine because I think you're — "

And, when I turned the ⁻²⁻ leaf and looked inside, I found a screw nicely tied with a blue bow! This screw was in another heart with a "Y" following it.

Who do you think sent it?

My BOSS !!! Well, at least, I know what she thinks about me, or something. She must have been getting a few things off her chest for she sent another kid, who works here, the following Valentine:

of a newspaper she painted a heart with "Help Wanted" in it. On the second page were the glaring words: "AND I DO MEAN YOU". The kid who got it has been a little more energetic the last few days.

I am afraid I'll have to sign off. Am trying to read Jules Romain's Verdun and it's costing me 3¢ a day. Circulating library. Not only that, I have to read a book by Galsworthy & some of his plays for a test Friday. Just got through with Wells' The Shape of Things to Come for the same test.

Has Henri returned to town? It must be rather chilly there at this time of the year. I hope you are not forgetting to emulate the Eskimo.

When you hear the sound of the chime, the time is exactly 11:28 a.m. P.S.T. Bong! BOM! Bong!
This is station P.V. signing off on our 4th Broadcast (Right?) and will be back with you in the near future. Adios.
Fred.
