TWO HUNGER SEVEN DAYS AND ONE DIES

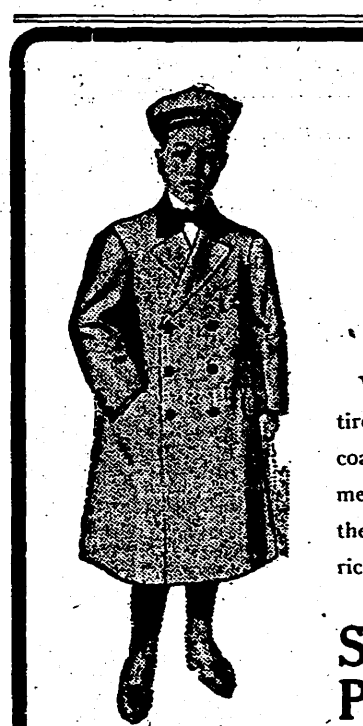

Adolph Ferber Crawls on Hands and Knees to Get Assistance for Olaf Johnson.

ABERDEEN, Friday, Jan. 10.—After seven days of suffering and weakened by hunger and the care of his companion, Adolph Ferber, a German, 25 years old, crawled on his hands and knees to the Rayburn schoolhouse on the upper Wynoochee. Ferber was in a very bad way when found, said that he and a companion, Olaf Johnson, left Shelton some time ago on a prospecting trip to the headwaters of the Wynoochee. About eight days ago they met a man who told them that they were about eight miles from a settlement known as Otter, which they wished to reach. Caching most of the supplies and taking only their guns they started for Otter, but heavy rains and storms came up and they got lost in the woods. They existed for some time on three pheasants and a woodpecker which they killed, but Johnson grew weaker and Ferber was compelled to carry him. Finally he lost his strength and leaving Johnson as comfortable as possible started to seek help.

A rescue party was sent out and after a short time they found the body of Johnson with life extinct. He had apparently wandered away from the place where Ferber left him and fallen over a cliff into a puddle of water. Ferber, although very weak, will recover.

AMERICA'S TROUBLES CALLED GROWING PAINS

British Business Man Gives a View of Financial Disturbance as It Appears at Long Distance.

Alexander Myers, secretary of the Northwest Trust & Safe Deposit Company, has received a letter which illustrates that, after all, this is a small world. Last summer Mr. Myers' first time in nineteen years. One of Mr. Myers' fellow passengers was Angus Macdonald, of Angus Watson & Co., of Newcastle-on-Tyne, a firm that has branches all over the world, and the two found many points of similarity.

Five days ago Mr. Myers received a letter from Mr. Watson, in which he said a man with whom he had worked fifteen years before had dropped in to see him, and mentioned the fact that he had about decided to leave the United States and that Seattle was his choice of residence. Incidentally, he mentioned the fact that he had a friend in Seattle named Myers, and comparison of notes showed that the Mr. Myers was the treasurer of the Northwest Trust & Safe Deposit Company.

Mr. Watson gives a British view of the present situation in the country, which he describes as the big financial "splash." He says:

"I suppose that America is really suffering from overprosperity. She is an amazing country in many ways, still just in her infancy, but like the growing lad who suffers from growing pains because he is increasing in size too quickly, so America is experiencing the financial growing pains of overprosperity. She will right herself in time and the future is all with her. In England, I think, there can be no doubt that trade has reached its highest point and that we will see a decline in returns during the next two or three years."

Placer Claims Filed.

Two more placer claims have been located in West Seattle and the papers filed in the office of County Auditor James P. Agnew.

The first claim is located near the intersection of a strip of land near Arkansas Street on the Haller estate, to be known as Shamrock claim, and H. C. Maynard has located a new estate, beginning 100 feet southeast of the present end of Luna Park car line, to be known as the Deuce claim.

SMALL TALK UNDER BAN NOW

Mayor Moore Continues His Crusade Against Socialists Until They Are Forbidden Even the Smallest Rights.

