JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ORGANIZED IN LI'L TOKIO AREA

Active Program to Be Mapped by Issei-Nisei Professional and Businessmen to Aid Community

A much-discussed group was formulated last Wednesday noon as over 20 professional and businessmen of Li'l Tokio met at San Kwo Low to organize a Junior Chamber of Commerce.

At the initial meeting, Eiji Tanabe was elected temporary chairman of the group and headed a committee comprised of Henry Murayama of Nisei Trading Co., Taro Kawa of Enbun; and Attorney John Maeno, to formulate plans and draft a constitution.

Open to both Issei and Nisei professional and businessmen, has set an active schedule with weekly meeting slated for the first four weeks, with regular semi-monthly or monthly meetings to be decided upon by the group.

The purpose of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be the development of the community and will include some social activities.

Among the major problems to be faced by the group will be "How to get the Nihonjin back to Li'l Tokio." The Jr. Chamber will endeavor to find means of increased service to customers, solve the parking problem and institute a broad education program.

In order to establish a strong organization, plans call for action among the business and professional to better acquaint themselves with each other in order to attain a congenial, cooperative group. Those who attended the initial meeting were asked to bring one other friend to the following meeting. Some 50 persons are expected to attend the gathering next Wednesday.

One of the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Kiyomi Takata of Southern California Appliance Co. stated, "We want the businessmen to want to come. We don't want to force them."

High on the agenda of coming meetings will be the Christmas holiday sales and future Nisei Week Festivals.

Guatemalan Embassy Says L.A. Consulate "Erred" in Denying Visa

WASHINGTON.—The Ambassador from Guatemala informed the Washington Office of the J. A.C.L. Anti-Discrimination Committee that his country does not discriminate against American citizens of Japanese ancestry.

Replying to a protest that a Nisei applicant in Los Angeles had been denied a tourist visa to visit the Central American Republic, the Guatemalan Ambassador wrote Mike Masaoka, national legislative director, that his country's constitution prohibits racial discrimination of any kind.

Admitting that some discriminatory provisions were embodied in the "Alien Law" enacted fifteen years ago, the Ambassador declared that these provisions became obsolete when the 1945 Constitution came into force.

"Article 21 of this Constitution in effect provides that 'any discrimination whatsoever, based on birth, sex, race, color, worship or ideology, is unlawful and punishable'" the Guatemalan official informed Masaoka.

"Due to the fact that a new draft of this 'Alien Law' is still awaiting approval by the National Congress, consular officers sometimes resort by involuntary error to the now obsolete discriminatory provisions in the old 'Alien Law.' But, mistakes of this sort will be promptly corrected when brought to the attention of higher authorities, i.e. the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Guatemala," the Ambassador explained. He reported that he is communicating with the Guatemalan Consulate in Los Angeles to correct the injustice.

The Ambassador's letter was in reply to one sent him by the Washington Office of the JACL ADC following information forwarded by Frank Chuman, attorney and national JACL vice president, that the Los Angeles Consul had denied a visitor's visa to a Nisei girl on the grounds that a Guatemalan law prohibited the issuance of such travel documents to members of the Negroid and Mongoloid races.

Judge Rules U.S. Nationality Law Unconstitutional

HONOLULU, T. H. — In two sweeping and precedent making decisions last week, U.S. District Judge J. Frank McLaughlin ruled in Honolulu that the entire United States Nationality Law, which provides for loss of U.S. citizenship by persons born in the United States is unconstitutional.

He also declared that one born in the United States does not lose his citizenship by serving in a foreign army, voting in a foreign election or by employment by a foreign government.

The Honolulu Federal Judge handed down these decisions in the court cases filed in behalf of Kiyokuro Okimura and Hisao Murata, Hawaiian-born Nisei. Both were represented by Attorneys A. L. Wirin of Los Angeles and Katsuo Miho of Honolulu.

The important decisions favorably affected approximately 5,000 Nisei in Japan who, according to the U.S. Department of State, lost the United States citizenship by serving in the Japanese army during the war, or by voting in post-war elections in Japan or by accepting employment with the government of Japan.

