Dear Mr. Takeda:

I am trying to gather some information on celery culture. I should have all this information from talking to you, but find that I am not sure on many points and would appreciate it if you would give me what information you care to on the enclosed card.

I do not want you to divulge any of your particular growing secrets but any general information will be appreciated.

I am very sorry that some years ago I did not work closer with you in the matter of developing some improved celery varieties, for I think we could have gotten somewhere by cooperating in this matter. Thanking you for any information you may give.

Yours very truly,
