DENVER WAITS CONVENTION ARRIVALS

LEADERS DISCUSS SELECTION OF CHAIRMAN

Rabbi Samuel Koch, of Seattle, Is Selected as One of Clergymen to Offer Prayers at the Great Gathering.

DENVER, Colo., Tuesday, June 30.—From present appearances it is probable that the majority of the delegates and alternates to the Democratic national convention will be in Denver only a short time before the convention opens. Thus far not a single state delegation has arrived, only a few have started and it is a fact that there are more newspapermen on the ground than politicians. Probably the first active participants in the convention to reach Denver will be those who left Chicago several days ago in automobiles and who visited Lincoln yesterday on their westward journey.

The most important event of the day bearing upon the convention was a meeting of the committee on convention arrangements which was called to order at 10 o'clock. While the committee, which recently named Theodore A. Bell of California as temporary chairman, did not select a man for the permanent presiding office, that matter came up for discussion. It is generally understood that the man for this position will be Representative Henry A. Clayton, of Alabama. He is known to be the personal choice of William J. Bryan, and no opposition is offered to his selection although several names have been mentioned in connection with the place.

The committee devoted the greater part of its time to the consideration of the seating arrangements in the hall and to the letting of contracts for tickets, ballots and other work of that kind incidental to the convention.

Decorations in Place.

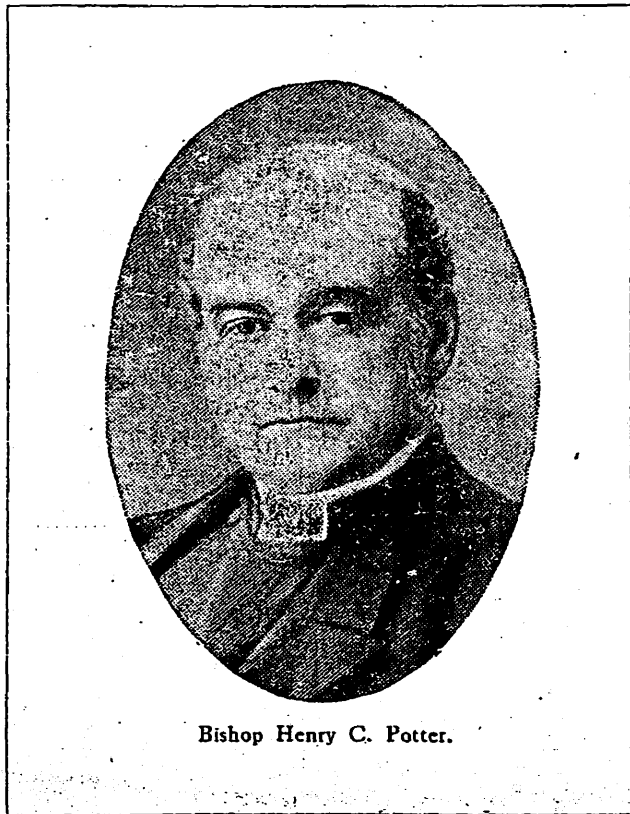

The finishing touches to the convention hall are being rapidly made and the decorations are now all in place, with the exception of the bunting which is to be draped around the boxes and the speaker's rostrum. All of the available space in the hotels already has been reserved by the state delegations and such visitors to the convention as were prompt in applying for rooms, and the Denver Convention League, a non-partisan organization, has volunteered to provide quarters in all sections of the city. The league has adopted the plan which was first used at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, and has since been put in practice in other parts of the country upon occasions of a similar nature. A bureau of information in charge of competent and well-informed men has been established at the Union and other particulars concerning them are listed.

Applicants upon calling at the bureau are directed to quarters. The rates for all of these rooms are established by the convention league and not by the owners of such places as feel themselves unable to reach their rooms without difficulty. Visitors will also be furnished with a card, upon which is written the price to be paid for the room selected, the card constituting a contract between the householder and the league, by virtue of which the visitor is protected against any possible chance of extortion or overcharge.

Woodson's Friends Are Busy.

The friends of Irvin Woodson, secretary of the convention, are busy preparing the program for the convention.

Recount of Ballots Cast in New York's Municipal Election Gives Present Mayor Plurality of Nearly 3,000.

CONTESTANT ALLEGES STUFFING OF BOXES

NEW YORK, Tuesday, June 30.—Justice Lambert today directed the jury to find a verdict for Mayor George B. McClellan in the election recount suit, upholding McClellan's election.

The taking of evidence in the contest of William R. Hearst, claimant of the office of mayor, was concluded today. After a recount of the ballots cast in the mayoralty election of 1905 had shown a legal plurality of nearly 3,000 for McClellan, C. J. Shearn, counsel for the contestant, asserted that the ballot boxes were stuffed.

Today Shearn offered evidence in an effort to show that Hearst was defrauded of 6,953 votes. He then rested his case.

