Dearest Bob and Yvonne,

It was late Monday that I heard about your father through Naley, so I wired my sister asking her for confirmation. A little later we received word from her that it was true.

I really don't know how to express my condolence. I deeply regret that I wasn't able to spend even a few moments with you during the bereavement of your father.

I know your father passed away without any ill feelings to have had such wonderful care from all of you through all those months whether they were, dusty, freezing cold, stormy or hot. You gave him the very best care that you could possibly give him. Though it is very hard to take, I like to say this up as a brighter future is surely on its way -- you deserve it!

With this brief letter goes my heartfelt sympathies and wish both of you a perpetual good fortune in the years to come.

Sincerely yours,
Sadame