Dr. E. J. Brown, Thrown Into Jail Because He Wanted to Confer With Man Who Was Carrying a Banner.

Dr. E. J. Brown, dentist, lawyer, owner of the Seattle Blue Book, attorney for the Socialists and a Socialist orator, was arrested last night by Sergeant of Police Swan Haden because Brown stopped on Pike Street between Second and First Avenues for a short time to talk with E. T. Allison, who was carrying a Socialist banner. Brown attempted to make no speech and, according to his own statement, did not interfere in the least with any traffic any more than any other man would interfere when he stopped a friend on the street to talk with him.

However, Brown was charged with obstructing the street and with three other Socialists was taken to the city jail, refused bail and was locked up for the night.

Brown is misunderstood.

The Socialists had planned meetings at four places last night. They were Pioneer Place, Second, Fifth and Pike and Second and University. Only one meeting was permitted. That was at Second and University, known as "the mayor's reservation." There Dr. E. J. Brown spoke and was not interfered with.

Dr. Brown had been assigned to Fifth and Pike. Before time for the meeting Brown walked toward Pike Place to see the executive committee of the Socialists. When he reached a point on Pike Street, between Second and First he saw E. T. Allison and G. W. Kelly, Socialists who had banners, talking with Sergeant Haden and other police men. Brown advanced toward them.

"I want to speak to Allison," said Brown. "He is carrying a banner." The police were trying to prevent Kelly and Allison from proceeding to Pike Place. Brown saw that the police were going to take Kelly and Allison to the city jail. Brown advanced toward them.

"I'm breaking no law and harming no one," said Brown.

Old Tactics Used.

Brown advanced toward Allison and asked Allison to go with him. Thereupon Allison said, "Haden seized him and took him to the city jail." Over policemen arrested Allison and Kelly, and the trio was sent to the city jail.

Thomas Sladden was arrested the twenty-fourth time last night. He tried to speak at Pioneer Place, but was promptly arrested when he began to talk. All four were charged with obstructing the streets. This morning they were permitted by the police court to go pending the setting of their cases.

Regarding banners seized at a former arrest, Judge John B. Gordon held yesterday that the police were actually seizing banners in the strict meaning of the ordinance, and the banners were ordered returned to the men who carried them. These banners were used last night.

BRINGHEAST MAKES REPORT.

Fire Department Has Splendid Record for the Year Just Ended.

In the annual report of Chief H. W. Bringheast, just filed, it is shown that the Seattle City Fire Department responded to 443 fires during 1907. There were 172 men in the department, or thirteen more than in the preceding year. The equipment was added to by ten horses, four steam fire engines, three hook and ladder trucks, two chemical hose wagons, five plain hose wagons, one automobile and 12,550 feet of hose.

The salary list amounted to $193,950, an increase of $32,976 from the preceding year.

The value of property directly involved in fires in 1907 was $2,371,125; in 1906, $1,490,000. The total amount of insurance on the property involved in 1907, $1,352,225; in 1906, $350,150.

The loss in 1907 was $334,417; for 1906, $324,313. Of the 1907 losses, $75,175 was incurred in fires at Young's warehouse, which was not a part of Seattle in 1906.

DEAF MUTE KID UP.

Robbers Steal Savings of Boy En Route Here From Tacoma.

His right arm hanging helpless at his side and his face and body badly bruised, John W. Wither, a deaf mute, 13 years old, was brought to the police station last night suffering from injuries inflicted by a pair of highway robbers about four miles east of Tacoma, while making his way afoot to Seattle.

Losing his position in Tacoma, he had left to seek employment in this city, and had $15.50 in his possession when the robbers held him up. He made a fight to save his little hoard and that accounts for his injuries. He was removed to the Wayside Hospital.

MEMORIAL SERVICES TONIGHT.

Many Will Pay Tribute to Memory of Mrs. Bailey Gatzert.

