HUMPHRIES WOULD NOT

If John E. Humphries becomes mayor of Seattle he will arm himself with an axe, place the official head of City Engineer R. H. Thomson on the block and with one blow sever the head from the body of that personage. Such is the import of the following letter from the mayoralty candidate to Judge A. H Foote:

Delegation of Socialists Requests Corporation Counsel

Calhoun to Change Decision

Relative to G. A. R. Steiner.

A delegation from the Socialist party, headed by Dr. Hermon P. Titus and E. T. Aliison, called upon Corporation Counsel Scott Calhoun this morning with a request that he reconsider his opinion relative to the candidacy of G. A. R. Steiner, who has, without joining the Socialist party, declared himself as the party nominee for councilman in the Thirteenth Ward.

The Socialists assert that, under the provisions of the direct primary law, a person when filing a candidacy for office must declare his intention to affiliate with the party the name of which he uses in his filing. It is contended, however, that the Socialists are unlike either political parties, inasmuch as their membership list is restricted to those who are, through their beliefs, acceptable. Therefore, they claim that Steiner has no right to use the party name without first netually joining the party. The delegation informed the corporation counsel that if Steiner is allowed to remain on the party ticket it will mean the starting of a precedent that will disconganize the party to take the matter under advisement for a few days. The Socialists will, it is believed, have to carry their light into the courts

BURGLAR GETS $200

IN HOUSE SILVERWARE Thief Pries Open Pront Door of Charles T. Jenkins' Residence on Queen

Anne Bill.

A burglar Saturday night pried open the front door of the residence of Charles T. Jonkins, 1902 First Avenue North, completely ransacked the house and stole $200 worth of knives, forks, spoons and other silverware. A gold watch and seme money were overlooked. The thief searched all the drawers in the house and poured their contents on the floors. It was a complete job. The burglar apparently hurt his hand in breaking open the door, for there was blood on the jamb. Detectives investigated the case.

Heinze Demurs to Indictment.

NE WYCRK, Monday, Jan. 27—
Counsel for F. Augustus Henze today withdrew temporarily the plea of not guilty entered by Heinze to the charge of overcertifying checks to the amount of $136,000 on the Mercantile National Bank of this city of which he formerly was president. The case came up in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court, his counse filed a demurrer to the indictment and Fedmary 11 was fixed as the date for an argument on the demurrer. Bait was continued but Judge Charlield refused to excuse Heinze from attending court on the day of the argument.

W. A. Bailey Withdraws From Ninth Ward Councilmanic Fight—No Organized Effort to Elect New Committeemen.

EMOCRATIC leaders are afraid that H. H. Kulies will call upon EMOCRATIC, leaders are afraid that H. Kulies will call upon the Aloore Democrats to support him in his fight against Gen. J. B. Metcalfe for the Democratic mayoralty nomination. It is an open secret that Kulies went into the Democratic fight in the hope that he could help Moore in some manner and to make as much trouble as possible for the organization that insisted upon putting a straight Democratic ticket into the field.

Without the aid of the Democrats who followed Moore, the leaders of the regular party organization believe. Kulies will not be a dangerous factor. He has a good following, which has stayed by him in all his past political fights, but Kulies in the past has never been able to muster strength enough, to indicate that he would be seriously considered in a direct primary contest for mayor.

If Moore will send his Democratic friends into me Democratic friends into me Democratic friends into the Democratic vote, the cigarmaker can cause considerable uneasiness. Kulies bas announced that he intends to begin an organized canvass of the city this week and will make an agressive fight. Metcalfe leaders see in this announcement an indication that Kulies has received encouragement from some point.

Systematic Canvass.

With a normal Democratic vote cast.

c. Systematic Canvass. With a normal Democratic vote cast. Metcaffe leaders believe there will be no difficulty in insuring Metcaffe's nomination by a big majority. To be certain of getting out the full Democratic vote, the Metcaffe's organization today planned a systematic canvass of each ward and will hold a series of meetings to stir up enthusiasm in the fight. George Ryan, secretary of the King County Democratic Club and of the King County committee, was placed in charge of headquarters today as secretary.

A novel election bet was reported today by Levy workers. They say that Metcalfe will get his strength. Of all

LONG QUESTION PUT TO MEDICAL EXPERTS

Attorney for Accused Millionaire Reviews All Evidence in Trial in an Interrogatory of 15,000 Words.