Both Okimura and Murata were in the Japanese army during the war. Okimura, in addition, was cited by the Department of State on the other two grounds.

Judge McLaughlin rejected all these grounds and ordered the restoration of United States citizenship to Murata and Okimura.

It is expected that the government will take an appeal from the rulings.

Cite Compton GI For War Crimes Investigation Work

WITH THE 8TH ARMY HQ., Korea.—Capt. Fred F. Suzukawa of Compton, Calif., was recently awarded a medal for work he did as a war crimes investigator shortly after the end of World War II.

The Nisei, who received his captaincy last year in Korea, was presented with the citation by Brig. Gen. Homer O. Easton of the 40th Inf. Division.

He was attached to Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco for some time as a lieutenant after returning from occupation duties in 1948 with his Japanese war bride. He applied for further duty in Japan, but before the transfer came through, the Korean conflict broke out and he was sent to the fighting zone.

Local Girl Passes State Examination In New Field of Dental Hygienics

Three Nisei were among the 164 candidates who passed the examination for dentists and hygienists announced by Dr. Kenneth I. Nesbitt, secretary of the State Board of Dental Examiners.

They are Keiji Onizuka, San Francisco, dentist; Mary Kobuke, Walnut Grove, and Ikuko Oiye, Los Angeles, hygienists.

Miss Oiye, 23, who resides at 1960 Michigan Ave., attended Hollywood High School and matriculated to UCLA on a scholarship. A pre-dental major, she took up dental hygienics at the U.C. Medical Center in San Francisco.

Upon inquiry, the petite Miss Oiye explained that a dental hygienist is concerned with the science of preservation of healthful teeth and gums by showing patients the correct method of brushing teeth, nutritional changes, and proper care.

A relatively new field in which only women have specialized, hygienists have many fields in which they are valuable. Besides relieving dentists of all but operational work, they educate parents and children on proper care of teeth, visit schools to inspect the dental needs of students and teach the science of dental care.

Miss Oiye and Miss Kobuke are believed to be the first persons of Japanese ancestry to become hygienists.

THE GREAT NISEI NOVEL...

It comes as something of a shock to realize that next year will mark the 10th anniversary of The Evacuation. Caught in the trivia of everyday routine, we tend to think of time as standing still—but here it is, a decade since the Great Upheaval.

Evacuation, it seems to us, was the climax, the focal point of Nisei experience. The immigration of the Issei, their struggle against appalling prejudice to gain an economic foothold in the United States, the growing up of their children, the Nisei, in an atmosphere of inferiority—Evacuation and World War II which brought it about seem to round out this Nisei story. Evacuation tested the mettle of the Nisei and forced them to mature. Evacuation, the outcome of racial prejudice based upon economic competition, opened the way for more economic freedom for the Nisei, strangely enough.

Now anyone who has any literary aspirations will see the makings of a great novel in the Nisei story. The Nisei experience teems with elements that fairly cry out to be built into a great, human story. The conflict of two cultures as different as East and West within a person's makeup. The love for one's birthplace that no amount of adverse treatment can quite change. The philosophy of life that one must fashion to compromise ideals with life's realities. They are all there, waiting for the architect of words to distill them into a tale that would have the universality of all human experience.

The Great Nisei Novel, however, will have to be written by a superb craftsman before it deserves that sobriquet. The writer will have to have the talent which does full justice to the subject. By the Great Nisei Novel, we are not talking about a novel about Nisei, written by any Nisei, published by an obscure firm as a sort of Oriental curio and enjoying mild success. We are talking about a novel which will be powerful enough to compel first class critical appraisal. We fully expect it to be treated on the first page of the New York Times Book Review.

What are the prospects of turning out such a writer from our generation? From our vantage point (since writers in general seem to us shy and secretive, rather reluctant to talk about their work before it is published, this vantage point is by no means comprehensive) it seems to us that there are at least two or three possibilities that such a novel might be produced.

