CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP)—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America was on record today as opposing Presbyterian membership in the Federal Council of Churches unless the council bars denominations which do not affirm the deity of Christ.

Church officials said the action was taken because sects which did not recognize the deity of Christ had sought membership in the council.

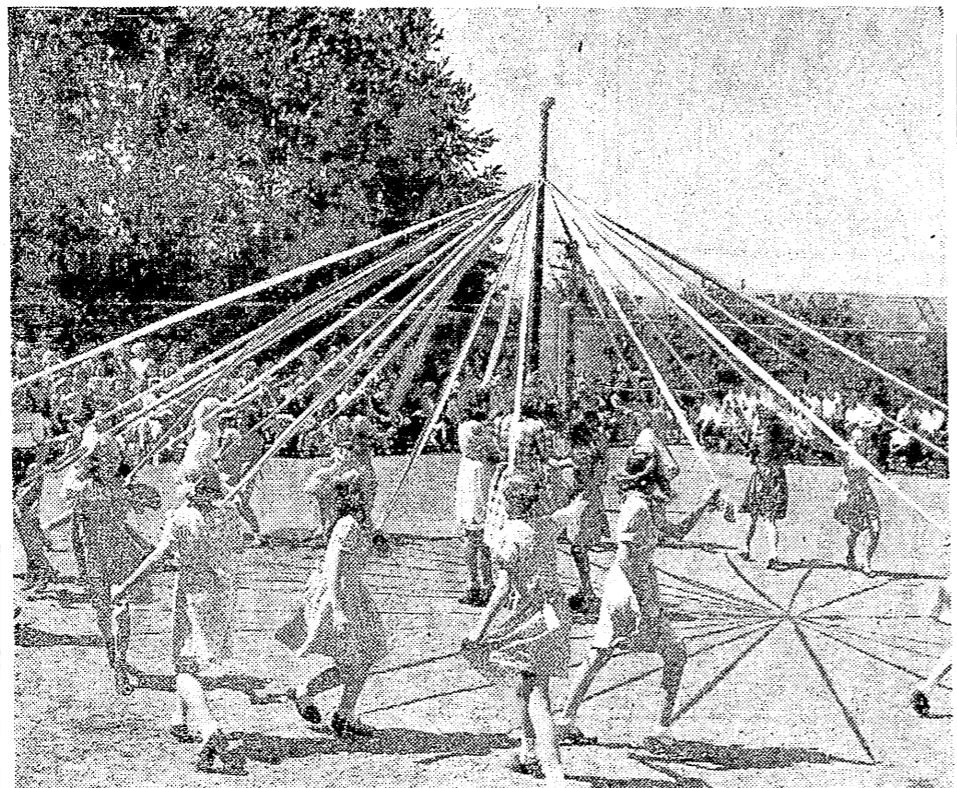

The assembly also voted yesterday to petition Congress to supply "normal support for conscientious objectors in work camps."

Addressing the General Assembly yesterday, the Rev. Arthur H. Limouze of New York asserted that a use of the radio has developed "in the name of religion to exploit a portion of the public in what is described as a racket of astounding proportions."

"Across the country, the air is filled with so-called religious programs that frequently are offensive, unworthy and even harmful," he said.

Dr. Limouze asserted that "those close to the radio industry" say "$200,000,000 a year is taken in through mail collections, the sale of gospel texts and other devices of those who ask for contributions for which no accounting is made."

All curbs were removed from the production of tire-changing tools, anti-freeze testers, battery fillers and hydrometers. On 17 items, permitted production was increased from 20 to 100 per cent of the 1941 production figure.

H. S. AVIATION COURSES URGED

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 27.—Proposals that aviation be included in the curriculum of 12th grade students and that science in junior and senior high schools be made more "practical," were advanced here recently by Dr. Ira C. Davis of the University of Wisconsin after a four-day survey of science courses in local schools.

Partly blaming the high rate of automobile deaths and accidents on the schools for "failing to prepare young people for the automobile age," Davis said "unless we (in high schools) prepare our students for the aviation age, we will have all types of schools teaching them to fly."

Criticizing the "theoretical method of teaching science," Davis urged high schools to make their science courses more practical so that the student can get a practical knowledge of the scientific things about him and to adapt himself to a rapidly changing world.

"A good thorough course in practical science is as good as, and often better than a formal college preparatory course," Davis said, adding that "science should not be taught just with the idea of meeting college-entrance requirements."

Historic Ravello Untouched by War

RAVELLO, Italy, May 27.—This historic town, ancient watering spot for Roman senators, priests and artists, has been untouched by war, although by a dozen miles from the blood-stained beaches of Salerno.

Ravello attracted many famous people. The Normans built several watchtowers and St. Francis of Assisi meditated here. In one of the grottoes Wagner wrote part of the opera, "Parsifal."

Greta Garbo visited here six years ago with Leopold Stokowski. She explained then that with war imminent she wanted to see Ravello before it might be destroyed.

Body Found In Lake as Police Seek Woman

DURHAM, N. C., May 27.—(AP)—Police Chief H. E. King announced today a woman's body had been found weighted down in Eastwood Lake, where a search was being made for Mrs. Edward M. Jewett, wealthy Boonville, Mo., woman, reported missing since May 10.

King said the body was found by a diver who reported it was held down by heavy blocks. It was left under the water pending the arrival of the coroner.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Jewett's 24-year-old grandson, Edward Jewett Martin, remained in the Durham jail. A grand jury indicted him on a murder charge Thursday in connection with the disappearance of his 67-year-old grandmother.

Corporal Gardens On Pacific Atoll

SEVENTH AIR FORCE BASE, Marshall Islands, May 27.—When Cyril E. Treichler, Grand Junction, Colo., a corporal in the Seventh Air Force supply organization, spoke of raising a victory garden on this tiny atoll, virtually everyone told him it couldn't be done—the soil was just barely enough for palm trees and insects.

