Dear Ruby,

It is the end of another semester in dear old Topaz High. We (you and I) have gone through many things together. Besides our classes - History, Speech, Algebra, we have been in several other things together. The gay nineties caused much work and suffering for us both. Also the Winter Carnival and many other things. You have ~~to~~ withstood my cracks and slams very well but I believe you could be less sarcastic. My, but this year went fast. I have hardly met you (thank goodness) and here the year is over and you and I have commenced another step in our lives. We are now Seniors (I hope). Next year we will come back to the influence of our Teachers and study those principles on which this world is based. We shall go through another year of fun, frolic, parties, work, sorrows, and all other things that go along with getting a high school education. Then with much concern we will come out on top and graduate :- Maybe with honors, maybe not; but we will graduate. Then with the world before us we will wonder what the life has in store for us. But it will turn out all right. You will live your life, I shall live mine. Then we will die and maybe meet in the hereafter. (Providing you go down to the lower depths with me.) Ah, but all this foolishness aside and may We both have much success from now on.

Best Wishes,
and Bell (you don't believe she do you?)

Foreword

As we, the students of Topaz High School, look back into our past a certain feeling of pride warms our hearts. We have grown both in scholastic and athletic standing from a small unknown school into a thriving, famous institution. We can look back with pride to our acceptance into the Utah state educational system, and our advancement in the athletic field. We have gone over many difficult hurdles and the obstacles that still stand in our path should act as a challenge to all our ingenuity and courage. This book stands as a record for all the hurdles that we have successfully cleared, and the remaining obstacles will give the students a goal for which to strive. The world today and the world before us will not be easy. With this in mind, we will guide our school life by the theme of our book, READY FOR TOMORROW.

"MAC"
MARY MACMILLAN

"DOC"
JOSEPH GOODMAN, PHD.

Our Dedication

ON our present world ravaged by chaos and war, youth, especially we American Japanese, feel a dread and bewilderment of the future, a condition which inevitably accompanies war.

As one segment of America's vast army of aspiring youth, then, we need the kind of guidance and fellowship so necessary to revitalize our positive beliefs and to strengthen our conviction that the day shall come when all avenues of opportunities will be open to us.

Among our associations in Topaz City High School who have aided us immeasurably in our experiences today, we have singled out two former faculty personalities for special recognition. To us, they exemplify the very best in service, fellowship and hope—Miss Mary MacMillan and Dr. Joseph Goodman.

A signal honor has been accorded "Mac," former English and languages instructor. Though she has not been with us for almost a year now, she has left nothing but the finest memories. She left last October to enter Scarritt College in Tennessee, a graduate school of social work, but she tells us she will return to us after her graduation in June. Her personal interest in all her students made her one of the best known and best loved of faculty members. More than teacher she was friend and counselor. We eagerly anticipate her return.

"Doc Joe," here with us from November, '42 to January, '44, served as faithful teacher and friend in his capacity as instructor of sciences and as director of athletics. Our problems were his problems. He thrust himself beyond his responsibilities; he worked with the community as advisor to youth groups and with the church.

Yes, "Doc" leaves a record of great activity and an intense interest in students and student affairs. To those of us fortunate enough to have fallen within his friendly circle, he left inspiration and faith in man.

To these two driving personalities who gave of themselves, their time and their experiences to us, we do proudly dedicate this 1944 edition of our Ramblings.

OUR teachers, here from many parts of the country, are united to serve in the advancement of youth—in a period when the present is shaky and the foundations of our future unstable.

Preparation for tomorrow involves the growth of our minds, bodies and souls. The knowledge imparted to us by our teachers and the good habits they help us to develop should strengthen and serve us well, and inspire in us greater thoughts and greater wisdom for the days of trial.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

THIS second issue of the Ramblings is a memorial to a second year of an uphill climb toward peace, toward the realization of life's ambitions, and toward readjustment in a world of turmoil.

We have felt during the last year some of the limiting effects of war. It has limited our facilities, our materials and our participation in many of the pre-war activities. However, in the face of this, most of us, students and faculty alike, have attempted honestly to do the best that was possible. My congratulations are extended to the faculty for their untiring efforts to create a Topaz High School worthy of the name. My congratulations are extended to the students who have demonstrated their determination to learn under any circumstances, for they have successfully achieved that learning.

It is my sincere hope that as students go forth from this school they do so with the feeling that in times such as we have known they have played the part which they have been asked to play, played it cheerfully if somewhat reluctantly. May you go forth from this school to establish without question your place in American life, play your full part as United States citizens in time of war and exert all your efforts in the support of world peace and understanding at the conclusion of the present conflict.

Signed,

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

AMERICA today demands willing hands, trained, alert minds and loyal hearts to carry on the functions of a free America and to match strides with her progress.

In student government as exercised in Topaz City High School today, a real opportunity for the development of the qualities of leadership has been ours. Further, in the similarity of our school to an individual community, we have profited from the practical knowledge and experience gained in carrying out the mechanics of such a school system. Through this medium, we believe we are meeting America's needs as trained workers for tomorrow.

The lesson we learned today in our school pertinent to intelligent action in the management of school affairs will strengthen us for our future role in national government. Cognizant that both war and peace require leadership and discerning judgment, we feel we are being equipped, through activities of student government, with the right tools.

Yes—we are ready for tomorrow.

FALL SEMESTER

Student Executive Council

Remember the janitors at the basketball games? Remember the ticket collectors and venders at the movie? Remember the attempts of obtaining student cooperation for assemblies and other activities? Yes, those things are gone but not forgotten. Who were those janitors and ticket collectors? Those were the members of your Student Executive Council. Did you do anything to help them?

No other schools beside the W. R. A. center schools have been faced with segregation and relocation. We have an unusual setup, and it is a big job managing it. To our Executive Council we owe merit for they are the ones that manage that unusual setup. It is up to them to start things when there is a lull in activity. That is one of the reasons why our Council was found mopping and collecting tickets.

Serving on the council for the Fall semester of 1943 were Noboru Kobayashi as president, Paul Bell as vice-president. Dwight Nishimura as secretary, Juro Hayashida as treasurer, George Matsuura as yell leader, Peter Matsumoto as B. A. president, Betty Nakaso as G. A. president, Isamu Nagata as editor-in-chief, and Harry Kitano, Mako Takahashi, and Michio Suzuki as presidents of the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes respectively.

Student Representative Council

Fall Semester

In maintaining its job in student government, the Student Representative Council had three main duties: to act as a legislative body, to function as an intermediary between students and executives, and to represent the students in school government. In addition to performing these duties, this branch of student government made various appointments, elected students for various student offices, made many ratifications concerning the improvement of the school, and in the course of events, stimulated activities and the membership of worthwhile organizations such as the American Junior Red Cross. The members of this body deserve credit for their important role in making the Fall semester a success.

STUDENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Within the span of nine short months, the Student Affairs Committee, which is the judicial body, earnestly strove toward the achievement of harmony in the school functions.

The commencement of the second year was accompanied by essential adjustments that reflected their significance upon the entirety of the students. This was particularly felt by the Student Affairs Committee which was assigned to revise the school constitution so that it would conform with the changes made. Under the competent chairmanship of Ryozo Kumekawa and Toshiko Katsumoto, the Fall-term group which included Seiko Akahoshi, Himeko Enomoto, Chester Kaku, Sachi Kawahara, Takashi Kubota, Shunsuke Ochi, Mariko Shinoda and Yosh Takakuwa proceeded to fulfill, further, the duties of a constitution committee.

Early in the year, a policy was adopted whereby the Student Affairs Committee made it its duty to aid in the proper interpretation of constitutional practices.

It is no wonder that every member realized the importance of their being in the S. A. C., for it is this group that has the power to pass its jurisdiction over all measures ratified by the Executive Council and, also over all student cases referred to it.