We are looking with some hope toward Toshio Mori, whose volumes of short stories titled, "YOKOHAMA, CALIFORNIA," was published in 1948. These Saroyan-esque stories revealed a sensitive writer. Critics pointed out that he was a little awkward yet in his technique, but "Yokohama" being his first work, Mr. Mori was allowed much room for improvement.

Perhaps the brightest Nisei star on the literary horizon is Hisaye Yamamoto. Her short stories in the ultra-discriminating Partisan Review—"HIGH-HEELED SHOES" and "SEVENTEEN SYLLABLES" to name two—show her ability to express complex human emotions clearly, simply and economically. Hers is a more disciplined technique than Mr. Mori's. Miss Yamamoto received a John Hay Whitney grant last year to enable her to work on a novel.

Another Nisei, who can list his occupation as writer is Albert Saijo. As far as we know, Mr. Saijo has not had any major works published. But upon samples of his writings we have read, we base our opinion that he is one of the rare few who can produce the Great Nisei Novel.

What writers can write and what they will write are two different things. Perhaps Mr. Mori or Miss Yamamoto or Mr. Saijo resent being labeled so conspicuously as Nisei writers.

But one of the axioms of good writing is that the author write of things he knows the most about. We therefore feel that the best works of Nisei authors will be about Nisei.

Will a Nisei writer of quality emerge who has the talent and what is more the will to sacrifice everything to his writings to produce a major work? In the three persons named above, we think we have the answer.

Nat'l JACL Convention Committee Open Drive for Sponsorship Fund

SAN FRANCISCO.—The creation of a sponsorship fund to provide working capital for the 1952 JACL convention committee was announced by Chairman Y. Moriwaki of the Budget and Finance committee.

He explained that with more than 80 chapters from 24 states being invited to send official and booster delegates to the "Homecoming" conclave in San Francisco next June, plans and preparations must be undertaken in a business-like manner.

Immediate funds are required for such expenditures as deposits on various halls and rooms, special convention stationery, postage and many other detailed items.

The Budget and Finance committee invites all interested JACL members, particularly those in California, to serve as convention sponsors by contributing $25 to the fund.

This amount will entitle the sponsor to be pre-registered for all regular and some special activities of the 1952 convention. If it should be determined that the total registration cost will be less than $25, the balance is to be refunded to the sponsor.

Among the initial list of contributors are Victor Abe, Yasuo

Despite the fact that it is America's largest county fair, it has sacrificed none of the atmosphere and charm of the time honored institutions with its prize pumpkins, tallest corn and champ cake baker. Two mile of ribbons will be pinned on the winners.

Under the inspiring banner of "America the Bountiful," 50 counties and communities are represented with magnificent displays. The beautiful domestic arts building overflows with women's handiwork.

A gorgeous flower show includes half a million dollars worth of orchids. Fifteen acres are devoted to a junior fair. Under the title "one World of Art" there is a remarkable collection of paintings and sculpture containing many masterpieces.

A complete home show is assembled about an ultra-modern home. The last word in sets and appliances are in the big radio-television building with its 2000-seat broadcasting theater in constant operation.

The entertainment program is topped by the highest man-made ski jump in the world. A giant toy zone will thrill the children and massed band concerts, parades and daily celebrations will form an endless round of events.

Corduroys, Separates Set Pace for Fall Fashions at Sigma Phi Show

Swishing taffetas and corduroys literally "stole the show" at the second annual Fashion Show presented by the Sigma Phi Omegas last Sunday afternoon in the main ballroom of the Royal Palms Hotel.

Gaily decorated in the "Pierrot and Pierrette" theme, the coming Fall styles were described by Miss Anita Richardson, fashion coordinator for Eastern Columbia.

In a surprise opening, Terri Hokoda set the feeling for the petticoat sequence by bursting from a box in a black taffeta petticoat with crinoline trimmed with lace.

Chickie Ishihara modeled a black taffeta skirt with flying panels which revealed a striking black and white check pettiskirt. It was worn with a flossed black taffeta strapless.

