

FIRST DRAFTEES GO TOMORROW

First Seattle-King County men to be called up under the new Selective Service law will report for induction tomorrow morning at 7:45 o'clock.

Sixteen men will be included in the first contingent, scheduled to leave Seattle by train at 12:30 o'clock to begin Army recruit training at Fort Ord, Calif.

The men will report to Selective Service headquarters in the Second and Cherry Building. After a roll call, they will be marched to the induction station at 65 Marion St.

Those ordered to report include:

Local Board 1—Arild T. Mognard, Louis J. Longo, Albert D. Richmond, James H. Hayes, Alfred E. Miller, Norman L. Jensen, Duane R. Luthi, Erling Salveson.

Local Board 2—Hugh J. McCann, Robert C. Costello.

Local Board 3—Leon C. Gundersen, William G. Riley, Jr.

Local Board 4—Frank B. Thesenvitz, Clarence W. Jordan, Alfred C. Katzer, Ivan William Lee, Jr.

Sewage Plan Not Adequate, Say Engineers

Engineers of the State Pollution Commission are still dissatisfied with Seattle's plans for discharging sewage in Puget Sound, it developed today.

Frank A. Stewart, state Director of Conservation and Development, has called a meeting of the pollution commission, of which he is chairman, for tomorrow afternoon, to consider the Wollman report, which is the basis of the city's proposed sewage-disposal program.

The meeting, open to the public, will begin at 2 o'clock in the offices of the state director of fisheries in the Smith Tower, Stewart said.

Milo Moore, fisheries director, Don Burke, game director and Dr. Thur L. Ringle, health director, are other members of the commission.

Dr. Leo Wollman, noted Eastern engineer, recently upheld, in the main, Seattle's previous plans for sewage disposal, though in some cases recommending that sewage be carried into deeper waters before discharge. Engineers for the state pollution commission contend a system of sewage-disposal plants is needed.

Japanese War Wives Here

There was laughter—plus just a few quick tears—and a happy babble of Oriental and Occidental speech yesterday at the Immigration Station as 18 Japanese war wives were released to their husbands to begin life in a new land.

The husband-and-wife greetings were as effusive as though the participants had not seen each other for months. Actually, the couples had been separated only since Monday, when they arrived on the Army transport David Shanks. The husbands, American soldiers or civilian government employees in Japan, were allowed to go where they wished. The wives were detained for physical check-ups.

Babies Are Calm

Calmer persons of the crowd were the ten babies in the group. Ranging in age from a few weeks to 14 months, they either slept in their parents' arms or gazed at the scene with steady-eyed detachment.

The arrival of Hideo Noro, his wife, Ayako, and their 3-month-old daughter, Julie Anne, precipitated a real family reunion.

Mrs. Noro is the daughter of Mrs. Frank Watanabe of 4010 48th Av. S. Mrs. Noro was born in Japan, while Mrs. Watanabe was on a trip to her home land nearly 10 years before the war. Mrs. Watanabe left her daughter with relatives in Japan when she returned to Seattle, and has seen her only twice since, on trips to Japan before the war.

Daughter Recognized

Another of Mrs. Watanabe's daughters, Mrs. Edward Osawa of Seattle, was with her mother in Japan when Mrs. Noro was born. Until yesterday she had not seen her sister since infancy.

"I'm so afraid I won't even recognize her," said Mrs. Osawa. At that point a dainty young Japanese woman left the elevator. Mrs. Osawa dashed into her arms.

"I knew her! I knew her!" she cried. And to prove it, both sisters broke into tears as the rest of the family gathered around.

Also on hand, to greet her brother and his wife, was Mrs. Peggy Okada of 901 Sixth Av.

The Noros and family departed for temporary residence at the home of Mrs. Osawa. Most of the rest went to Fort Lawton, preparatory to scattering to homes throughout the country.

Regardless of the birthplace of the wives, their lives from now on apparently will be led on a strictly Occidental plane.

"Hey, where's my old battle ax?" shouted one widely grinning Occidental, as he looked for his bride among a group of the Japanese women leaving the Immigration Station elevator.

Two Petitions For Rezoning Face Denials

Two rezoning petitions, the smallest City Planning Commission zoning calendar in many years, both were recommended for denial yesterday. Chairman J. Lister Holmes announced.

In contrast to the crowds which frequently jam commission hearings, only one person, M. D. Huckins, of 3033 Alki Av., appeared.

Huckins had requested rezoning of his property for construction of a second house on the lot.

Also disapproved was a petition by Mrs. Mollie Corbin for the rezoning of 210 Boylston Av. N. from second-residence to business.

STATE'S 21-FERRY OPTION EXTENDED

The state's option to purchase 21 Puget Sound Navigation Company ferries has been extended 30 days—to December 15; Lawrence Bogle, company board chairman, announced today.

The action was taken to give the state time to prepare a case to test validity of the state's financing plan.

Stockholders voted August 30 to sell the ferries and other facilities to the state for $5,975,000. They had given the State Toll Bridge Authority until Monday to close the deal.

"The Authority is expected to file the test case tomorrow or early next week. Last week the Authority accepted the bid of an Eastern syndicate for a $10,500,000 bond issue.

Two Honored For Child Health Work

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—(UP)—Sally Lucas Jean of New York and Dr. Amos L. Beagler of Denver last night were presented the William A. Howe awards for distinguished service to child health.

Miss Jean is health consultant to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Dr. Beagler has been director of Denver's school health service since 1923.

State Legislative Council to Meet

OLYMPIA, Nov. 11.—(UP)—A meeting of the State Legislative Council has been called for Friday by Senator Clinton S. Harley, chairman, to take final action on subcommittee reports.

Awaiting council action are reports of subcommittees on appropriations, budgeting and expenditure of state funds, public welfare and education.

Progress reports are expected from the subcommittees on liquor control and licensing, Puget Sound transportation problems (ferry purchase), and the University of Washington's Metropolitan lease.

4 Arrested, Opium Seized in L. A. Area

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 11.—(UP)—Four men were arrested, $25,000 worth of opium was seized and narcotics officers said yesterday they broke a million-dollar syndicate transporting and selling Mexican opium and heroin in the Los Angeles area.

Charged with violation of the federal narcotics statutes were Milton Harry Burke, 39 years old, Los Angeles; Rudolfo Teyeches, 33, former Army captain of Nogales, Ariz.; Francisco Lavat, 43, and Jose Romero Cazares, 28, Sinaloa, Mexico.

An automatic bottle-making machine was invented in 1903.

FOUNDERS' DAY LUNCHEON THEME

Seattle Founders' Day will be the main theme tomorrow on the Members' Council luncheon program at the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. The program, presented in Co-operation with the Seattle Historical Society, will commemorate the landing at Alki Point of the ship Exact November 13, 1851.

Automatic can-making machines produce as many as 21,000 cans an hour.
