ANOTHER YEAR

September wore her golden crown.
"How-do-you-do?" said September.
The autumn leaves were tumbling down,
All yellow and red, I remember.
"Another year of bell and rule,"
September gave a smile.
"Another year of book and school,
The conquest of a mile."

All the months went whirling by,
October, November, December.
In the gray of a January sky
I forgot my golden September.
February and stormy March—
Though violet-blue her eyes!
Then tiny leaves upon the larch,
And weeping April skies.

And May, the queen of all the year,
Put on her pink-flowered crown!
Said May, "How-do-you-do, my dear!
You see I'm back in town.
Another year has come and gone,
Another year of school.
Now pack your books 'til September's dawn,
And forget the bell and the rule."

ANOTHER YEAR

September were her golden hours
"How do you do?" said September
The autumn leaves were tumbling down
All together and we'll remember
"Another year of fall and winter"
September gave a smile
"Another year of work and school"
The country of a smile

All the winter went whirling by
October, November, December
In the year of a January sky
I forgot for a moment September
February had steady hands
Though winter's days are over
Then they leave upon the lawn
And whisper "It's time"

And May, the queen of all the year,
Put on her pink-flowered crown
Said May, "How do you do, my dear!"
You see I've been at home
And that year has gone and gone
Another year of school

Now pack your books, it's September's dawn
And forget the bell and the rule!"