Counsel for McClellan offered in evidence the official returns of the election inspectors and the poll books and tally sheets from the county clerk's office.

TIME NEEDED TO MOVE LOWER DISTRICT

Mayor Thinks He Should Not Be Expected to Make Change in Three Months That Others Failed to Make in Six Years.

QUESTION IS UNDER CONSIDERATION NOW

"THE restricted district proposition will be disposed of within thirty days. I would not care to say that it will be removed within that period, but the problem will have been solved by that time. It is hardly fair to expect me to do something in three months that other mayors have failed to do in six years. The first day that was mayor the electric light and other sign boards in the district were taken down and the removal question is one that is to be given attention in due time."

This statement was made by Mayor John F. Miller this morning when requested for his views on the subject which has been brought to the attention of the public lately through citizens of the district adjoining.

"I had been mayor less than six hours when all objectionable signs, many of them electric, were removed," he continued, "and there have been other re-

NOTED DIVINE CAN'T LIVE LONG

Bishop Henry C. Potter, the Famous Episcopal Prelate, Is Sick Unto Death at Cooperstown, New York.

PATIENT'S FAMILY IS AT HIS BEDSIDE

Distinguished Clergyman Is 74 Years Old and Is Now Kept Alive by Artificial Restoratives.

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Tuesday, June 30.—Bishop Henry C. Potter is not expected to live many hours longer. He was reported very low today. After midnight last night the bishop's condition was so low that he was artificially restored. His weakness is extreme and the attending physicians have almost abandoned hope.

All the prelate's relatives have been summoned to his bedside. His son, William H. Potter, arrived last night and Mrs. Potter has been with the bishop almost constantly since the alarming symptoms developed. Three members of the bishop's family are in Cooperstown.

The patient's illness dates from May 1, when he was attacked by a complication of stomach and liver trouble, but it was not until early in June that his condition became serious. June 10 he was taken to Cooperstown in the hope that a change of air would benefit him. A marked turn for the better resulted almost immediately, but the oppressive heat of the past week counteracted this and yesterday there was a relapse.

The Right Rev. Henry Codman Potter is the seventh bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York, which post he has held for twenty-five years, succeeding his uncle, Bishop Horatio Potter. His father was Bishop Alonzo Potter, of Pennsylvania.

The present bishop, who is 74 years old, married Miss Mary Scrivens, his second wife, in 1887.

JAPANESE TO MAINTAIN SCHOOLS

Subjects of Mikado Resident in Seattle Will Withdraw Children From American Places of Public Instruction.

EDUCATION WILL BE ENTIRELY NIPPONESE

Consul Tanaka and Leading Orientals Back of Movement—Loyalty to Mikado to Be Thoroughly Inculcated.

SEATTLE Japanese have decided to withdraw their children from the public schools, because, as was alleged at a special meeting of the Japanese Association of the State of Washington, held in the Baker Building last night, the education given is not satisfactory to them. Japanese schools and Japanese instructors will be substituted for American schools and American instructors, and the Japanese interested say this is done to avoid a possible repetition of the San Francisco trouble. This decision was reached on suggestion of T. Tanaka, local Japanese consul.

In the report of the proceedings made by J. Hashiguchi, secretary of the organization, are these words: "The purpose of the Japanese school is to educate the children in Japanese and to enable them to carry on conversation in their native tongue. There has been considerable discussion in and out of the assembly on the advisability of taxing the brain of the children with both Japanese and English. Care will be taken not to overtax the children and they will be instructed in loyalty to the Mikado and the empire of Japan."

To carry into effect the purpose of the association to provide adequate school facilities for the Japanese children a committee of twenty was appointed by President C. T. Takahashi to solicit funds and as soon as the money is available a school room will be fitted up and instructors engaged.

It is proposed to employ as principal a graduate of the University of Tokyo. From all that could be gathered the movement is widespread and is indorsed by the Japanese consul and the leading Japanese merchants and professional men of Seattle, who appear to desire a complete separation from the American schools.

The Japanese association has on hand $1,550, part of which was contributed by Baron Kuroki, Baron Komura, Admiral Yamamoto and other distinguished Japanese, who passed through the city. The money was given ostensibly for the improvement of the Japanese in general, but it is believed that they had in view the establishment of efficient Japanese schools in Seattle. At the meeting a discussion arose as to the disposition of the money. It was finally decided not to appropriate it for the school until the wishes of the givers are ascertained.

The Japanese consul, said Mr. Hashiguchi, "has taken a great interest in the proposed Japanese school. Several mass meetings have been called on his initiative during the past month for the purpose of arousing the interest of the colonists, and as a result the Japanese association took it upon itself to carry out the suggestions of the consul."

There are only seventy Japanese attending American schools in Seattle and it is proposed to appropriate $150 a month for the purpose of providing Japanese instructors for them. A meeting will be held in the near future to complete the plans for the school.
