

KAISER GIVES POSTWAR PLANS

CLEVELAND, May 12.—(AP)—Henry J. Kaiser, West Coast shipbuilder and steel magnate, told the United Steelworkers of America, a Congress of Industrial Organizations affiliate, today that transportation, highways, hospitals and housing are "the four main pillars" of our national planning.

Termin his appearance as an employer of "unusual significance at a labor convention," Kaiser said proper development in the four phases of industrial life could create "a new industrialism, just as there can be a new democracy."

Kaiser proposed "highways of the air" for operation of private planes, establishment of 3,000 to 5,000 new air terminals and expansion of the aviation program to provide peacetime employment for the 4,500,000 workers now in wartime aviation production.

Advance Orders Urged

Advance orders for 500,000 automobiles also was recommended by the mass production expert, who asserted: "It is my earnest hope the automobile companies will not fail to reckon with a market for a light, low-cost utility vehicle."

Kaiser also advocated a network of high-speed super-highways "to break the traffic bottlenecks in every city in America," and development of hospitals to the point that "every worker in America should be able to buy the best in medical service." He attacked socialization of medicine, declaring "free men don't want socialized medicine."

A new home is the first choice among the postwar hopes of most returning service men, Kaiser said, and added:

"We now know that complete kitchen, bath, sleeping porch and garage can be sold over the counter. The employment possibilities here can only be described as staggering."

Kaiser's address was the highlight of the convention today. Delegates yesterday heard their counsel describe a "carry-back" provision of the 1942 Income Tax Law under which corporations in any two years after the war could claim a rebate.

$114,100,000 Is County Goal In Coming War Loan Drive

C. STUART POLSON, MAYOR R. W. SPRAGUE, RENO ODLIN
They mapped plans for an ambitious Fifth War Loan campaign

King County's goal in the Fifth War Loan Campaign is $114,100,000, it was announced today at the meeting of Western Washington War Finance Committees in the Washington Athletic Club.

Of this total, individuals are expected to purchase $40,000,000 worth of bonds, according to Lawrence M. Arnold, King County Fifth War Loan chairman. The balance, he said, is to be made up by the corporate interests. The campaign will run from June 12 to July 8.

Reno Odlin, Tacoma banker and state war loan chairman, said the state-wide quota for individual purchases is $105,000,000, and that of the corporate interests is $123,000,000. The entire state quota is $228,000,000.

King County's total quota in the Fourth War Loan drive was $92,800,000. Of this, $50,100,000 was assigned to corporations and $42,700,000 to individuals. The state-wide Fourth War Loan quota was $183,000,000. The individual portion of this was $96,000,000, while that of the corporations was $87,000,000.

Approximately 200 men and women attended the meeting, including the mayors of several cities and other public officials, political and civic leaders, industrialists, business men, educators and theatre representatives.

"The state-wide objective is to sell $228,000,000 worth of war bonds," declared Odlin. This campaign is going to sweep the river. It will be based on personal contact. Solicitors will go to the people individually; to members of every salary and wage bracket, from the highest to the lowest."

STATE TO TAKE JAPANESE LAND

OLYMPIA, May 12.—(AP)—A state-wide program to transfer to the state the titles of real estate now owned by Japanese aliens was underway in Washington today with filing of suits in King, Spokane and Kitsap Counties.

Similar suits will be instituted in several other counties, including Yakima, Franklin and Benton. Acting Attorney-General Fred Lewis said.

The program is being undertaken by the attorney-general's office with the cooperation of county prosecutors, under a state law prohibiting Japanese aliens from owning real estate.

Farms operated in the state by Japanese, according to the 1940 census, had a total value of $5,413,362. Total value of property covered in yesterday's 14 actions is approximately $300,000, Lewis said, although property valued at more than $1,000,000 will be involved when all suits have been filed.

"These aliens have no right to any interest in real property in Washington, and are prohibited from leasing property, as well as purchasing it," Lewis said.

"All proceeds from these escheated lands will go into the common school fund of the state, to assist in the education of the children of American citizens," he added.

Mrs. Grace Frost and A. E. Tolleson, State Humane Society members; Mrs. W. E. Smart of the Tail Waggers' Club, and Mrs. Gertrude Peck, Anti-Vivisectionists' Society, were named on the committee.

In the final version, the continuance provides that the President in making settlements may not obligate the country to any postwar military or economic role without the specific consent of Congress.