NEW YORK, Monday, Jan. 27.—The defense in the Thaw case comdefense in the Thaw case completed today the introduction of all its testimony. Shortly before the noon recess M. W. Littleton, chief counsel for the defendant, began to read a long and carefully prepared hypothetical sel for the defendant, began to read a long and carefully prepared hypothetical question to the three alienists engaged to testify it. Harry K. Thaw's behalf. The question covered all the testimony in the case and before it was rend it had been submitted to District Attorney William T. Jerome for any objection the prosecution had to offer. Only slight changes resulted.

As the testimony in the present hearing has differed largely from that of the first trial, so the hypothetical question differed from the one propounded last year by Delphin M. Delmas. The evidence as to irrational acts or manner, from infancy to the time of the homicide, was given precedence over every other phase of the testimony.

Dr. Charles Francis Bingaman, the Thaw family physician of Pittsburg, was put on the witness stand when court opened today for the beginning of the fourth week of the second trial of Thaw. Dr. Bingaman told of the early symptoms of nervousness in Harry Thay, saying he was first called to attend the boy when he was 3 years old. At that time his nervousness often bordered on convulsions. The attacks usually followed various children's diseases. Thaw slept badly as a child, requiring a relay of nurses most of the time.

Rervousness and Melancholy. ized to manage the campaign and if it sees it so to do. to draft a party platform.

King County political parties have atways organized by wards and ward committeemen have named precinct captains. The system of electing precinct committeemen was written into the primary law by Ralph Metealf, who followed the Pierce County system, though one with which he was familiar. As a result, in Seattle alone there will be 110 committeemen and in a county campaign there will be about 200 precinct committeemen who will have to light out questions of party management.

Lewis Levy will contribute toward the galety of the campaign tonight by a speech in Eagles Hall, Seventh Avenue and Pine Street, wherein he will telly a crowd what he thinks of the Civic Union. The Civic Union failed to find anything in Levy's candidacy to commeno.

siept badly as a child, requiring a relay of nurses most of the time.

Mervousness and Melancholy.

Dr. Bingaman said that in the fall of 1903 he was called to attend Harry Thav in Pittsburg and treated him for nervousness and melancholy.

This was after Thaw's first trip abroad with Evelyn Nesbit. The witness saw Thaw several times in the Tombs, after his arrest and the defendant always referred to the Madison Square Gardon aftair as "the act of Providence."

Thaw's acts and appearance in the prison impressed the witness as irrational.

It was of Dr. Bingaman that District Attorney Jerome said at the last trial, when. Thaw's mental condition was under investigation:

"I had rather had the testimony of an old practitioner like this than all the experts you could put upon the stand."

The prosecutor's cross-examination today was very brief and courteous.

Following Dr. Bingaman came the first of the foreign witnesses, Dr. Sydney Russell Wells, of London, who was called to attend Thaw in the English capital in the early part of 1899.

"Thaw was in a very netyous condition." Said Dr. Wells. "His pulse was extremely rapid and he complained of pains in the head. I diagnosed his case as one of mental disturbance."

Temperature Was Low.

On one of his visits to the defendant port of the following letter from the mayoralty candidate to Judge A. H Foote:

"Dear Sir—I believe that in politics, as well as in business, a man should not attempt to deceive the public. I think I will stand or fall before the people in proclaiming the truth. The fact is, I do not think it would be to the best interests of my administration, if elected mayor, to retain or appoint R. H. Thomson city engineer. Mr. Thomson in the past has been the means of creating a great deal of dissord in different administrations. The people are burdened with tuxation, now paying 35 mills, as against the city of Portland, paying 14.2 mills. Contract after contract has been let and sublet at enormous profits. As I am informed and believe, the people have been, and are required to pay two or three times the amount they should pay for the work. They are tax-ridden and assessment-burdened, and unless something is done in the near future it will amount to confiscation of the property of the small owner. Now is the time to open the books, clean out the ring and investigate all of the offices, including the office of city engineer.

"I do not think it would be right to depend mcrely upon a verbal promise or verbal statement: consequently I give it to you in writing. You may use it wherever you think it will do the most good. Respectfully yours, of pains in the liead. I diagnosed his case as one of mental disturbance."
"JOHN E. HUMPHRIES."

Temperature Was Low.

On one of his visits to the defendant, witness said, he found his patient in a highly excitable state, despite the fact that his temperature was only 99 degrees. He feared that he might harm himself. Thaw did not respond to treatment, even oblates failing, and Dr. Wells said he decided to send the young man to the Devonshire Nursing Association's Hospital.

On a visit he found Thaw dancing about the room like a mad man. He reported his case at the hospital as autemania.

