to the letting of contracts for lickets, ballots and other work of that kind incidental to the convention.

Decorations in Place.

The finishing touches to the convention hall are being rapidly made and the decorations are of the bunting which is to be draped around the boxes and the speaker arostrum. All of the available space in the hotels already has been reserved by the state delegations and such visitors to the convention as were Denver Convention League, a non-partisan organization, has volunteered to provide quarters in all sections of the city. The league has adopted the plan which was first used at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago and has since been put in practice in other parts of the country upon occasions of a similar nature. A bureau of information in charge of competent and well-informed men has been established at the Union depot, where all rooms with the prices and other particulars concerning them are listed.

Applicants upon calling at the bureau are directed to quarters. The rates for all of these rooms are established by the convention league and not by the owners of the houses. Guides will be furnished to such people as feel themselves unable to reach their rooms with the price to be paid for the room selected, the card constituting a contract between the householder and the league, by virtue of which the visitor is protected against any possible chance of exitorion or overcharge.

Mayor James C. Dahiman, of Omaha, has also been mentioned as a fitting choice for the chairmanship of the committee, but he does not desire to be considered in connection with the place, as he has decided to enter the race for governor of Nebraska and intends to devote his energies to that political ambition.

Notice was today received by the national committee that the seats of the entire delegation from Idaho will be contested. The delegation headed by former United States Senator Fred Dubols now have the credentials, but their opponents claim that they are entitled to the seats and will make a strong fight against the Dubois people. The real split in this state is on the Mormon question. The notice of this contest brings the total of contested seats into thirty, but the national committee will not change its present program of waiting until July 6, the day before the convention, to hear the evidence.

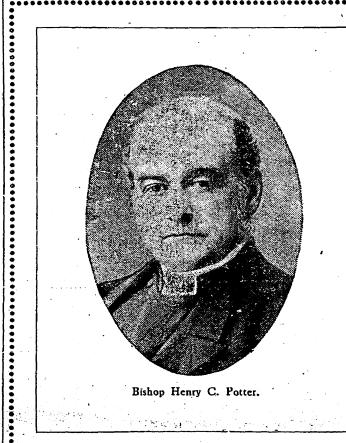

Number of Delegates. The total number of Delegates.

The total number of delegates chosen to the convention is 1.008, but it is not likely that there will be more than 1.002 who will vote. The national convention in 1904 decided that the Philippine Islands were not entitled to vote in the convention. The islands cloted six delegates for the present convention, and the sub-committee of the national committee has decided that these six delegates are entitled to seals but not to votes. The action of the sub-committee will doubtless be sustained by the full committee and it is believed that the Denver convention will follow the precedent set by the convention four years ago as to the representatives of the Philippines.

Recount of Ballots Cast in New | Mayor Thinks He Should Not York's Municipal Election Gives Present Mayor Plurality of Nearly 3,000.

CONTESTANT ALLEGES STUFFING OF BOXES

N EW YORK, Tuesday, June 30.—
Justice Lambert today. Justice Lambert today directed the jury to find a verdict for Mayor George B. McClellan in the elec-tion recount suit, upholding McClellan's tion recount suit, upbolding McClellan's election.

The taking of evidence in the contest of William R. Hearst, claimant of the office of mayor, was concluded today. After a recount of the ballots cast in the mayoralty election of 1905 had shown a legal plurality of nearly 3,000 for McClellan, C. J. Shearn, counsel for the contestant, asserted that the ballot boxes were stuffed.

Today Shearn offered evidence in an effort to show that Hearst was defrauded of 6,053 votes. He then rested his case.

Counsel for McClellan offered in evidence the eofficial returns of the election inspectors and the poll books and tally sheets from the county clerk's office.

In his address to the jury Justice Lambert said that no fraud had been proved in the case, and if he should permit the disfranchisement of citizens on such slight evidence, this country would last but a very short time.

Be Expected to Make Change in Three Months That Others Failed to Make in Six Years.