Special memorial services upon the death of the late Mrs. Bailey Gatzert will be held at Temple de Hirsch at 5 o'clock tonight. The public is invited. The service will be conducted by Rabbi Koch, assisted by several prominent citizens. Among the latter are Federal Judge H. H. Hanks, Mayor E. Metcalfe, Harold Prestoff Jacob Furch, James B. Gildsmith and E. Morganstern.

Thousands have benefited through the philanthropy of the deceased, and the indications are that the temple will be crowded with mourning friends.

Firemen Suffer From Smoke.

Several firemen are still feeling the effects of the Norris Safe & Lock Co. fire of Tuesday. The fire was burning in the work in a smoke-laden basement. Samuel Blackford, a pipeman of No. 2 engine, was in the basement at his home, 1608 First Avenue North. Second Assistant Chief George Marlow is held at home with inflamed eyes, and Capt. William Hodder, of Engine Company No. 1, has a sore throat.

Suburban Cottage Burned.

When William Hadding and his family returned to their home on Wallingford Avenue near Eighty-third Street, last Tuesday night after spending the evening in the city, they found it in ashes. When they left a fire was burning in an airtight stove. It is supposed the stove exploded. The house was worth $1,200, and Hadding carried $500 insurance.

Seek Dead Man's Relatives.

The authorities at the King County Hospital are trying to find the friends of Peter Behrman, aged 73, who died there Wednesday. The body was removed to the institution from a shack on the water front on January 2, against his vehement protest. He had some friends in the city, it is also said to have a wife in Michigan.

Want Free Delivery.

The South Park Improvement Club has begun the circulation of a petition asking for free mail delivery in the suburb. It is also trying to procure more street lights. It will hold a special meeting tomorrow to take up several important matters.

Hayashi Due Monday.

H. Hayashi, arrested in Sacramento for the murder of Chibiki Yokoo, or Harashimi, will be brought to this city on the steamship Yamato arriving here about next Monday. City Detective Charles Phillips and James Brynes have Hayashi in custody.

RULES PREVENT GOOD MAN FROM WORKING

Pierce O'Conner, for Years a Guardian of the Peace, Refused Place Because He Is Too Small.

The iron-clad rules of the Seattle Civil Service Commission prevent the acceptance of a man for policeman unless he is at least five feet and ten inches tall. Pending the obtaining of a list of eligibles Chief of Police C. W. Wapenslein put Pierce O'Conner to work as a patrolman. O'Conner took the examination and made a good grade, but he was refused admission to the department because he lacked two inches of being tall enough.

While working temporarily O'Conner made an efficient officer. For years he has been connected with peace work. He has been associated with some of the biggest penitentiaries in the country.

At the annual inspection of the steamboat J. T. It was reported that the Hays had been condemned, but Capt. Bion B. Whitney, of the marine inspectors, said this morning that as soon as the rotten wood in the hull of the boat above the water-line is replaced she may go back into service.

Our Semi-Annual Clearance

Sale Values Are the Best Ever Offered to Seattle People

When the merchandise included in our Semi-Annual Clearance Sale—and that means nearly every article in the house—was marked to a fraction of its regular selling price, we had two objects in view, and prices were marked to such a low figure that we can hardly fail to accomplish these desired ends.

Our first object was to reduce the stock of nearly every line of merchandise we display on our floors. Late arrivals of goods this season have crowded our floors until it is necessary to dispose of some of the present stock before all of the goods now in our warehouse can be placed on sample, not to mention those on order and yet to come.

We believe that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement a store can have—this is the other reason. We can afford to let these goods go at the low prices at which they are marked for this Clearance Sale, because we are sure they will make friends for the store.

So this is your opportunity to take advantage of the best values ever offered in this city, and save from 25 to 60 per cent on whatever you need or will be in need of for the home. Come in whenever you are down town—if you don't see what you want one day it may be on the floor the next.