A gray wool gabardine suit with red shadow plaid check was modeled by Susie Shinohara. A twin row of buttons edged in bright red complemented her red accessories.

Florence Wada was attired in the popular gray check wool shortie coat with a flared back to open the coat sequence. A white yearn dyed pyramid coat was modeled by Jeanne Yokota. A full black velvet trim cuffs was repeated in the lining of the stand-up collar.

CORDUROYS POPULAR—
One of the most popular sequences was the corduroys. Among the most striking was the two-piece ensemble modeled by Misako Goto. A gold poncho shirt in wide velvet corduroy was worn with contrasting slacks in purple pinwale cords.

Association Announced By Dr. John Koyama

The association of Dr. Tadao Shishino, who recently received his masters degree in Optometry at the University of California, in his office of practice, was announced by Dr. John Koyama.

A complete optical grinding laboratory is operated by Dr. Koyama and run by Richard Koyama, formerly of the American Optical Co. of San Francisco and the Kindy Optical Co. of Detroit, Mich.

Offices of practice are located in Los Angeles, West Los Angeles and Gardena.

Very smart was the corduroy pedal pushers of honey beige worn by Pat Nagai, with a buckskin vest and a feed bag to match.

The highlight of the sequence was a red corduroy one-piece lounging suit, aptly named the "Television suit." Fashioned somewhat in the style of men's coveralls, the suit is ideal for lounging in front of your TV set. It was modeled by Terri.

In the separates, Aiko Oota wore a plaid jacket with purple and gray shadow check over a gray worsted turtle neck sweater which will be popular this fall. The three-piecer was completed by a purple suede cloth skirt.

EVENING SEQUENCE—
Bright colors featured the evening sequences. Misako appeared in a red strapless gown with a velvet bodice trimmed in white and a full skirt of red net. A matching net stole completed her ensemble.

An exquisite gown and very becoming was the peacock blue lace dress sprinkled with gold glitters. A short bolero jacket was worn over the strapless gown modeled by Itsuko Hamasaki.

The crowning glory was the stunning gown of ivory net over taffeta. The strapless bodice was fashioned with two layers of Chantilly lace pleated across the bodice to give fullness. Clouds of ivory net formed a full skirt. A net stole completed the ensemble.

In her commentaries, Miss Richardson stressed color, fabric and line for the Fall season with special emphasis for Nisei to try the many complimentary hues which will set the trend for the next six months.

Mrs. Julia Murakami was chairman for the program which included vocal selections by Marlene Fujita, accompanied by Kay Haga.

MRS. STEVEN H. SAKAI
A lovely bride, Grace Tokuyama

By KATS KUNITSUGU

The traditional "Lohengrin" processional pealed forth for yet another popular September bride, as Grace Tokuyama, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jitsutaro Tokuyama, was wed last Sunday afternoon to Steven H. Sakai, son of Mr. and Mrs. Einoshin Sakai.

The Rev. John H. M. Yamazaki, vicar of St. Mary's Episcopal Church and chaplain of the Nisi Veterans Association for which the bridegroom was long executive secretary, read the double ring ceremony.

The stately bride entered the white flower-bedecked chapel escorted by her father. She was gowned in white satin, the bodice delicately apliqued with imported lace and the skirt spreading out into a cathedral train. A jeune fille cap of lace, trimmed with tulle and pearls held her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white water lilies.

In her entourage as maid of honor was Michiko Kadowaki. Bridesmaid was Alice Tokuyama, the bride's sister. They were similarly attired in Alice blue marquisette with insets of matching lace at the modified stole neckline. They carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums. The bride's neice, Claudia Tokuyama, was flower girl in a violet gown.

The bridegroom chose Paul Bannai as his best man. Ushers included Frank Okada, Tak Nakaki and Yosh Ito.