QUESTION IS UNDER CONSIDERATION NOW

HE restricted district proposition will be disposed of within thir-ty days. I would not care to say that it will be removed within that period, but the problem will have been period, but the problem will have been solved by that time. It is hardly fair to expect me to do something in three months that other mayors have failed to do in six years. The first day that I was mayor the electric light and other sign boards in the district were taken down and the removal question is one that is to be given attention in due time."

down and the removal question is one that is to be given attention in due time."

This statement was made by Mayor John F. Miller this morning when requested for his views on the subject which has been brought to the attention of the public lately through citizens of the district adjoining.

"I had been mayor less than six hours when all objectionable signs, many of them electric, were removed." he continued. "and there have been other restrictions that the public can not help but observe. Personally, I do not believe that there is a need for a restricted district, but older students of municipal government reward it as one mode of police protection. At any rate, the matter is to be given attention, and that at a very early date."

SEATTLE FIRMS LIKELY TO GET BIG CONTRACT

Transportation of Government Supplies Will Probably Be Let to Frank Waterhouse & Co.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 30.—
Because of the law providing that government supplies shall be carried in American bottoms, unless the President considers American bids exorbitant. Frank Waterhouse & Co. is likely to get the contract for the transportation of government supplies from Scattle to the Philippines. Icbsen & Ostrander, the other bidders, propose to use British ships. What constitutes an "exorbitant" charge appears to be rather classifies. The President recently held that a bid of $10 per ton by an American owner against $6 by a foreigner for transportation of supplies to the Philippines was not exorbitant." Said an officer in the quartermaster's department today. "This meant a difference of $4 a ton. In another case it was decided that a 50 per cent difference of $4 a ton. Costume Which Is Creating Comment on Both Sides of Water Since Its Introduction, Is Seen at Furth Ball.

REVERSION TO THE ANCIENT GREEK STYLE

THE directoire gown which when it made its initial appearance at the Longehamps race course in Paris weeks ago started a hum of conversation all over fashionable Europe and North America, has invaded Scattle, for two of the new style—if it can be termed new—were seen at the ball given at Christensen's Hall, Broadway and Malison Street, last night.

Miss Jossaulne Garrett appeared gowned in apricot silk with trimmings of point lace, made directoire, and Mrs. Alexander F. McEwan were a black Chantilly lace robe over black silk, made directoire.

Chantilly lace robe over black silk, made directoric.

The gowns have made their appearance in New York and Chicago since the first ones were displayed at Longchamps, but as yet the adoption lass not become general. The garment is largely fashioned of one piece and an opening somewhere in the side is not a necessary "incident," as one prominent Fifth Avenue costumer purs it.

The directoire gown is frowned on as a costume for the street, just as a decollette dress would not be countenanced if worn on a public thoroughfare and champions of the former declare the fact that it was displayed at Longchamps and on Fifth Avenue is responsible for the mild sensations reported.

The directoire "creation" is in reality a reversion to the ancient Greek gown, and is similar to the costume of a century ago, and is not offensive in any way.

SEATTLE Japanese have decided to withdraw their children from the public schools, because, as was als a graduate of the University of Tokyo From all that could be gathered the movement is widespread and is indorsed by the Japanese consul and the leading Japanese merchants and professional men of Seattle, who appear to desire a complete separation from the American schools. The Japanese association has on hand $1,550, part of which was contributed by Baron Kuroki. Baron Komura, Admiral Yamamoto and other distinguished Japanese, who passed through the city. The money was given ostensibly for the improvement of the Japanese in general, but it is believed that they ladd in view the establishment of efficient Japanese schools in Seattle. At the meeting a discussion arose as to the disposition of the money. It was finally decided not to appropriate it for the school until the wishes of the givers are ascentained.

"Mr. Tanaka, the Japanese consul." said Mr. Hashiguchi, "has taken a great interest in the proposed Japanese school. Several mass meetings have been called on his initiative during the past month for the purpose of arousing the interest of the colonists, and as a result the Japanese Association took it upon itself to carry out the suggestions of the consul."

There are only seventy Japanese attending American schools in Seattle and it is proposed to appropriate $150 a month for the purpose of providing Japanese.
