Dear Howard Pop,

I received two packages the day before yesterday. It had two cartons of cigarettes, underwear, handkerchiefs, canned fruit, a tin of candy (very good) and more magazines. Thanks very much.

We went to a opera last night. It was very good. Of course, it's in Italian so we didn't understand too much but we knew the story so we didn't have trouble following it.

You know, last week I went to the salvage yard (that's where they throw every thing away) and I picked up a hospital bed.

The hospital threw it away because the leg was a little bent. I had one of the mechanics fix it up for me.

It's in my room now. I can just crank up the head when I want to read. Pretty good.

Your letters are coming in regularly.

Well, this is a fant. all for today so more