Wedding music included "Ave Maria," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Immediately following the ceremony, the more than 200 friends of the couple and their families gathered in the patio to offer best wishes to the newly weds. Mrs. Jitsutaro Tokuyama received in an afternoon dress of dove gray crepe, complemented by a mauve orchid corsage. Mrs. Einoshin Sakai was attired in navy lace with matching accessories and a mauve orchid corsage.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. Y. Nakagawa and his daughters Satomi and Miyoko of Lodi, Calif.

A shower of rice sent the couple off to a wedding trip to San Francisco. Upon their return, they will make their new home in Los Angeles.

NISEI WOMEN becoming more and more fashion conscious, the Sigma Phi Omega's Fashion Show last Sunday in the cool Royal Palms ballroom was highly successful considering the mid-Summer heat wave which has prevailed in the Southland the past several weeks... many ohs, and ahs were heard as the lovely models appeared in a preview of fall styles... they proved that Nisei women in general do not have special clothing problems as many of them believe... rather it is the selection and style plus the all important factor of color that adds that "exciting look"... none of the clothes modeled by the girls were altered, pinned or padded in any way... despite the inconsistency of dress lengths during the past several years, Miss Richardson suggested that dresses reach the middle of the calves for the smart look... she emphasized, "Don't stand in a hole with a skirt that reaches your ankles."

Following the show, members of the Sigma, wearing yellow mums with cardinal letters "SC" served refreshments of punch and cookies... for those who inquired, the decorations and art work done by Toni Takeuchi.

AMONG THE MANY PEACE TREATY social interviews comes a story about the "new" women in Japan... related by Mrs. Masa Nakayama, a member of the Japanese House of Representatives and an unofficial observer at the parley, she declared that women in Japan are in favor of the idea of marrying for love, instead of as a duty... she said that women are taking their places freely in professions and for the first time, they are enjoying equal right as the men... "Before the war," Mrs. Nakayama said, "90 per cent of all marriages were arranged by the parents. Now young people choose their own partners in life."

SOCIAL SILHOUETTING: the 1948 Bussel queen June Manji of Sacramento exchanged nuptial vows with Hank Oga of Lodi on September 2... Michi Kataoka, who designed the stage sets for the recent Nisei Week Talent Show sent us an invitation to attend the 8th annual Animation Art Festival held by United Productions of America for which she works... they are the producers of the 1950 Academy Award winning cartoon, "Gerald McBoing Boing"... Queen Aiko Ogomori was notified last week that she had passed her examination for a beautician's license... she is the first post-war Nisei Week queen who didn't lose her job due to the festival... she is employed at Bobb's Beauty Salon in the Silverlake district.

AROUND TOWN THIS WEEKEND... For things to do, how about the fifth annual Fishermen's Fiesta at the Los Angeles Harbor... the three-day affair which starts Friday, will be climaxed by a parade of more than 100 brightly decorated fishing boats... also booths, fish fries and carnival will be held all three nights... for showfolks, the musical hit "Guys and Dolls" has been extended until October 3 at the Philharmonic... moviegoers will be flocking to see the Pulitzer prize winning novel by Tennessee Williams which opened on the screen, "A Streetcar Named Desire" currently showing at Warner's Beverly Hills... former 442nd boys will reminisce when they see "Force of Arms," a WWII story with a setting in Italy... and for dance lovers, the current dream band of Ray Anthony is at the Palladium.

Yoshiko Miura and Joseph T. Suzuki Plight Troth, Sun.

Father William Whitlow conferred nuptial rites upon Yoshiko Miura and Joseph Toshimichi Suzuki last Sunday afternoon at Maryknoll Church in a double ring ceremony witnessed by 250 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Koshiro Miura of San Diego and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fukutaro Suzuki of Pasadena.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white satin with a bodice of Chantilly lace and tapering sleeves also of lace. A lace overskirt formed a formal train. She wore a veil of fingertip length and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, stephanotis, centered with a white orchid.

Serving as maid of honor, Yoshiko Hanzawa, wore a gown of turquoise taffeta with a Chantilly lace bolero and a matching lace overskirt. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Bridesmaids Angela Suzuki and Rose Kobayashi were attired in similar gowns of yellow taffeta with Chantilly lace and bouquets of bronze roses.

