Dear Mrs. Ishida -

I was glad to have your letter of the 15th and hope that your husband will find it feasible to locate in San Francisco, though the city seems to be as crowded as ever - judging from the general appearance of everything.

On his visit here this Spring he would be welcome to the use of my dining room - if he could stand sleeping on a chesterfield. I have extra sheets and blankets. The kitchen, dining room and my bedroom are the only ones with any furniture in them.

I can't give you much useful information in regard to business conditions or housing - but I would be glad to take

~~Take~~ a day or two off from work and drive your husband around town in my car if he thinks it would be of any help in looking things over.

Also I might be able to be of some financial assistance - should that be necessary - in connection with a possible business venture. Of course everything at present is enjoying a prosperous high level, but, as you know, you can never tell what is available until you investigate personally.

Tell your husband that if he lets me know on what train he will arrive I can meet him with the car - and that I will be glad to see him again -

Sincerely,

Howard Schuyler

P.S. When you write to your son please give him my best wishes. I have forgotten his first name ~~to~~ ^{and} I would like to write him a note. H.