With the completion of a successful period of service, the Student Affairs Committee members look forward toward the perpetration of this organization.

Spring Term

Student Executive Council

Though the Executive Council was delayed two weeks in initiating its program this term, it promoted and developed new student activities and organizations, including the other well established student groups.

An appreciably successful semester was wound up by the Executive Council with the fulfillment of its main objective—to co-ordinate student organizations and student activities. Efficiency in the administration of student government was the ultimate yield of the efforts of the executive group.

Spring Term

STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE COUNCIL

The Student Representative Council, during the Spring term, was composed of two representatives from each registry class, and the Executive Council, with the principal as advisor. The core class system was dropped and the registry class plan adopted. The meetings were held during the registry period as were all student government meetings.

The first action taken by the Council was the sale of student body cards. Prizes were presented to the first three classes to reach the one-hundred per cent mark. These cards were sold on a competitive basis, thus encouraging school spirit.

During the term, the Student Representative Council took active part in school government. The Council also promoted general interest in school affairs.

The Council was well directed by its constitutional officers—Rose Adachi, chairman; and Betty Hayashi secretary.

STUDENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

With the commencement of the Spring term, the coveted offices in the Student Affairs Committee were once again filled by competent, outstanding students. These students, with an inexhaustible supply of energy actuated the policies embodied by the fall-term members. Their foremost accomplishment was the maintenance of high standards in the governmental functions of Topaz High School.

The duties of these ten were important and complex. Nevertheless, Toshiko Katsumoto, Keiko Iriki, Florence Nagano, Mits Sato, Yutaka Yoshida, Beishi Tanabe, Joe Suyemoto, Mako Takahashi, Albert Noda, and Tomiko Kasai successfully brought a fruitful year to a satisfactory close. These ten assumed the duties of their office with a capability characteristic of former students occupying the offices of the judicial division of our school government.

With stolid impartiality, they exercised all cases referred to them by the Executive Council. This group ratified all the measures of the Executive Council with due consideration and served as an integral portion of student government.

WORKING, side by side, in study and play; facing and overcoming common difficulties, all have served to mold the classes into a close, warm haven. Students not only studied, but their activities were varied, as well as numerous. Classes served to unify, and were conductive to competitive intramural sports. Members always looked forward to class socials which were invariably successes.

May they set aim that sense of competition which they embodied in all their activities.

STATE RULES FOLLOWED BY TOPAZ HIGH

The Topaz high school faculty has decided to conform with the Utah state requirements for eligibility in student activities, according to Dr. Joseph Goodman.

The general requirements are: a student must be under 19 years of age; he must be regularly enrolled; and he must maintain passing grades at all times. The specific requirements for a student are: 1) a student must take at least four units; 2) he must

JANUARY COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Class of '44

The first winter graduating class of Topaz High School, the class of January, 1944, reviews its class program, which took place during the high senior semester.

Although numbering only fifty-two students, the class played a significant and substantial role in the affairs of the student body. Many leaders of campus organizations and athletics were drawn from the January, 1944, class.

Yosh Takakuwa, Roy Harano, Stanley Tsujisaka, Harry Kitano and Tomio Katsuura lent brain and brawn to the 1943 grid machine of the Rams; in the basketball wars the varsity was manned by such veterans as Henry Hidekawa, Stanley Tsujisaka and Yosh Takakuwa.

Class officers contributing to the semester's achievements were Harry Kitano, president; Yoshi Kishii, vice-president; and Himeko Enomoto, secretary-treasurer.

Assisting the farm harvesting program of the city of Topaz involved the first major participation of the class. This activity was followed by two senior class parties under the direction of Yoshio Takakuwa.

Sneak Day on December 22 was a welcome event to the class, but the faculty was impressed and baffled by the class's disappearance for the day.

Senior Week, from January 16 to 21, was enjoyed immensely by the class, but a headache to those in charge. The week started off with the dignified baccalaureate exercises in the auditorium with the seniors attired in their caps and gowns. This was followed by the faculty high senior basketball game. The students polished off their teachers with a 54 to 38 score.

The senior banquet was held at Delta's Banque Hotel, featuring a steak dinner. A show followed in the Delta theater. Chairman was Shunsuke Ochi.

With Winter Wonderland as the theme, the seniors had the privilege of acquiring the newly-built auditorium for their Senior Prom. The tremendous success of the dance was attributed to the work of the committee, consisting of Chairman Yosh Takakuwa, Roy Harano, Chiyoko Sonoda, Tomoe Kanemasu, Mary Yamanaka and Hideko Yago.

With "Build the Peace of All Nations Upon the Youth of Today" as the theme, the commencement exercises, marking the close of secondary education, were held on January 21. Graduation speakers were Helen Fukui and Harry Kitano. Yosh Fujita was master of ceremonies.

Several of the senior boys also received their greetings from Uncle Sam; we are proud that our class will be represented in the armed forces of the United States.

Directed by Kiyoshi Tanamachi, class president, with the assistance of his cabinet including Hisanori Sano, high vice-president; Peter Matsumoto, low vice-president; Kaoru Morita, secretary; and Koji Ozawa, treasurer, the Spring senior class of 1944 initiated its activities with explosive power.

Two class parties opened the Spring program. The traditional Senior Control Day was held in May. Having a student as principal and an appropriate number of students as teachers for the day, it was unanimously affirmed that the occasion was a profitable adventur.e The Senior Week Committee was responsible for the activity.

Friday morning, May 26, the senior students attended classes comically attired for Senior Jinx Day. Lower classmen spent a hilarious day devoting their undivided attention to the seniors.

Baccalaureate services in the high school auditorium were observed in the latter part of May. Many parents and friends attended the dignified and solemn rites. This was followed by the traditional outing outside the project proper, and the exclusive class banquet.

May 31 was the significant day on which 131 seniors were graduated. The exercises were stirring, and will long be remembered by the participants as one milestone passed in the avenue leading to the future. A dance for seniors was held directly after the graduation observances.

On June 1 the seniors initiated the Ditch Day, which was characterized by the absence of all seniors from their regular classes. The graduates observed that the day was spent wisely. Deviating from former procedures, the Senior Prom was held in the high school and auditorium after, instead of before, the commencement exercises. However, the seniors still enjoyed their last dance as students of Topaz High school. Thus ended an eventful and memorable semester for the graduating June seniors.

We take time now to express our thoughts of sincere appreciation to the class officers, the various committees and to our advisers, Misses Eiko Hosoi and Eleanor Gerard, who aided us with invaluable guidance throughout our last semester.

CLASS OF '45 . . .

An adage has been established in many schools that most junior classes are among the more inactive sets. Violating this tradition the mighty junior class of Topaz emerged on the campus as one of the most active and alert organizations.

It could not be otherwise in a class organization which utilized the efforts of such leaders as President Mako Takahashi, who gave untiring care in the conducting of class activities, Sadame Hara, vice-president, and Mitsuko Nakamizo, recording-financial secretary.

No sooner had this merited cabinet been elected when the Tule Lake students joined the ranks of the worthy juniors, as well as other classes, to do their part in making the third year class a concrete unit.

Not only in the class cabinet was leadership put to advantage, but also in the Executive Council where Paul Bell, Juro Hayashida and Peter Matsumoto contributed their services as vice-president, treasurer and Boys' Association president of the student body, respectively.

The first on the junior social calendar was the Hallowe'en dance. It proved highly successful despite the fact that stoves were lacking in the new Industrial Arts building where the dance was held. The merry makers literally had "cold feet."

Juniors again demonstrated their aptitude as the pigskin season appeared when line-plunging classmen such as Kenzo Ishimaru, Peter Matsumoto, Saburo Nakaso and Mas Sumimoto were in the grid battles to bolster the line of the Rams.