Carrying a basket of white rose petals, flower girl Chrislyn Kei Ito wore a gown fashioned after the bridesmaids in pink.

Standing as best man for the bridegroom was Ujinobu Niwa. Ushers were Ken Miura, and Henry Umeda.

The wedding selections, "Ave Maria" and "Agnus Dei" were sung by Yukio Ogawa.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the social hall. On their honeymoon, they will tour California and upon their return, the couple will make their home in Los Angeles.

HORSE'S MOUTH

by GEORGE YOSHINAGA

THE HORSE

(For the next month or two, the Horse's Mouth will have a Northern California flavor as George Yoshinaga is residing there during that period.—Ed.)

STOCKTON.—Not far from this city, a bit to the south, lies the city of San Jose, the county seat of Santa Clara County and also the home of San Jose State College.

Now San Jose State, though a small school, has in the past been noted for the caliber of their football teams.

Many top ranking gridgers have earned their college monograms from the Spartan school.

This season, as the White and Gold prepare for their titan opener against the University of San Francisco, the San Joseans boast several distinctions regarding the grid team.

One is, they have perhaps the largest Nisei football player in the United States on their team. He is, of course, Jim Kajioaka, the rambling behemoth from Modesto.

Coach Bob Bronzan of San Jose told Bay Area sport scribes that he had to send back east for a size suit to fit Kajioaka. He's that big! Kajioaka attributes his huge shoulders to hard work. He says that lifting peach crates during the summer really builds him up.

Kajioaka stands 6 feet tall and weighs 245 pounds. He isn't just big, either! Last year when he was the mainstay on the Modesto JC eleven, he hit Tom Novikoff of LACC so hard that Novikoff had to leave the game. This is the same Novikoff that is currently holding down a first string berth on the University of Oregon team.

I mentioned that San Jose had several distinctions. The other is that the Spartans are perhaps the only major college team with three Nisei players on the roster. Besides Kajioaka, there are Harry Kawano from Oceanside and Jim Yagi from Livermore, Calif. All three figures in on the San Jose setup.

So, this weekend's game in San Francisco should prove interesting. USF is being rated as one of the top elevens, paced by All-American candidate Ollie Matson.

They're going to hold the rubber match of the San Jose Zebras-Fresno All-Star series in Fresno.

No doubt both teams would want to bill this final game as the contest to decide the National Nisei Championship like they did last year.

However, this year, they won't be able to. The reason is, of course, our own Nisei Trading team that took both teams.

Fresno won in San Jose once, but were beaten by them in an earlier game.

Maybe a final game could be arranged between the winner of this final crucial game and Nisei Trading.

Of course, the game will have to be played in Ellay. Anywhere else, the element of "home town" officiating might decide the game. Especially in San Jose, where they don't seem to care about any other team but their own.

In Los Angeles, however, the umpires wouldn't know Nisei Trading from the visiting team and wouldn't render any favoring decisions.

Stockton is the home of College of Pacific. COP is now ready for its opening game this week with Hardin Simmons of Texas.

The whole city turns out to support the team.

In fact, up here one doesn't read much about Loyola, USC, or UCLA. Even the recent Rams-Browns game got about five inches of space in the San Francisco papers. Reading the papers locally, one wouldn't give the Rams a chance when they meet the San Francisco 49ers.

California is considered a powerhouse that no one has a chance against. That's if you believe everything you read about them.

We'll see after their Santa Clara game this week. See you next week.

Let's Go Fishin'

with JOHNNY PARKE

The past week has not been very good fishing as you likely know. The albacore and tuna are very touchy and only those fishermen using very light wire and small hooks, No. 6 or 8 on long leaders, brought back tuna from Catalina.

The excessive heat and full moon period may be, perhaps, blamed for the present slow fishing spell.

In spite of that, boats fishing locally in the Horse Shoe Kelp and Rock Pile just outside of San Pedro, brought in some excellent catches of big barracuda this week. In fact, this area seems to be the best bet at the present time.

