Dear Madam:

I have been consulted by my client, Jan Howell, who informs me that on a number of occasions you have made uncomplimentary, despairing and at times, libelous remarks concerning her honesty and her integrity.

My client further informs me that recently, at a public gift show, you questioned her honesty.

Unless you desist from this practice, I shall have no other alternative but to institute an action against you, in order to properly protect my client's rights in the premises.

Very truly yours,

SYLVESTER COSENTINO