Again as the basketball season rolled in, light-footed classmen, namely, Junji Doami, Kiyoshi Kusunoki and Saburo Nakaso, participated to aid in keeping aloft our school's athletic standing.

Yoshiko Keikoan, Mariko Shinoda, Emi Nagasawa and Mitsuko Nakamizo represented the juniors' contribution to girls' athletics.

The climax of the Fall semester arrived in the form of the Junior Prom, which was acclaimed with favor; attendance was limited inasmuch as a flu epidemic was ravaging the fair city of Topaz at that time.

As the year 1943 drew its last gasp, the junior social calendar was completed in the form of another class party during the last week.

The Fall 1943 semester came to a close in January, 1944. New officers were elected to carry on the functions and activities. Again the class displayed judgment in electing such recognized campus leaders as the following for officers: Ryozo Kumekawa, president; Hiroko Yoshimine, high vice-president; Tatsuo Sano, low vice-president; and Sachi Kawahara, secretary-treasurer. As was expected, this cabinet led the class on to more extensive accomplishments.

In February, this year, the Winter Carnival, sponsored by the yearbook staff, was exceptionally represented by the juniors. Sachi Kawahara was the general chairman of this social and financial accomplishment, which enlisted the assistance of all campus organizations.

Other memorable class events were carried out. The traditional Junior Prom, class party and sponsorship of a student body assembly were the bright lights of the junior class program for the Spring term of 1944.

SOPHOMORES

Though constituting only a lowly sophomore role insofar as class distinction is concerned, the Topaz sophomores made themselves conspicuous figures on the campus by assuming active participation in the school program. The sophomore class has so molded and integrated its activities into the school machinery as to be an essential and vital cog.

The class started the fall term with the election of class officers. The following served on the fall cabinet: Michio Suzuki, president; Thomas Hirano, vice-president, and Tatsuo Sano, secretary. The sophomore social committee included Asaye Ashizawa, Rose Uyeda, Amy Hironaka, Mitsuye Sato, Mihoko Shimizu, Sakaye Horita, Joe Morita, Ichiro Yamosaki, Zane Matsuzaki, Sus Iwasa, Bob Utsumi, and William Hamada.

Sophomores were numbered among the ranking and prominent student leaders of the student body. Among them were Dwight Nishimura, student body secretary, and Sachi Kawahara, president of both the Student Forum and the Girl Reserves, Student Affairs Committee member, and general chairman of the Winter Carnival. Joe Morita, Thomas Hirano and Asaye Ashizawa served on the Student Social Committee. Chester Kaku was on the Student Affairs Committee, and Dwight Nishimura, Sachi Kawahara, Alice Fukui and Asaye Ashizawa were members of the yearbook staff.

The student Representative Council was regularly attended by the following class representatives: Alice Fukui, James Sakashita, Ann Sutow, Robert Mizuhara, Hanako Abe, Ichiro Yamasaki, Hiromichi Mifune, Tamotsu Hosokawa and Toshio Adachi.

Class contributions to sports were many. William Hamada, Susumu Iwasa and Zensuke Matsuzaki were on the football team. During the casaba season Tatsuo Sano and William Hamada won varsity berths. Sakaye Horita was cage manager. From the ranks of the class coeds, Mitsuye Sato, Joan Nakamura, Nancy Takahashi and Sumi Keikoan won varsity positions on the basketball sextet.

The sophs, with the able support of their advisers, Misses Shervy Sharvy and Kisako Okawa, presented their most successful dance, "The Down Beat" in early January. They also participated in the Musical Fun-tasia and the Winter Carnival.

The sophomore class of spring, '44 was equally adept in carrying out a heavy schedule of activities. Class officers were as follows: William Hamada, president; Asaye Ashizawa and Florence Miho, vice-presidents; and Rose Uyeda, secretary. The social committee was comprised of Nancy Takahashi, Mihoko Shimizu, Margaret Kawaguchi, Amy Tamaki, Akira Hirota, Tamotsu Hosokawa, Ben Dote, Michio Tanaka, Herbert Nagata and Hideo Kashima.

Then as the months sped on, the eventful and happy day of promotion appeared. In commemoration of the event, the class held its Farewell Sophomore Hop in May, and prepared to step ahead into their third year, the junior class.

KEEPING apace with the Senior High School the total phase of the school program and its associated activities, the Topaz Junior High School has maintained a record of merit and distinction. These "cherubic" creatures followed through with high ratings in scholarship, citizenship, athletic and social events. In all their numerous organized activities and programs the Junior High School students were equipped with a spirit of cooperative and harmonious fellowship.

Though eagerly looking forward to the time when relocation will materialize for them, these students are making the utmost of conditions here, however inadequate. With vigorous minds, strong hearts and willing hands, these under classmen prepare for the future. They, too, are READY FOR TOMORROW.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL SOCIAL COMMITTEE

The busiest committee to be found among the ranks of junior high organizations during the fall semester of 1943 was the social committee. Under the leadership of the junior high adviser, Miss Elouise Sundquist, the committee enjoyed the distinction of being the sponsoring group for many successful school socials.

The term was initiated by the "Get Hep To Fun" party on Thanksgiving Day, the first holiday of the fall term. "Happy Holidays," which followed, was given in honor of the two biggest holidays, Christmas and New Year's. The greatest junior high activity for the semester was considered to be the "Heart Beat" dance, the first couples affair function for the student body of the junior high. This event proved to be a tremendous hit.

Coming to the end of a successful fall term' the student body named Etsuko Doiguchi and Bobby Motozaki, ninth graders, as chairman of the committee for the spring semester. Aided by Mr. Glen Seal, committee adviser, the social committee planned and executed a number of enjoyable as well as profitable socials.

GRADUATING CLASS OF JANUARY, '44

THE NINTH GRADE

With the completion of their final year in the junior high school, the ninth graders can look back with pride to the fine record they have achieved.

In spite of great handicaps, inadequate supplies and equipment and the necessity to adjust themselves to a new mode of living, the ninth graders emerged successfully. The goal was accomplished by the willing cooperation of the students and the patient encouragement of the teachers. A special bouquet of orchids should go to Miss Elouise Sundquist for being the guiding light.

Officers for the first half were: Bill Roden, president; Florence Miho, vice-president; and Mutsumi Hayashi, secretary-treasurer. With their fine leadership the freshmen students pulled through to a successful and prosperous term.

Under the Social Committee the ninth grade class sponsored many eventful class dances and other activities.

The most outstanding social was the Freshman Hop, held in the dining hall on January 28. This affair for couples was enjoyed by a substantial crowd.

For the second half the officers were: Yukiko Iwasa, president; Hideo Matsumoto, vice-president, and Ted Mizuno, secretary-treasurer. The second social term revealed a period filled with dances and parties.

The ninth graders had an active athletic year also with a basketball team who proved their worth with a fine record.

The freshman class was the backbone of the junior high, holding most of the offices and bearing the major part of the responsibilities of maintaining a high scholastic and social standard.

As the class takes their place in the high school, may they prove worthy of being a part of it.

Many of their number will have relocated to be good citizens in the society of the United States. May they be healthy, wealthy, and wise, and have the luck and happiness outside of the borders of Topaz.

The outgoing class of 1944 wills that those who follow will have the success and happiness that has been their lot in the junior high school.

EIGHTH GRADE

The eighth graders began their fall term by electing Keiji Shimizu as their president. To serve with him, Mike Hananouchi was chosen as vice-president.

To keep the minutes and take care of the funds, Shoji Shimamoto was made secretary-treasurer. For the records of the activities of the eighth grade, Joe Kita was chosen as historian. Yaeko Kami was voted the representative from the eighth grade for the school paper.

