Dear Mom and Pop,

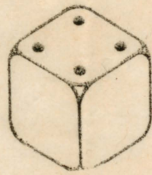

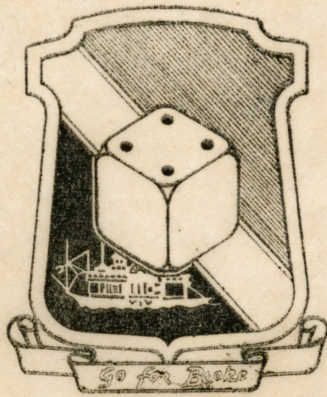

I went riding on a half track today. We started at 11:00 in the morning and got back 5:00 pm.

The half track is like a truck but has tracks on the back in place of wheels. The front has wheels. That's why they call it half track. Boy, I'm tired! We went all the way up to Mossa.

The day was loafed away today, but I'll have to work hard tomorrow.

I haven't any more to write about today cause all I did was ride around.

The Italians probably thought another war was starting because they saw us. We had nine trucks in all. We all had short wave radios in them. We divided into groups of three and went on different routes. We got lost once but we found the way back.

 We ate Krations at noon and again around 3.00. Riding around saw where a guy hung up.

well, this is about all for today so we tomorrow