Albacore catches have been slow, but the new and large school of fish moving up from Mexican waters should give us some hot fishing within the next ten days.

Catalina has been air, but the white sea bass have very definitely moved into the Island waters and the annual late run of those fish has started now.

Our charter party last Sunday on the boat "Ebb Tide" had no trouble landing a nice catch for all fishermen of white sea bass in an hours fishing at Catalina. So we would suggest that you prepare yourself for an excellent run of white sea bass which is due any day now.

Another hot spot which has developed in the past week is San Diego, which is having a very fine run of yellow tail. Some of our customers have brought back five to ten each in the last few days.

We would suggest that you give us a phone for late news on the unusual run of large yellowtail at San Diego.

Marlin swordfish continue to be hooked in exceptionally large numbers both in San Diego waters and off Newport. This year should be a record breaking season for swordfish from all reports so far.

If you have a freezer that needs filling, we would suggest a marlin trip to San Diego.

Surf fishermen are hitting good schools of silver perch off Zuma Beach, Oxnard and Carpinteria. In fact, we will again stick our long, skinny necks out and predict that this winter season will be the best for many years for surf fishermen.

Heavy schools of silver perch have been already been seen in the Oxnard area and Zuma Beach. If you will remember, last year was a poor year for silver perch but from all indications, our coming winter season should be a record-breaker, too.

Here's a tip to fresh water fishermen. The Colorado River area should be red hot by October. Lots of fish and not such a fast current this winter season, so don't slip up on this years late trout fishing on the Colorado, which should be exceptional.

Scanning the Gridiron...

Scanning the gridiron horizon, we notice some big boys turning out on the prep front... Over at Belmont, 204 pound tackle Len Hashimoto will bolster the forward wall of the Hilltoppers. Hashimoto is in his second year of varsity competition.

At Roosevelt, the Roughriders lost a 220 pound Nisei tackle Jim Nakagawa via graduation, but greeting Coach Pete Clentzos at the initial turnout was another behemoth, Tom Ito, who tips the Fairbanks at close to 250 pounds. He will fill in at the tackle spot vacated by Nakagawa.

Other hopefuls donning the cardinal and gold jerseys are Tets Saisho, a 160 pound fullback and Shogo Inao at quarterback. The Roughriders will utilize a modified T formation and single wing this season, according to the coach.

Polytechnic has just started issuing uniforms this week. Last year, Poly had a good end prospect in 6 feet 1 inch end Bill Matsu-shima who is a senior this season.

Hard-running back of the Garfield Bulldogs last year, Don Naruke is out for the Oxy team, gunning for one of the halfback positions. He has a tough "row to hoe" with three returning lettermen, Jack Bobinette, Matt Kurlich and Dick McCullough plus Jim Delaney of the Jayvees listed in the starting offensive and defensive lineups.

The "Li'l Scooter" Ralph Kubota of Compton will be seen in action this Saturday against the Olympia (Wash.) JC team at Ramsaur Stadium via television. It will be among the first of the jaycee games to be televised by Hoffman this fall.

Speaking of Compton, Vic Schmidt, Coast Conference commissioner, has opened an official investigation in the presence of 26 football players from Hawaii, who are now attending Compton and Pasadena.

Listed on the Tartar roster are three Nisei, Richard Tokuda, guard; David Yamashiro and Nob Yonamine, halfbacks.

Speculation is hot that USC scouts have been roaming the Seven Seas to attend their "farm." Honolulu sports scribes are indignant because the cream of the Island's prep stars were spirited away.

BABE KARASAWA To romp for Caltech

Karasawa Tops Caltech Passers

PASADENA. — Babe Karasawa is counted upon by Coach Bert LaBrucherie to lead Caltech to a successful season. Greeted by 18 returning lettermen, LaBrucherie will count on Karasawa's passing wizardry plus his shifty running in the coming SCIAC season. Caltech meets LaVerne in the opener this Saturday night.