As the first days of the spring term came and went, the students began to think about their next president. At their first class meeting, Jimmy Ushijima was elected to preside over all class meetings and grade affairs. Together with Martha Mori, vice-president; Kyoko Uyehara, secretary; Anah Yamanashi, treasurer; May Iha, historian, and Paul Fukui, co-editor, he started the eighth grade on its path to success in aiding the enrichment of the total school program.

Hayami Fujii

JANUARY CLASS OF '46

Characterized by great activity and enthusiasm, meetings, parties and athletic activities of the seventh grade classes have all been successful and meaningful to the students. To lead them in these activities during the fall semester, the class chose Hayami Fujii, president; Lily Nomura, vice-president; Lou Minemoto, secretary-treasurer; Tomi Takakuwa, historian; Grace Nomura, editor; and Yoneo Kojimoto, yell leader.

Among the conspicuous social endeavors of the term for the class was the gala party in honor of the six newly-elected officers. To get acquainted in style with the new seventh graders from the Desert View and Mountain View elementary schools, the class took part in a tremendous class social, sponsored by Motoichi Yanagi, adviser. Practically the entire class turned out for friendship's and food's sake.

At the beginning of the spring semester, the class elected George Toda to represent them as president. His cabinet consisted of the following: Kazuo Abe, vice-president; George Nishikawa, secretary-treasurer; Harry Kawahara, editor; George Inada, historian; and Nobu Iwasa, yell leader. The class specialized in class parties and participation in student body affairs and functions during this spring period.

With the term's close, the seventh graders can indeed look back into a fruitful year. The students have their hard-working class officers and advisers, Mrs. Ellen Henderson and Mr. Yanagi, to thank for making possible a most pleasant initial year in the Topaz junior high school.

REGARDLESS of how much valuable knowledge and training the student can digest from the classroom through diligent application, skill and discipline, his training could not be considered complete without activity participation.

Activities serve to make more uniform the texture of one's personality, contributes masterfully to his growth, his ideas, and to his ability in coping with people. Without activities school would indeed be a colorless, shallow experience, minus the buoyancy of school life and youth.

There is at least one activity to appeal to every student—to the scholar, the athlete, the social-minded. No student need drift passively without friends or fun; the opportunities afforded by activities in the way of close, spirited friendships are numerous.

Activities, then, provide for the broadening of perspective, for the expansion of leadership, for improvement of teacher-student relationships and for co-operative group thinking.

Business Manager

With an eye on the future, the '44 Ramblings staff worked for your enjoyment. The staff has attempted to capture happy schoolday moments and to record them in this yearbook, pictorially, editorially and literally, to keep alive these Topaz High School memories.

Though working under war-time hindrances, including the scarcity of materials and especially, a sharp restricton on picture cuts, a condition not imposed on the previous yearbook, the staff came through with a notable performance in producing the '44 Ramblings. With every completed page a prayer went out that the supply of cuts allotted would not be exhausted before the end of the book. The technical department merits recognition for carrying out a difficult assignment of page arrangement and picture placement.

Cognizant of the need to raise funds for financing the yearbook project, the staff sponsored the school's biggest undertakings involving camp-wide support, namely, the musical, Fun-tasia, the mammoth and highly lucrative Winter Carnival, and the two-night motion picture showings of "Random Harvest" in March. Through the different media of raising funds, the annual was sold to the students at much lower cost than the original price. In its role of playing sponsor to these and other activitie, and in producing the biggest publication on the campus, the Ramblings staff was considered the most conspicuous and energetic group.

Most of the personalities on the staff constituted the big names of the school. The list covers student leaders, recognized for scholarship, athletics or other extra-curricular activities. They gave much time, energy and spirit to the yearbook. The entire staff hopes that the '44 Ramblings measures up to its dream of a bigger and better book for the associated students.

Embracing a four-fold purpose of improving school conditions and attitudes, upholding student activities, provoking interest and rigor to school life, and bringing campus news to its readers, the weekly RAM-BLER asserted itself as a fighting paper directed against those forces retarding school progress.

Student interest was focused especially on the popular weekly feature, "The Campus Stroller," from the pen and mind of Jim Morikawa, the letters to the RAM-BLER reflecting student opinion on vital campus issues, and the editorials championing student or faculty rights.

Though faced with problems alien to journalism students in properly-equipped schools on the outside, the fall and spring staffs did their work well. Always impeded by either absence or poor condition of equipment and tools, the business staffs had occasional all-night sessions with a temperamental Joe Mimeograph, abetted by the jarring tearing of prepared stencils.

The monthly printed edition of the RAM-BLER was a kind reprieve. Printed at the Millard Chronicle office in Delta, the printed copies were a welcome to the staff for it relieved them of night drudgery; it was a welcome to the students, since printed editions invite more respect and attention with its pictorial inducements, wealth of features, and ease in reading.

Under the guidance of the instructor, Miss Kawahara, journalism students, interested in creative and journalistic writing, put out entirely the mimeographed weekly. As an added attraction, the RAM-BLER staff sponsored the queen contest for the May Festival this spring.

To see beyond the confines of the relocation center, to broaden our perspective, to strengthen positive convictions, to grasp more clearly the significance and scope of national problems and international complications, as well as to discuss vital student issues—these are the purposes of the Student Forum. The committee, itself, feels that these noble intents have been attained in the fall and spring semesters.

The combined efforts of student, faculty and outside speakers, participating in the Forum discussions, have endowed Topaz students with insight into the various problems faced by youth, not only in Topaz, but in the nation and in the world. Forum chairman in the Fall was Sachi Kawahara. Dwight Nishimura and Norman Hirose served as chairmen during the spring, with Mr. Victor Goertzel as adviser.

Theta Alpha Phi

"What A Life," April production, climaxed an auspicious and busy season, during which Theta Alpha Phi members presented several dramatic hits. The season included the one-act plays, "The Vane Effort" and "Red Flannels" in November, followed by the three-act farce, "The Carter Family," in January, all of which were enthusiastically received before the student body, and before Delta, Millard and Hinckley high school audiences. Further, a one-act play, "Th Last Curtain," was presented to the student body, commemorating Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

The outstanding dramatic event of the season was the polished performance of the Broadway hit, "What A Life." Creditably interpreted was the part of Henry Aldrich by Albert Nabeshima, ably supported by Seiko Akahoshi as Barbara Pearson, and Shizuo Namba as George Bigelow, plus a splendid cast.

Formed for the purpose of furthering interest in the field of drama and to provide entertainment for the students, the Theta Alpha Phi is one of the vital groups contributing pleasure and zest to the student body. For his skill in drawing out the best dramatic possibilities of his pupils, B. D. Evans, speech and drama director, is given much of the credit for the Thespians' successful year. In presenting these student plays outside, Mr. Evans and his Thespian group are making a positive contribution in promoting goodwill relations.

Officers of the past year included Shigeki Sugiyama, president; Seiko Akahoshi, vice-president; Jack Gooding, secretary, and Ada Nakagiri, historian.

THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE

Howard Mizuhara
President

To achieve the Association For the Advancement of Science's intent of scientific growth there was no indulgent assignment for the members. Can you visualize the difficulties encountered through lack of equipment when one is trying to understand chemical equilibrium or the law of mass action?

Established early last year to meet the need for a back-boned organization with stimulating scientific interests, the purposes of the group were satisfacortily effected, not wholly with immediately available supplies, but greatly through the initiative, interest and perseverance of the members. Groups of boys, directed by Dr. Joseph Goodman, went on excursions to the Antelope Springs area to accumulate biological specimens for organization and classroom use. Many commonly used chemical compounds were synthesized by this group, also, who are divided into three sections, namely, social science, and biological.

Psychological experiments with mice, study of psychological games, and discussions on social problems featured the activity of the social scence unit. In the physical science section, members made rayon out of nitrated cellulose, experimented with titration of acids and bases, studied laboratory techniques, and executed other chemical and electrical experiments. The biological section dissected frogs, and conducted biological experiments dealing with pickled specimen, michro-biology, fishes and hydroponics. Mice breeding and experiments with mice was another prominent element distinguishing the section.

