Dear Mom and Pop,

Well, I'm right back at work again. I got up early this morning to pick up the newspaper but it was cold so I couldn't start the jeep. I finally took the ton and a half truck to town. It's the same kind we trained with at basic.

The weather is getting cold and it rains a lot now. I don't care, I'm in the office most of the time.

You know, I sent you a post card from Switzerland. I hope you got it. It's a picture of the hotel I stayed in. Well, in the same hotel, a friend & I were sitting in the lobby and guess who we saw. The exiled queen of Spain. The future king, the future Queen and a lady in waiting were with her. We asked the bell boy who they were because they were talking Spanish. Well, we found out in a hurry.

In case you want to know, this isn't my stationery
so don't worry about me not having enough paper.
I have plenty yet.

I really had a nice time up Switzerland. I went horse back riding, and skating - I wasn't too good with ice skating so a couple of girls helped me along.

When we went riding, all the people wanted to know what and how Americans do and ride horses.
We explained to them we mount from the left instead of right, how we sit and hold the reins, and the kinds of saddles we use. We had a nice time.

Well, this is about all for today so more tomorrow