"Thaw at the hospital had a very large room," continued Dr. Wells, "but he complained that he did not have room to breath. He also complained of the terrific heat and demanded that 20,000 tons of ice be placed in the room. He did not like the nurse assigned to him and wanted me to employ a whole vitalf of nurses so he might find one he liked. When he was in bed the patient's eyes glared into vacancy. The acute at the hospital and time the list also was largely incoherent. There was no evidence of alcoholism.

"During your entire attendance on Thaw in 1899, doctor, what conclusion did you report?" asked Littleton.

If diagnosed his case as acute recurrent insanity.

"I diagnosed his case as a ment insanity."

Dr. Wells said he saw Thaw in 1901, 1902 and in 1903 or 1904. He treated him at these times, but there were no acute symptoms as in 1899. Thaw's Memory Good.

him at these times, but there were no acute symptoms as in 1899.

Thaw's Memory Good.

On cross-examination by District Attorney Jerome, Dr. Wells said that at the time he treated Thaw in 1899 he had made no particular study of mense and the time he treated Thaw in 1899 he had not made and the time he treated Thaw in 1899 he had not also account to the witness said The man and the things time happeneted thin and the things time happeneted thin and the things time happeneted things his outbreak, and was anxious to applogize, especially to a nurse whom he felt he had offended.

Miss Lillian T. McBride, of London, a professional nurse, as she described herself, followed Dr. Wells, She was called in to attend Thaw as nurse his rooms in London in July 1899. Thaw was very restless and his talk was incoherent, the expression of his face was wild and although he had no temperature he continually complained of the frightful heat.

There was no evidence of alcoholism. There was no evidence of alcoholism. The hird of the foreign witnesses to be called was Dr. Frederick J. Burton-Browne, of London, formerly of the India service, and for a time a practicing physician in Rome. Dr. Burton-Browne constantly referred to himself as a "medical man" rather than a doctor. It was in March, 1902, that the witness attended Thaw in Rome. He diagnosed the case as one of simple or mild mania.

There was no trace of alcoholism. District Autorney Jerome on cross examination asked:

"How long did Thaw's mania iast?"

"About thirty-six hours."

That's all."

Next came Dr. Maurice Gauja, of Paris, who gave his testimony through the official court interpreter. His attended thaw in Paris in the spring of the six all the said he had not diagnessed it as laidanum poisonness. It is nought to a completed.

FRENCHMAN TO DISCUSS

FRENCHMAN TO DISCUSS WAR AGAINST JAPAN

PARIS, Monday, Jan. 27.—Andre Tardleu, the well-known French writer on international politics, who sailed for America on Saturday to deliver a scries of lectures on "France and Alliances" at Harvard University, and before the groups of the Allance Francais, has just published an interesting article in The Revue Des Deux Mondes on the present controversy between America and Japan. After a detailed review of events and diplomatic exchanges he comes to the conclusion that, while neither Japan nor the United States wants or is prepared for war, there is no prospect of a permanent solution of the immigration question nor of avoiding the constantly growing clash of rival interests in the Pacific. He says:

"The improbability of an early war is not coulvalent to the certainty of a definite peace, None of the special points which have been in issue for a year has been definitely settled. For instance, in the matter of the school controversy, the two suits designed to establish the rights of Japanese subjects, have been abandoned without decision. In the matter of immigration an expedient, arranged by diplomatic artifice, has enabled the United States to restrain, not to exclude, immigration. The interpretation of the Gresham-Kurino treaty remains controverted, the Japanese expecting more from it than the Californians are willing to accord. These questions permit temporary appeasements, but also brisk awakenings, And for the latter the future may furnish many occasions. Everything indicates that the hostility to yellow labor in America has not said its last word. A few months ago British America witnessed the same troubles arising from the same causes. A day will come when the questions will be general, common to the two Americas, A to present Japanese have changed their industrial life, so they may also change their political conditions, and the populace may some time be able to carry the day against the counsels of the older statesmen, when the populace may some time be able to carry the day against the counsels of th

JAPANESE DIPLOMAT TALKS OF CONDITIONS

ROME, Monday, Jan, 27.—King Victor Emmanuel yesterday again received Bnron Takahira, the Jupanese ambassador, who leaves here February 1 for the United States.