Membership in the association is exclusive today in that only students recognized for high scholarship and a high regard for the scientific field are eligible. Noted also for their participation and co-operation in all campus undertakings to the point of presenting their own assembly, the members consider it an honor to belong to this association. Advisers to the "mad scientists" included Dr. Goodman and Leon Westover, physical science; Harold Carlsen, biological science; and Victor Goertzel, social science.

Topaz Hi-Y

Although a comparatively new club, the Topaz Hi-Y has progressed rapidly as one of the active clubs on the campus, motivated by its high purposes—development of leadership, participation and co-operation in school activities, and the rendering of valuable services throughout the school, the community, the nation, and the world. Close brotherhood among the members has been especially encouraged.

To formally induct the members into the organization, an impressive ritual ceremony was performed in March, with Y. M. C. A. board members present. The Hi-Y was organized, under the auspices of the Topaz Y. M. C. A. in January.

As one of its first projects, steps were taken to join the national body; in activities the group entered two concessions in the Winter Carnival, and assisted on the reception and general arrangements committees for the Topaz Youth Conference; another highlight was the "Stardust Serenade" social when members invited co-ed guests for an evening of dancing at the Y clubhouse; in April a joint meeting was held with the Girl Reserves, dealing with boy-girl relationships; in sports the Hi-Y casaba quintet provided stimulating competition in the Topaz industrial league.

Hi-Yi officers included Tom Imagawa, president; Junji Doami, vice-president; Ryozo Kumekawa, secretary; Juro Hayashida, treasurer; Ichiro Ozawa, historian; and Yoshio Yamada, athletic chairman. Advisers were Emil Sekerak, George Hiraga and Shig Hotta.

Without the invention of this machine, modern methods of printing would not have been possible.

The paper is put on top of a flat platform. From there the gripper takes it down to the rollers. Beneath the roller, the form under which the paper passes is laid. A rolling motion of the semi-circular drum prints the news. The rollers carry the printed paper along and it is deposited at the front of the press.

Something new has been added to the faculty list of Topaz High School. Yes! four new teachers have suddenly appeared upon the scene.

Mrs. Matthews hails from Edmond, Oklahoma, where she attended Central State College. It is hard to believe, but it is true that she taught MECHANICS at an army camp to some of Uncle Sam's G.I's. Her extreme interest and hobby is dramatics. "I like it very much here, and I think the students are all nice," she is said to have commented.

Under the directorship of Mr. Thayer C. Barrus, the band and orchestra of Topaz High School came into existence during the early part of February, 1944.

Despite an appreciably large signup, there was no opportunity for a beginner to play an instrument. Due to the fact that appropriations scheduled to purchase band and orchestra instruments had not yet been granted, the number of eager, expectant beginners dropped.

Footnote: (Mr. Barrus says he believes that the government disapproved of appropriations for school instruments since there is scarcity of new musical instruments. However, he has not yet heard from Washington regarding this.)

However, several students possessing instruments were banded together to form a nucleus of the originally planned organization. They included: Harry Kitano, trombonist; Aileen Yamate, violinist; Akira Nakamura, trumpetist; Junko Maida, violinist; Jay Tyrrel, trombonist; Hatsuye Aoyagi, violinist; Tak Enomoto, clarinetist; Sally Mizoguchi, violinist; Albert Noda, cornetist; Kay Iriki, pianist; Milton Wakayama, saxaphonist, and John Kamada, violinist.

Lacking in size, though making it up in effort, the orchestra played for several of the school assemblies, at the showing of "Mrs. Miniver", and for the processional of the May Queen and her court.

A camp-wide band and orchestra is being contemplated should there be enough interested persons available, possessing instruments.

A requisition has been placed, for many of Jerome's band and orchestra instruments.

It is hoped that the appropriatons will pass to insure a larger and lasting band and orchestra for the Fall term.

Featuring games with outside schools and inter-class sports, the Girls' Association consummated a full, wholesome program during the fall term. Officers were Betty Nakaso, president, Mariko Shinoda, vice-president; Midori Hashimoto, secretary; and Tomoe Kanemasu, treasurer.

Hockey, under Kay Yoshiura, initiated girls' sports in October. The sport would have been successful if a smooth regulation field was available. Interest soon lagged, and, further, because of foul weather, hockey was dropped from the sports roster after a few weeks. Softball proved more successful. On November 16, the Topaz co-eds' all-star team literally slaughtered the Delta High School girls 17 to 3.

Basketball was played throughout the term with Margaret Kawaguchi as manager. Approximately 85 girls participated and were divided into class groups. In December the Double Tees, the so-called Topaz Toppers, and the Jayvees were organized from the outstanding players in the groups. Badminton, volleyball and archery completed the sports calendar.

Among the activities accomplished during the spring semester were the making of pom-poms for the games, and the Girls' Association assembly in early March. A gala Sadie Hawkins dance was planned, but this affair was never held. The majority of girls refused to co-operate with such a "desperate" plan.

Games with outside schools, such as Springville, Brigham Young and Provo high schools, were considered, but due to lack of transportation, and because Utahns in this sector do not generally approve of girls participatng in masculine sports, games with only Delta, Hinckley, Payson, and Wasatch Academy were held.

With Yoshiko Bubbles Keikoan at the helm, the rest of the cabinet for the spring term included Kay Murota, vice-president; Yoe Ikeda, secretary; and Nancy Takahashi, secretary.

SPORTS FOREWORD

SPORTS in Topaz, as well as in any other high school in the nation, comprise one of the principal phases of our school life for in these difficult times, students must continue to develop physically as well as mentally.

What does the student know of a complete high school experience, if he can't spend happy moments in a cheering section to acclaim his team? And to the athlete, what does enrichment of school life mean if he can't devote hours after school to hard practice and learning for the actual inter-school contests? Then too, these activities help to build and sustain our school spirit, a characteristic lacking among us in the beginning, because hardships encountered during the period of school organization dissipated our energies and zest for both study and play.

Building championship teams and character are the tasks of most high schools. But in Topaz High School, we have a bigger and more momentous program. Maybe it isn't noteworthy to those on the outside, but to each of us, it bears much meaning and hope.

When our athletic teams venture out to play the neighboring schools, they go out with a purpose. They are out to prove to the schools and to the white communities that we are just as good Americans as they. To us, it is not just a matter of who is going to win; it is more important to leave behind a good feeling. Yes, our teams' play clean and hard, not only to beat the opponents, but to demonstrate our worth as American youth.

Our football, basketball and track teams have done a good job in achieving our high aims. As we turn the next few pages, let's think of our athletes' contribution to the school, and give them the credit they deserve.

Dear Ruth,
Lots of luck
in your future.
From me
& another,
Love,
Ronnie

Assistant Coach

Though faced with numerous problems created by lack of equipment and materials necessary for organizing a team, Coach Keichi Kawamoto, assisted by Iwao Hashiguchi, started and accomplished the great task last season of building a powerful grid outfit for Topaz High.

Starting with mere boys without any competitive football experience, without uniforms and without a regulation field were some of the significant setbacks at the beginning of the '43 season, but it is to the coaches' credit that they whipped up and molded together a fighting aggregation, which went through a season of one defeat in five games with outside high schools.

With the arrival of 28 football outfits in late October, the original list of approximately 50 grid hopefuls was slashed to the number of uniforms available, and Coaches Kawamoto and Hashiguchi directed after-school practices in earnest, in anticipation of the grid tilts.

Trouncing Delta 18 to 6 was the season's opener, and first victory tasted by our boys in competitive football. Though outweighed 15 pounds per man as in all its encounters, the team showed up favorably. The Rams took Millard next to capture their second tilt 18 to 8. When Delta played Topaz on our home field for a return contest, the Rams uncorked a potent attack to whip them again, 18 to 7.