Treichler went ahead, undaunted. He harvested corn, peas, beans, radishes, lettuce and onions. He even succeeded in raising grass, a rarity here.

"I figured both the seeds and I were American," he explained. "And if I could take it, so could they."

Grange Head Assails Hint Of Jap Return

PORTLAND, Or., May 27.—(AP)—Dillon S. Myer's statement that Japanese should be returned to the Pacific Coast as soon as the military situation warrants has aroused the ire of Morton Tompkins, master of the Oregon State Grange.

"Oregon, California and Washington still are part of the Union," declared Tompkins, "and before any action of this nature is taken, we want to have something to say about it."

White Coast residents have maintained silence to avoid jeopardizing welfare of American war prisoners in Japanese hands, Tompkins said, "sob sisters from other parts of the nation have been laying the groundwork for returning evacuees to this area."

Hero's Shipmates Give Widow $1,045

BOSTON, May 27.—Shipmates of John McHugh, 21 years old, believed the first American sailor killed on Japanese soil, have sent his Dorchester widow and infant daughter a purse of $1,045.

Hot Springs Heat Homes In Iceland

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Iceland has the most automatic hot-water heating system in the world. Nearly 3,000 homes in Reykjavik, capital of the northern country, are heated with water piped from volcanic springs at an average temperature of 170 degrees.

There are numerous hot springs in Iceland's 40,000 square miles. Not far from Reykjavik there are more than 100 in a small area. The water from these springs runs by gravity into a common reservoir. Then it is pumped to a hot-water reservoir standing on a hill just outside town.

Postwar plans in Reykjavik call for connecting every house to the springs, thus effecting tremendous savings in fuel and providing the advantages of the even, easily controlled temperature.

Soldier Dead to Be Honored At City Churches' Services

Reverent Memorial Day tributes to those who have died in the nation's uniform, and whose sacrifice has enabled America to retain its democratic strength as a land of religious freedom, will provide a traditional, annual theme tomorrow for pastoral leaders of many Seattle churches.

Blue and khaki uniforms will be sprinkled liberally among tomorrow's worshippers and service flags, with gold stars, will occupy prominent places by many pupils.

At many churches, too, the approach of Memorial Day offers suitable opportunity for congregations to remember, in varied tributes, the death during the past year of fellow church members other than service men.

NOTED PASTOR TO PREACH HERE

Dr. Harry A. Ironside, pastor of the Moody Memorial Church of Chicago and noted Bible teacher, author, and lecturer, will hold services at the Moore Theatre tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock and on Monday Tuesday and Wednesday, also in the Moore.

Dr. Ironside heads the largest fundamentalist church in America, founded by Dr. D. L. Moody. He was never formally ordained and had no classroom education beyond grammar school. He started his career with the Salvation Army and at the age of 18 years was a captain. After resigning a few years later he began fellowship with a group known as the Plymouth Brethren. He has preached in all parts of the United States in churches, street corners, missions and in desert towns.

In 1926 the Plymouth Church building in Chicago was built at the cost of one million dollars, seating 4,500. In 1930 Dr. Ironside was chosen pastor of this church, which includes among its former pastors such men as D. L. Moody, A. C. Dixon, R. A. Torrey, J. M. Gray and Paul Rader.

Dr. Ironside's pastorate is the longest of any of the Moody Memorial Church preachers. The church supports more than 80 missionaries and has three assistant pastors who direct the related activities of this fundamentalist organization. He is on the board of advisers and boards of many of the missionary and philanthropic associations known to the fundations, and in addition serves on the governing boards of organizations such as Wheaton College, Bob Jones College and the African Inland Mission.

Tomorrow evening he will speak at the Emmanuel Tabernacle, North 50th Street and Dayton Avenue at 7:45 p. m. On Tuesday, the Girls Club and musicians of the First Presbyterian Church of Bremerton will give a concert and special music just prior to the service. This is the first visit by Dr. Ironside to Seattle in 20 years.

Red vestments and altar furnishings will mark tomorrow for worshippers in Episcopal and Roman Catholic parish churches as the beginning of Whitsuntide, or Pentecost, annual observance commemorating the descent of the Holy Spirit and fulfillment of Christ's pre-ascension pledges:

"I go to prepare a place for you... And I will pray the Father and He shall give you another comforter, that He may abide with you forever."

A class of 250 adults will receive the Sacrament of Confirmation at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at St. James' Cathedral, with the Most Rev. Gerald Shaughnessy, S. M., Bishop of Seattle, officiating.

Seattle Minister To Make Address

The Rev. W. Raymond Wilder, minister of the Capitol Hill Methodist Church, 16th Avenue North and East John Street, will deliver the commencement address at Cascade College, in Portland, on Tuesday. His address to the institution's graduates will be entitled "The Might of Manly Dreams."

Memorial Day will have deep meaning for members of Grace Methodist Church, where the pulpit was long occupied by the late Lieut. Col. E. Raymond Attebery, who died recently in the South Pacific. Rev. Arthur S. Morton will speak tomorrow morning on "In Memory of the Dead," and use Chaplain Attebery's life work as illustrative of the meaning of Memorial Day.

Plans for special memorial services for Chaplain Attebery are now being prepared, and will be announced later.

Families of men and women in the armed services will be honored guests tomorrow at the University Christian Church, where the Rev. Perry Epler Gresham will speak on "Let Us Forget." On that church's service rolls are 240 names, 10 of whom are women. Gold stars are on its flag for the following: Elizabeth Ericson, Gordon Hudson, Dean Mangold, David Myler and Melvin Myler.