The king displayed great interest in the Japanese-American relations and the ambassador went quite fully into the questions that have arisen between the two governments, particularly with regard to emigration of the Japanese did not wish to send emigrants into that country, and for years had refused passports. Japanese emigrants, however, managed eventually to reach the United States through Hawail, the authorities of which country have frequently requested that laborers he sent there to work on the plantations. Now Japan even refuses passports for Hawail, but the emigrants may still enter the United States through Mexico and Canada. He declared that the only way to stop them from doing so was for Congress to promulgate a law whereby not only the Japanese but all emigrants could be debarred from entering the United States if the government objected to them.

Whole Company Falls Into Bearing Furnace in Chicago and All Are Rescued But One.

CHICAGO, Monday, Jan. 27.—One fireman is supposed to have been killed, more than a score of others were injured and property valued at $500,000 was destroyed in a fire which devastated the Mayer Building, a seven-story brick structure, and the Hotel Florence at 163-167. Adams Street, early this morning. The fire originated in the basement of the Mayer Building and spread so rapidly that when the first detachment of firemen arrived, the entire building of the Mayer Building and spread so rapidly that when the first detachment of firemen arrived, the entire building was in flames.

A strong north wind swept the flames to the adjacent hotel building and in a few minutes that structure also was a roaring furnace. The walls of both structures collapsed about an hour later carrying with them an entire company of firemen.

All except one, James Gallagher, of Truck Company No. 1, were rescued. His body is believed to be in the ruins.

Dun & Co., printers, occupied four floors of the Mayer Building. Their damage will amount to more than $150,000. Other occupants of the Mayer Building were: Dinse, Page & Co., electrotypers; Johnson, Koch & Quinn, bookbinders, and Kahn Brothers, drygoods.

PORTLAND, Monday, Jan. 27.—This may possibly be the last day of the prosecution in the Hall-Mays land conspiracy case and it was made interesting by the presence of Henry Meldrum. who was caught in the dragnet of former land fraud cases while United States survey-or-general for Oregon, and who was brought from McNeil Island, where he is serving a sentence, to testify that he forged the name of George C. Brownell to field notes, which resulted in the Indictment of Brownell. The latter testified a few days ago that Hall held the forged notes over his head in order to force Brownell to retire as a candidate for United States attorney for Oregon and to release Senators Mitchell and Fulton from their bedge to him, and to recommend Hall for re-appointment. Hency's purpose in having Meldrum confess the forgeries is two-fold. It will dispose of the case against Brownell and also tend to prove Brownell's testimony was not obtained through romises of immunity. In other words, Hency will he killing two hirds with one stone and dispose of the Brownell case while trying an entirely different one. The objection of the defense to Meldrum appearing as a witness will be decided this afternoon.

TO HAVE LOST LIFE MINISTERS DIFFER

1006 to 1016 First Avenue

Presiding Elder W. S. Harrington Says Celluloid Neckwear Is an Abomination, but Dr. Foster Defends It.

Presiding Elder W. S. Harrington objects to celluloid collars. He told his ministerial brethren at the Tabernacle this morning that he considered them an abomination to the Methodist clergy and only fit for the junk heap. While he was thus giving his candid opinion of a neckwear that, at least, keeps laundry bills down, he was looking squarely in the fero of Rev. John O. Foster, with whom he has been acquainted forty-eight years. Doctor Poster grasped the collar that encircled his neck and jumped to his feet.

whom he has been acquainted forty-eight years. Doctor Foster grasped the collar that encircled his neck and jumped to his fect.

"I have worn a celluloid collar nearly all my active life and nobody ever said I was an abomination" said the aged pastor. "I am the only man here who wears such an article and I am a little surprised that my old friend should single me out for his invective. A celluloid collar saves laundry bills and is. I take it, a blessing to humanity. I only wish they would make shirts of the same material and then every man could do his own washing."

Doctor Harrington, amidst much laughter, disclaimed any intention of becoming personal, but persisted in reiterating his estimate of the offending neckwear. "It causes a minister." he said, "to lose his influence with his flock. As soon as they see a ring of celluloid around his neck they begin to think that his preaching is of the same material and when they go to hear him it is with a preconceived notion that his sermon is to be as slovenly as his collar, and, somehow, the impression does not leave them and the pastor preaches largely in vain."

Doctor Harrington read a paper on the "Hahits of Ministers." He was especially severe on pastors who pay little attention to their dress.

"When a minister," he said, "wears a vest that tells plainly he has eaten soft boiled eggs for breakfast his hearers are impressed with the idea that he is a sluggard. Such pastors are very much in the habit of saying go to the ant, thou sluggard;" but if I were an ant I would not desire the company of such sluggards."
