

SCIENTISTS RAP HOUSE ATOM BILL

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(AP)—House and Senate conferees set out today to compromise differences over atomic-control legislation as a group of scientists contended that certain House proposals would "seriously hinder" development of atomic energy.

Speaker Rayburn, Democrat, Texas, told a news conference that some kind of control legislation is necessary and voiced confidence that the conferees will be able to work out a satisfactory measure.

The big issue is the extent of military influence in the domestic control.

The Association of Oak Ridge Engineers and Scientists at the Army's Manhattan atomic-bomb project in Oak Ridge, Tenn., said they had protested, in a telegram to Rayburn, against certain security provisions proposed by the House.

The House and Senate conference committee agreed today on several minor differences between the two chambers but deferred until tomorrow consideration of controversial matters.

Poll Tax Up Again

The anti-poll tax bill landed firmly on the Senate calendar today.

Democratic Leader, Barkley, Kentucky, promised that before Congress adjourns he will call up the measure to outlaw state poll taxes as a requirement for voting in federal elections.

Barkley's pledge was made after Senator Morse, Republican, Oregon, tied the Senate in knots for two hours yesterday by offering the poll-tax repealer as a rider to legislation to give the states title to ocean tides.

Tidelands Bill

Congress appeared ready today to dump the politically explosive tidelands bill on President Truman's desk.

Granting the states clear title to often-oil-rich tidelands extending three miles or more into the ocean, the bill involves a long-standing controversy between Edwin W. Pauley and former Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes.

Despite the vigorous opposition of Democratic Leader Barkley, the Senate passed the measure by a 44-to-34 vote yesterday and sent it back to the House for expected early agreement on its final form. Barkley said he hopes the President will veto it.

But any such action would be a slap at Pauley, California oil man who favors state ownership. And it would be a feather in the cap of Ickes, who has been critical of the President since he resigned from the cabinet.

Terminal Pay

A bill to provide terminal pay for millions of G.I.s reached the Senate floor today. Senator Edwin C. Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, predicted quick approval.

As passed by the House without a dissenting vote, the measure would give all enlisted personnel the same terminal-leave benefits granted to officers upon their release from active duty.

Stockpiling Act O.K'd

President Truman today signed the Strategic and Critical Materials Stockpiling Act despite an objection to a provision applying the "buy-American" act of 1933 to proposed purchases.

The President said the "overriding importance" of empowering the government to acquire stockpiles overcame his "reluctance" to signing the bill.

O. P. A. Funds Are Approved By President

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(AP)—President Truman signed into law today a bill providing $75,000,000 for O. P. A. operations during the fiscal year which started July 1.

The measure contains a ban on use of "propaganda" by the agency in support of price controls.

The legislation also includes approximately $2,000,000,000 for the Veterans Administration and a new $465,000,000 contribution to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Ex-British Sailor Returns To Wed Girl He Met in 1943

ELIZABETH PATRICK and NORMAN SINNOTT
Said Sinnott: "I'll always remember that date"

A British sailor, who met and fell in love with a Seattle girl when he was here for the British Royal Navy three years ago, was back today—to marry the girl.

The Briton, a civilian now, is Norman Sinnott of Liverpool. The girl is Elizabeth Patrick, 3721 Eighth Ave. N. E.

It was October 16, 1943—"I'll always remember that date"—at a Y. M. C. A. party that Sinnott first set eyes on Miss Patrick.

"It was right then and there that I decided to marry her," Sinnott said. "It must have been love at first sight," Miss Patrick agreed.

Argument Starts
However, arguments are starting already. It's all about the cooking.

"I tell him it is quite American for a husband to serve breakfast in bed to his wife," said Elizabeth. "But really, I can't see it quite that way," Sinnott said, good-naturedly. "I'll be thinking of some way to avoid it."

Ex-U. Gridder Given Post At Child Center

Appointment of William Gleason, former University of Washington football player, as a psychiatric case worker for the Ryther Child Center, 4416 Stone Way, was announced today.