Next on the Ram's schedule was Wasatch Academy who administered the Ram's only setback, with a score of 19 to 12. Wasatch later became the state B division co-champions with Payson High, whom they tied 19 to 19 in a play-off. The final game with outside schools pitted the Rams against the Millard gridders here. The Green and Gold again downed the Eagles 13 to 7.

Playing the older and heavier local Commissary eleven thrice, the high school boys tied twice in deadlock battles, but lost the final encounter 2 to 0. All in all, the Rams built and maintained a good record, both in unofficial league standing and in the eyes of the public.

The Rams amassed a season's total of 79 points against 47 scored by their opponents. Leading the Green and Gold in individual scoring was Yosh Yamada, sparkling right half, who tallied a total of 25 points, followed by Mike Mayeda with 13 and Tony Kimura with 12. Six-point scorers included Roy Harano, Ki Tanamachi, Hisanori Sano and Harry Kitano.

TOPAZ, 18; DELTA, 7

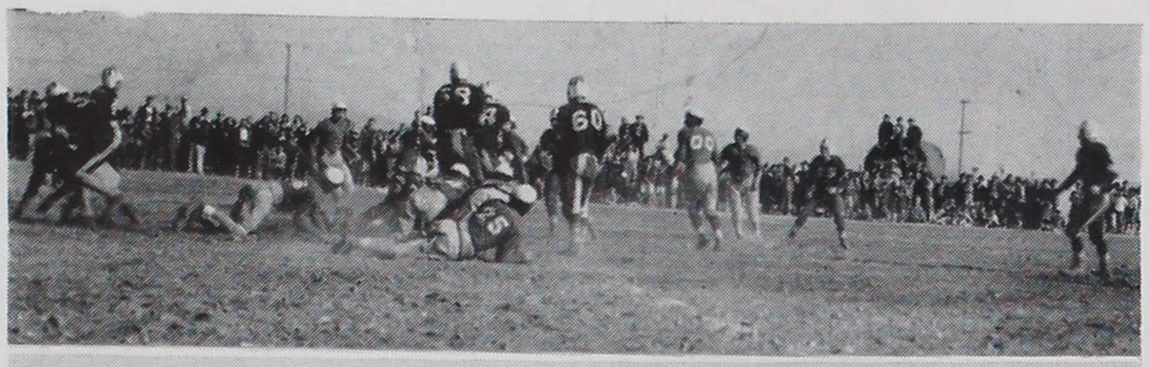
In initiating its season of grid games with outside schools, the Topaz Rams whipped the Delta High School squad 18 to 7 on the latter's gridiron. Although both teams turned in creditable performances, the Rams, with deceptive plays, outscored and outmaneuvered the Rabbits.

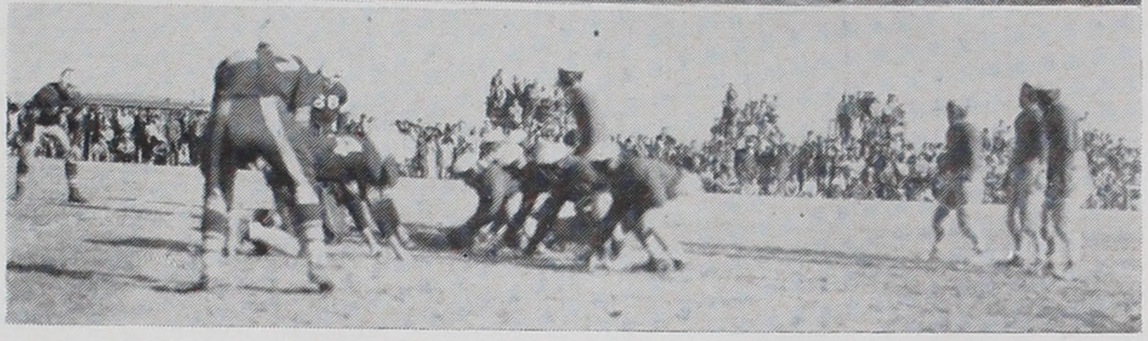
The Rams scored first in the initial period when "Slingin' Sammy" Nakaso pitched a perfect pass to Mike Mayeda on a dead man play. Moments later Topaz scored again when alert Ki Tanamachi intercepted a pass to cross the line untouched. Pulling a clean trick in the third quarter, Delta smashed out its lone touchdown on an unexpected play, and made good the conversion. No more scoring enlivened the game until the last 30 seconds when Tony Kimura intercepted a Delta pass to race down the side line for 40 yards to pay dirt.

Most outstanding man was Stan Tsujisaka, who stopped practically every play on defense, and proved his worth as offense player also. Other valuable players included Mac Yoshida and Yosh Takakuwa, a pair of sturdy guards.

TOPAZ, 19; Delta, 7

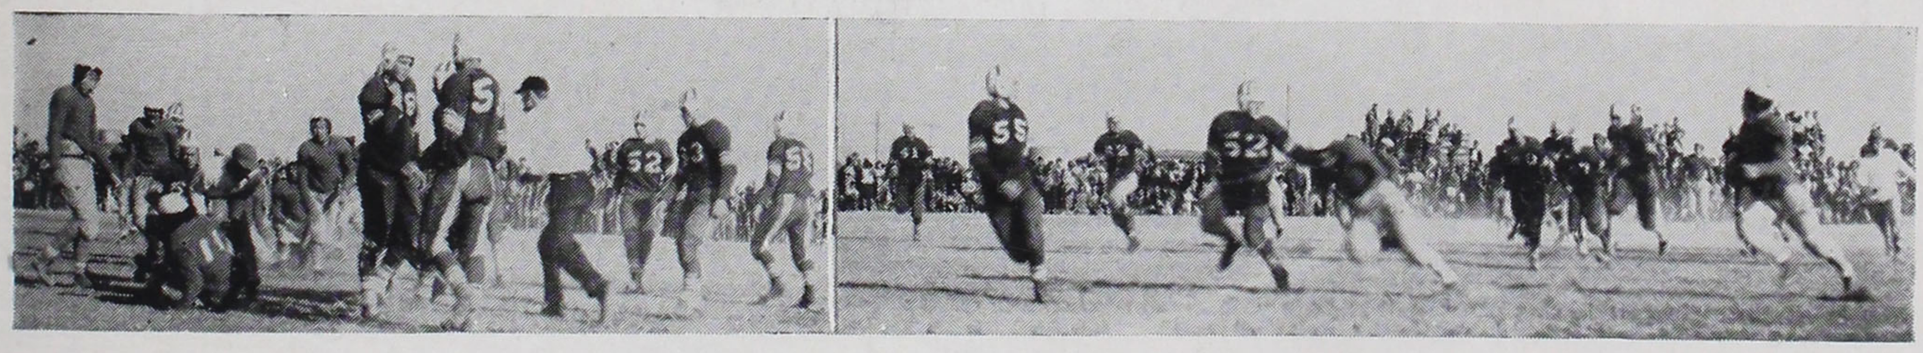
Led by Captain Roy Harano, the Rams maintained its unbeaten record by dumping the Delta prepsters in a second encounter 19 to 7, on the home field. Tony Kimura started the fireworks by packing the ball over from the one-yard line in the second quarter. After a return of punts Sus Iwasa scampered off a reverse for 25 yards to the second Ram touchdown. Topaz scored again when Harry Kitano intercepted a pass on the 40-yard stripe, and rambled all the way.





