Dear Mom and Pop,

Well, I'm back at service company at last. We moved yesterday afternoon. I had four packages and eight letters from you. I received the sweaters you sent and the packages had magazines, dried shrimp, canned fruit, stationery and candy.

Guess what I'm doing now at service company? Working at the C.P. command post to you. I got a pencil pushing job - a office clerk. I do the writing and posting of guards and keep records. Easy job, eh? Our first sergeant is going home soon so they need me at the office.

Well, how's your job getting along? I guess you're looking around town quite a bit.

I had rice, a stew, and the more you want me for dinner last night.
Boy, was it good!

It felt nice to come back to the outfit. I feel more like at home.
Our tent - fixed up nice. There's of 3 other with me. I know them all.

We have individual lights for reading a gas and oil burning stove, regular floors in the tent and we even fixed up a wooden door. Not bad for a tent, eh?

Well, more tomorrow -