Gleason was a Husky halfback during the 1935-39-40 seasons. He served in the Army Air Forces during the Second World War and recently completed studies at the University of Washington Graduate School of Social Work.

The Ryther Child Center also has employed Reinhold Karlstrom as a staff member. Karlstrom, also a graduate of the Graduate School of Social Work, has studied in Scandinavian countries.

The Ryther Child Center, supported chiefly by the Seattle Community Fund, cares for children with emotional and behavior difficulties.

Pet Bear Ends as Steaks

ST. HELENS, Or., July 23.—T. W. Peterson's pet black bear, Teddy, was on display in St. Helens today. But not quite in the same manner as when he roamed Peterson's backyard and walloped anyone to whom he took a dislike. Teddy was on display in a meat market—in steaks, chops and roasts.

CABINET QUILTS IN PARAGUAY

ASUNCION, Paraguay, July 23.—(AP)—The cabinet of President Higinio Morinigo has resigned to facilitate a governmental reorganization, it was officially announced today.

The resignations were accepted by the president following conversations between him and representatives of the National Republican (communist) and the Febrerista parties.

Previously Morinigo himself was quitting office were officially denied as "absolutely unfounded."

Information reaching the town of Formosa on the Argentine-Paraguayan frontier indicated that the Bolivian coup created a reaction in Paraguay favorable to Morinigo's opponents.

Paraguay was the scene of an abortive army revolt in June in which five persons were killed. An atmosphere of political tension has prevailed since.

18% of French Industry Now Nationalized

PARIS, July 23.—(AP)—Nationalization has raised to 18 per cent the amount of French industry under government control.

This figure, disclosed by France's planning commission, means that 1,300,000 of the nation's 7,500,000 industrial employees now work in government-owned industries, with a total yearly production valued at $1,000,000,000, or 23 per cent of the total output.

In some cases, such as the Renault automobile industry, nationalization has been a penalty for collaboration with the Germans.

Insurance companies present an example of another type of nationalization. The government is buying up all private stock in the companies and reimbursing shareholders at an equitable rate. Each company, however, retains its structure as a private enterprise.

In most cases, however, nationalization has been aimed at increasing production and distribution in a ravaged economy, on the theory that the state's role in an industry will be more disinterested than that of individual owners liable to be dominated solely by a profit motive.

The French government has "taken over" the gas and electricity industry, 75 per cent of insurance companies, five major banks, the Renault and Berliet automobile companies, Gnome and Rhone airplane factories and coal mines. Before the war France had nationalized railroads, armaments, airlines, postoffice and telegraph companies, tobacco and match production and some coal mines.

CHIANG FORCES BEAT REDS BACK

NANKING, July 23.—(UP)—Chinese government forces began a furious counter-attack today against Communist troops threatening the Nanking-Shanghai area and plunged northward 28 miles before they were checked.

Government sources said the nationalist troops had begun a counter-attack along a 150-mile front. The government troops pushed back the Communist threat to Nanking on the Nanking-Hsueh line. The situation there, however, still was regarded as critical.

Two American-built destroyer escorts and six minesweepers in the Yangtze River were ready to defend the Nanking-Shanghai area against the Communists.

Observers in Shanghai were reported skeptical of the Chinese government's fears of a Communist attack. They believed the Communists lacked the military potential to cross the Yangtze and that reports of the "threat" had been built up in Nanking to support a Nationalist offensive in North China.

Scores of new gun-bristling pillboxes lined the river bank near the Nanking railway station. Bunkers and other defense positions have been erected to reinforce the naval units which are the latest additions to the Chinese fleet.

Banker Rides Boxcar, Has 'Lots of Fun'

CHEYENNE, July 23.—(AP)—Grinning like a boy, cinder-coated Benjamin Cook, retired Rhode Island investment banker, reported today that he had "lots of fun" despite one casualty among the boxcar load of livestock with which he's riding across two thirds of the nation.

