POST CARD

Made in Japan

Dear Tompe:

Thanks for your delightful letter. I hope you are getting along all right.

As to the second-hand book-shop you are asking of, I believe Issaido [-誠堂], Jimbo-cho, Kanda, Tokyo, is probably the best one you can get in touch with. So far I ~~could not~~ go to the place have not been able to

is to make an inquiry about your want. Gansho-do [甘書堂] of the same Jimbo-cho also is good, and they have a great deal of rare books in store, but I'm afraid ~~that~~ they charge rather high prices there.

I know virtually nothing about the second-hand book-shops in Osaka, Kobe, or Yokohama. If you want to have rare MS volumes I shall ~~find~~ give you some other names.

What we would say, on the other hand, is this: it would be of very little use to study Japan through books written in English, especially through the books of distant date or even out of date. I would advise you, as I believe you can read Japanese well, to study Japan thro' books written in Japanese by authoritative Japanese scholars. Tho' at the present moment, I have no idea about the matter, I believe Miss Walne will be able to give you the help needed. If, however, you insist on reading English books, I think it would be best for you to write to the Kōkusei Bunka Shinkōkai, (Society for International Cultural Relations), Meiji'-simei'-kan, Marunouchi, Tokyo.

They have published a great deal of books (tho' mostly pamphlets) in in Eng. or Japan. I think they have a publ. a bibliography of books of the nature too. Just as an answer to your inquiry. With best regards Susan

If I have time ~~shortly~~ in near future, I shall ask at the K. B. S. (Kokusai Bunka Shin Ko Kai) about the matter you want to know.

If I may secure a copy of the said bibliography (if ever published), I shall have it sent to you. ~~But do not expect that~~ you are safe not to expect it.

I hope you ~~are~~ still keep correspondence with Yoshioka, who, as far as I know, is now a sanitation-officer in Honolulu. He is the nicest boy I've ever met.

I myself am teaching in the Imperial Military Academy since this March.