TOPAZ 18—FILLMORE 8

In upsetting the Fillmore eleven, 18 to 8, Topaz drew first blood in the initial period on a "sleeper" play perfectly pitched by Captain Harano to Mayeda. The Rams did not hold their lead long for the Eagles came right back with a 29-yard run, which although stopped by speedy Mayeda, went over for a touchdown a few plays later. On the last play of the first half, the Rams worked a beautifully-timed screen pass from Nakaso to Yamada, good for 45 yards to another six points. While deep in their own territory, the Rams pulled a boner and were driven back for a safety. On the last play of the half, the Rams again pulled a pretty reverse on a fake punt play which Yamada took for 72 yards to pay soil. For the third time conversion failed. Outstanding players included Yosh Yamada with his two touchdowns and Paul Bell, who spilled beautifully an end runner and four men running interference for him. Harano's generalship and Iwasa's broken field running were outstanding performances.



TOPAZ 13—FILLMORE 7

In their second meeting Topaz again rambled over the tall Fillmore team. The Rams had hard going in the first half. The scoring began in the middle of the third quarter after a beautiful punt return by Tak Kubota. In seven plays the Rams took the ball for 55 yards and a touchdown. In the final quarter Kitano threw a completed pass to Yamada in the end zone. Topaz practically gave Millard High their lone touchdown, in trying another fake punt play on their 7-yard marker. The Eagles, on the alert, hit the ball carrier so hard that he fumbled, and took the ball to pay dirt in four plays. Fine playing was attributed to Yamada with his touchdowns and Sock Yoshida, playing with a chipped ankle received in the Delta fracus. Outstanding linemen included Mac Yoshida, Tanamachi and Takakuwa.

TOPAZ, 12—WASATCH ACADEMY, 19

The high and mighty Topaz Rams, riding on the record of no defeats, met their doom at the hands of the mighty Wasatch Academy Tigers, 19 to 12, on the latter's turf.

After the opening kick-off the Rams started their relentless march towards enemy territory. With Harano and Kitano taking turns carrying the pigskin, the Rams marched clear down the field until Harano went over on a center buck for 6 points. Wasatch came back to knot the ount 6 to 6. A pass from Harano to Sano put the Rams ahead 12 to 6 at the half, but the Topaz boys were overcome by the hard-hitting Tigers, who moved in for the breaks in the last canto to win the ball game.

TOPAZ 0, COMMISSARY 0
TOPAZ 0, COMMISSARY 0
TOPAZ 0, COMMISSARY 2

A pre-season game with the Commissary eleven opened the Rams' football season. With both teams givng out bang-up exhibitions, the high school gridders were able to hold the local Commissary to a scoreless tie. Though outweighed, the Rams were never outplayed, and shone as a clicking unit in this first tussle.

The Rams again countered the Commissary eleven in two post-season games on the home field, the first ending in another deadlock. The majority of the game was played near the 50-yard line, except a few times when the Rams went deep into enemy territory, but were repulsed by a strong Commissary forward wall. Pounding their opponents were such Rams as Takakuwa, Yoshida, Harano and Tanamahi.

The last post-season tiff found the Rams on the short end of the score, 2 to 0. The score came in the third stanza when a Ram backfield man was caught behind the goal line. Outside of this score, the two elevens were evenly matched. The Green and Gold twice went within 10 yards of the Commissary goal, but both times were unable to add the extra zest needed to score. Outstanding players included Harano, Takakuwa, Tanamachi, Yamada, M. Yoshida, Tsujisaka and Sagimori.

Racing through a successful cage season, under the steady and able direction of Head Coach Fred Koba and his two assistants, Mits Saito and Iwao Hashiguchi, Ram cagers enhanced their record further by snatching the prized siiver trophy from all contenders at the annual Japanese American Citizens' League tournament in Salt Lake City from March 9 to 11. For the right to be called inter-mountain nisei champions, the Topaz prepsters defeated the Topaz community All-Star five in the finals, thus proving Topaz's superiority over other nisei teams in this sector.

Paced by such outstanding players as Tom Tomioka, ace scorer and Hisanori Sano, two steady forwards; Henry Hidekawa, hook shot artist at center, and the two steady guards, Stan Tsujisaka and Toa Momii, the varsity went fighting every minute of the basketball season. To the strong varsity reserves, almost as good as the starting five, go much of the credit for the squad's fine showing and stellar performances.

The Green and Gold enjoyed and were stimulated by the friendly cage contests with outside high schools. Among the cleanest and spirited games played in the local high school gymnasium were those contests against Nephi and Wasatch Academy. Other fine games included those played against Payson, Hinckley, Brigham Young, Delta and Millard high schools.

GAME REVIEWS

Opening their pre-season schedule with Delta, the Rams bowed to the Rabbits by a score of 37 to 27 due, primarily, to lack of practice on a hardwood floor. Mayeda was high scorer with 7 markers.

At the hands of the tall and powerful Brigham Young High five, the Rams encountered a 25 to 15 setback. The first half found the Rams only a point behind, but in the last canto, the opponents rolled away to an easy victory.

GAME REVIEWS

The Rams opened their unofficial league against the Delta Rabbits. Profiting from a previous defeat, Coach Koba led a new attack against the Rabbits and emerged with a 44 to 19 victory. High scorers were Mayeda with 12, and Tsujisaka with 10.

Encouraged by their victory against the Delta quintet, the Rams, sparked by Tamaki, went on a rampage against the Fillmore Eagles to trounce them 44 to 13. Tamaki garnered 11 digits, followed by Mayeda and Hidekawa with 9 apiece.

GAME REVIEWS

In their unofficial league, the Rams continued to remain undefeated when they laced the Hinckley five 30 to 17. Mayeda and Hidekawa took the honors with 8 tallies each.

Countering Hinckley next, the Rams outplayed and outscored Hinckley, the score reading 40 to 16. High-point man was Hidekawa with 14. Mayeda trailed with 13.

The Rams suffered a heart-breaking loss when Payson took them at their court by a slim 25 to 23 score. The game was a thriller from start to finish. Leading the attack were Mayeda and Hidekawa with 7 and 6, respectively.

GAME REVIEWS

Inspired by their loss to Payson, the Rams came back to defeat Wasatch Academy by a lop-sided score of 48 to 25 on the home court. Mayeda and Hidekawa again shone with 15 and 10 digits.

Failing to hang on to their 5 point half-time lead, the Rams bowed to the mighty Nephi cagers in a thrilling tilt, 23 to 21. Hidekawa registered 5 points for top team scoring.

The Rams again countered the Nephites but came ahead this time, 24 to 19. Tomioka was high.

Playing their last game of the season, the Rams lost a rough and tumble affair to the Delta five. Both teams played hard, but the Rams were on the short end 33 to 29. Tomioka threw in 11 points for individual scoring honors.

JUNIOR VARSITY

By downing all opposition the undefeated Junior Varsity, coached by Mits Saito and Iwao Hashiguchi, displayed a fine showing all season.

Leading the Jay Vees were such high calibre players as young Jiro Nakamura, frosh, and Shig Nomura at the forward posts, Ike Hirota at center, and Akira Ike Nakamura and Mas Sumimoto, dependable guards, supported by Mas Taura and Harry Hiruo.

Although they did not travel to as great an extent as the varsity for outside competition, the Jay Vees competed against local cage teams to gain valuable experience for next season. Their outstanding victory was their cage encounter with the Nephi Jay Vees, whom they downed by the convincing and substantial score of 31 to 11.

Due to poor weather conditions and lack of facilities, including a track field, the track season for Topaz cindermen was very short. Incidentally, who ever heard of a track team without a track, pole vault pit, high jump pit, and who used chairs for hurdles, for instance?

The Rams had only a couple of weeks of irregular practice before participating in their first meet, while other schools were already practicing more than a month. But in spite of these difficulties, the Topaz tracksters deserve credit for their hard work in getting into condition without the proper equipment.

With only one letterman, Yosh Yamada, returning from the colorful squad of last season, the others being lost through graduation, relocation and segregation, Ram prospects lacked luster, but other trackmen from last season's squad plus Tule Lake additions bolstered the track team this year.