The horses, cows, goats, geese and chickens that are Cook's fellow passengers on the odyssey are presents he is taking to his daughter, Mrs. Walter W. Linder, on her ranch near Cora, Wyo.

Chinese Ask 150% Pay Rise
SINGAPORE, July 23.—(AP)—The rehabilitation of Britain's great naval base here came to a virtual standstill today when 12,000 laborers, employed on the project, struck for a 150 per cent pay rise and a victory bonus. Union leaders and government officials were scheduled to meet later today to attempt arbitration.

See Your State

RICH IN INDIAN LORE and legend, graceful Mount St. Helens and mysterious Spirit Lake are part of one of Washington's most beautiful mountain wonderlands.

RISEING MAJESTICALLY to the height of 9,671 feet, Mount St. Helens, formed from a single volcanic cone, presents a picture of perfect mountain symmetry. Indians called the mountain, "La-Wa-La-Clough" or, "Lady of the Clouds." Mount St. Helens, like several of Washington's mountains, was discovered by Captain Vancouver in 1792.

SPIRIT LAKE, nestling in the mountains at an elevation of 3,199 feet, received its name from Indians who believed that strange,

Natural noises coming from the lake were voices of spirits. Spirit Lake and the 30 smaller lakes nearby in this mountain region are a paradise for sportsmen, the clear, cold water abounding in Montana black and Eastern brook trout. Spirit Lake is famous for its "floating rocks," white pumice pebbles which float in water for several minutes. A smooth highway leads directly to Spirit Lake Forest Camp where a public campground and cabin resort accommodations are available.

Apartment to Evict Whites But Allow Japanese to Stay

MRS. OVID CURTIS and MISS ARTISE SANDBERG
They read their eviction notice with bewilderment

The tenants of eight of the 16 dwelling units in the Amelia Apartments, 104 17th Avenue, today had received those fateful little white slips of paper—eviction notices—and as a result were looking upon the world with worried, unhappy eyes.

"Where will I move?" asked tiny, gray-haired Mrs. Sarah Blockoff, 70 years old, one of those asked to vacate her apartment. "I have no relatives in Seattle," Mrs. Blockoff-lives alone.

The prospective evictees, all Caucasians, said the manager of the apartment is H. Mukai, who is of Japanese ancestry, and that Mukai has not served eviction notices on the tenants of the eight other apartments, all Japanese or Japanese-Americans.

Some of the Japanese tenants confirmed that they have not been asked to move.

"We were asked to get out by Saturday," said Ralph Warren. "I'm luckier than most, because I was able to buy a house, but I don't know what the others will do."

"How can they throw a person out in the street when he hasn't a place to move to?" asked Mrs. Ovid Curtis, one of those asked to vacate.

The eviction notice said the manager's lease expires August 1, said Artise Sandberg, another tenant being evicted, "but why, then, aren't the Japanese being put out?"

One tenant, I. D. Rosen, said he will refuse to move until he finds new quarters.

AUTO DEATHS IN CITY DROP 25%

Almost 20 per cent of all automobile accidents in Seattle are caused by defective equipment, James W. Hodson, president of the Seattle Safety Council, declared yesterday at the council's annual meeting.

"However, Seattle's traffic fatalities in the first six months of this year are 25 per cent below the same period last year, while those throughout the rest of the nation increased," Hodson said.

The council went on record as favoring a policy of strict examinations for all new drivers and for reexamination of drivers involved in serious traffic violations, and the appropriation of sufficient funds to carry out such a program.

All the present officers of the council were reelected: Hodson, president; C. F. Schlossstein, vice president; Harry L. Carr, secretary-treasurer; and Fred R. Boynton, managing director.

Lew V. Shaw, member of the board of directors, was voted the Seattle Safety Council Award for outstanding volunteer service to the council.

New Mexico, fourth state in size in the nation, ranks 42nd in population.