At this writing the Ram cindermen have engaged in only one competitive track meet, the dual contest with Millard High at Fillmore on March 5. Lacking in experience, practice and manpower, the Rams suffered a severe setback at the hands of the powerful Eagles, winners the week before in a six-way track meet, making them regional champions.

Of the 28 tracksters participating in the meet, only one Ram, veteran dash ace Yamada, captured first honors by taking the 220-yard dash in 23.2. Yamada also took second place in the century.

Other second place winners included Mike Mayeda in the low hurdles, Sambo Nakaso in the pole vault, George Hamada in the broad jump, and Kenzo Ishimaru in the discus. Taking third honors were Ki Tanamachi in the high hurdles, George Murakami in the century, George Matsuura in the pole vault, Mits Nakagawa in the broad jump, Fred Otsuji in the 440, Hisanori Sano in the javelin toss, and Marvin Yoshikawa in the high jump.

A dual meet with the Hinckley Mustangs was contemplated for later in the month, according to co-mentors Akio Kimura and Kaz Inouye.

GIRLS' SPORTS

In meeting and accepting the challenge presented by wartime conditions in the relocation centers, Topaz High School worked out and executed a highly successful and normal program in girls' athletics, supervised by the director, Mrs. Pauline Newman.

The Topaz Toppers, known as the Double Tees, participated in basketball, track and baseball tilts with outside schools during the fall and spring semesters. In the cage sport they captured some sort of unofficial record by registering six wins in as many games in outside competiton.

Initiating the victorious casaba season for the Double Tees was the encounter with the Hinckley sextet, resulting in a 26 to 24 decision in favor of Topaz. The second game with Payson in early January brought favorable returns, a 26 to 22 victory. With the score 28 to 18, our first "home game" with Hinckley for opponent added another notch in the string of triumphs. The locals chalked up another decisive conquest over Hinckley 30 to 12 in late January.

In acceptance of a challenge issued by the Wasatch Academy co-eds, Topaz invited them to a casaba fray here on March 25. Though playing at an immense disadvantage, the Wasatch girls averaging 5'7", the Double Tees eked out a close win, 26 to 24. For the last victorious tilt of the season, the Topaz sextet was invited to play a return tilt at Wasatch. At half time Topaz trailed, but a spirited spurt in the third quarter zoomed the locals out of a likely defeat. The game ended 29 to 21.

Members of the starting sextette included such qualified players as Yoshiko Keikoan, Mitsuko Nakamizo, Mariko Shinoda, Nancy Takahashi, Aki Keikoan and Emi Nagasawa. Other varsity girls were Natalie Nakamura, Joan Nakamura, Betty Nakaso, Mitsuko Sato, Margaret Takeuchi, Yuki Tsuchihashi, Grace Tsujisaka and Kitty Yamauchi. Jayvees consisted of Mary Tsuda, Margaret Kawaguchi, Sawae Kuwano, Mary Sakashita, Kay Yoshira, Peggy Tamaki, Alice Matsuhara, Natsu Ikeda, Alice Mori and Asaye Ashizawa.

Credited to a great extent for the stellar record of the high-flying Double Tees was the coaching of Yosh Isono and Larry Fukuhara of the physical education department.

New Faculty Members

Several teachers, not on the Topaz High School teaching staff at the time the '44 Ramblings first went to press, were, consequently, not mentioned in the faculty section, found in the early pages of this yearbook.

In recognition of their contribution and service in the field of teaching and counseling here, the Ramblings' staff believes it is only fitting that they receive merit along with the other faculty members of the junior and senior high schools of Topaz.

Mr. Brig. A. Perkins, here from February 9 to May 17, served as vice-principal of Topaz High School, after which he retired from government service. A native of Salt Lake City, Mr. Perkins was for many years in the consular service of the United States.

Miss Barbara Loomis, music and French instructor, comes to us from Washington, D. C. Her cheerful spirit and helpful nature has made her one of the best-liked personalities on the campus.

Mr. Andrew P. Anderson, successor to Harold Carlson as director of physical education, and an instructor of hygiene here, is from Logan, Utah.

Mr. Shozo Aoki of Oakland, California, teaches history in the junior high school department.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Farrar of Berkeley, California, reported to the school faculty in late April. Mr. Farrar instructs social studies and English, while Mrs. Farrar is a teacher of English.

Mrs. Daisy Burre of Denver, Colorado, is on the staff of the commercial department.

Due to the relocation of a number of resident instructors and induction into the United States armed forces, or other vital reasons, Topaz High School is witnessing and experiencing a constant change in teacher personnel.

Hail Alma Mater

— By —

William Oshima, Lyrics — David Iino, Music

All Hail Topaz High School,
A torch that our paths will light,

Our colors the Green and Gold
Shall symbolize our might,

From far and wide we've gathered,
And made now into one,

We'll cherish this our Alma Mater
Which will not go unsung.

All Hail Topaz High School,
We'll leave thee with spirits fine,

And hope we will prove to be
Ever worthy sons of thine,

Our steps for long you've guided,
And now without a fear,

We're proud to leave as part of you,
Our Alma Mater dear.

Acknowledgment

To all persons involved in the production and publication of the 1944 Ramblings, we extend heartiest thanks in acknowledgment of their services. Working with them was a pleasure, and the co-operation received was appreciated.

To Mr. Harrison Conover of the Art City Publishing Company and his workers, we extend many thanks for printing our book, and doing an admirable job of our project.

Mr. Kinji Utsumi and Mr. Kaneo Kido of the Topaz Photo Studio unselfishly devoted their time and efforts to meeting our picture schedules. They developed proofs and printed pictures for us to such a degree as to ignore other demands made on them at the same time. They deserve much praise for their handiwork with the camera and friendly co-operaton in the speedy return of proofs.

Mr. Mits Nishio of the Community Activities section and his assistants helped us to obtain and present two motion picture showings to raise yearbook funds. Also, Eddie Shiroma of the same department receives our gratitude for his co-operation in operating the movie projector.

The Topaz Co-operative Enterprises deserve mention for assisting us in making photographic contacts and arrangements.

Miss Harumi Kawahara, general adviser, and Miss Shervy Sharvy, business adviser, were among the main reasons why the yearbook came out.

The Girl Reserves were considerate and generous in contributing financially to the Ramblings' fund.

The students, who participated or assisted in other ways in the yearbook activities for the fall and spring terms, receive our thanks for making the events a success.

The residents of Topaz merit our appreciation for supporting the yearbook projects, the Musical Fun-tasia, Winter Carnival, and the two motion picture showings.

TAKASHI KUBOTA, Editor '44 Ramblings' Staff.

May be some day (like me) you will be graduating. Until then good luck and best wishes.
Always.

EDUCATION ASSEMBLY A SUCCESS

In observance of National Education Week and in Commemoration of Armistice Day, the Topaz High School presented Mr. Thomas Bodine, the Student Relocation advisor from the National S.R.C. in Philadelphia, as the guest speaker at the assembly held Friday, November 10.

The High School Choral Club, with Miss Pauline Austin as director, made its first appearance at this assembly.

Vocal renditions were given by Misses Yaeko Tsumura and Joanne Nagata, together with a piano solo by Aiko Takita.

DELTA LIONS' CLUB TO SPONSOR MINSTRELS

The Delta Lions' Club has been very much impressed by the "all out" attitude of the '45 Ramblings Staff, and has planned a minstrel show, which is to be held in the Topaz High School auditorium on Tuesday, Nov. 21. The profit will be donated by the Club to the Ramblings staff for the printing of the '45 yearbook.

The Delta Lions' Club is considered one of the outstanding organizations in the Delta region, and they have sponsored many of the leading functions in the locality. With this type of group behind it, the show promises to be a most entertaining [illegible]. The tickets
