

WATERWAYS TO GET $7,000,000

War Department Gives Estimate to Congress of Amount Actually Needed for Rivers and Harbors.

Figures for Seattle and Portland District Total $492,000, and This Covers All Improvements Under Way.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Jan. 14.—The war department has furnished the House committee on rivers and harbors with a detailed statement showing that about $7,000,000 can be expended in the maintenance of existing river and harbor improvements during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916. This estimate was furnished on request of the committee with a view to providing money to cover emergencies and to prevent the deterioration of existing work in an emergency bill that seems likely to be reported instead of a general river and harbor bill. The estimates include the following items: The North Pacific Coast and for the Columbia River, $1,000,000; the Willamette River, $200,000; the Puget Sound and tributary waters, $25,000; Lake Washington Canal, $10,000; Swinomish Slough, $15,000; Grays Harbor and Chehalis River, $5,000.

Amount for Portland District.
In Portland District—Columbia River, from Vancouver to mouth of Willamette, $2,000; Columbia River, at mouth, $200,000; Columbia and Willamette Rivers, $200,000; Willamette and Youngs Bay, $15,000; Clatskanie River, $600; Cowlitz and Lewis, $5,000.
Total for both districts, $492,000.
In commemoration of the 10th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, the House yesterday passed a resolution authorizing the postmaster-general to issue a special Lincoln postage stamp of the denomination of two cents in accordance with Representative Albert F. Dawson's resolution.

Proposed Rejected Before.
Congress has failed to agree to such a proposal. It is believed that the continuation of the President's order withdrawing the marines from shipboard would seriously affect the number of enlistments. Brigadier-General Elliott and other marine corps officers appear before a subcommittee of the House committee on naval affairs yesterday. They declared that the comparison with the marines before the committee was made hurriedly and was unfair to the marine corps.

EVERYBODY IN THE NORTHWEST

Works for the Seattle Unit Owner

YOU know that old financial axiom, that "There are only two primary ways of making money. One is to make it by your own labor; the other is to make it by the work of others."

Gaining the ownership of Central Business Property in a progressive city of world-wide influence, like Seattle, is the most certain and direct way to profit by "the work of others."

A centrally located business building—like the CENTRAL BUILDING (Trustee Property No. 6), draws its "rent-tax" from the entire population, not only of the city in which it stands, but of the entire commercial territory tributary to such city, reaching often into other states and across oceans to foreign countries, as in the case of Seattle.

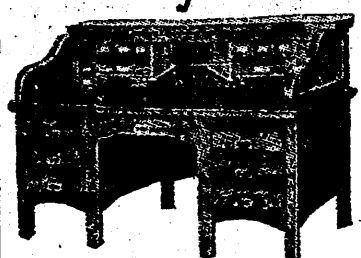

The incessant growth in Seattle's population, which is steadily and persistently increasing the pressure of the demand upon the city's business locations, is, therefore, just as persistently increasing the business rental rate (which averages at least 6 per cent per annum, net, upon the property valuation), while the ground value is growing at the rate of at least 10 per cent a year.

As everybody in the community works for the owner of Central Business Property at this unflinching, enriching rate, we think YOU would better be a Business Property Owner too. Buy Units of the CENTRAL BUILDING, in any amount from $105 upward.

PRESIDENT RIDES 98 MILES IN DAY

Executive, Starting 3:30 in Morning, Goes to Warrenton, Va., and Returns to White House at 8:40 at Night.

Nation's Ruler Makes Hard Journey in Saddle for Purpose of Answering Critics of His Order to Army Officers.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Jan. 14.—President Roosevelt rode ninety-eight miles on horse back yesterday and when he dismounted last night at the White House door, more than seventeen hours after having departed therefrom, he did not show any marked signs of weariness. The object of his long day in the saddle, he explained to a representative of the Associated Press after his return, was to "prove to the critics who have found fault with the recent order requiring all army and navy officers to maintain physical tests that if a President, who is not in training, can ride ninety miles plus in one day without being laid up, he should not be considered not too much to ask the men, who o'clock last night. The journey was to continue all the time, to ride ninety miles in three days.

Roads in Bad Condition.
"And Virginia roads in the winter time," said the President, "are not usually in the best of condition."

With the President were Dr. Rice, surgeon-general of the army; Dr. Carey Grayson and Archibald Butt, one of the President's aides. On the return trip the last thirty miles of the journey were made in sleet and rain, while the last fifteen miles were in almost pitch darkness. Arriving at the saddle, the President refused to take the carriage which was waiting for him. When he dismounted at Warrenton, Va., he was frozen stiff with sleet and ice. There were four relays of horses, the first stage of the journey out and last in being made by the President on "Boeing," the second out and the third in being made by the President on "Boeing." As the four horse back riders, followed by two policemen on wheels and the empty carriage, drove into the grounds surrounding the executive mansion, the President, in front, with his broad brimmed black "blotch" drawn over his face, presented a striking picture.

Route of Journey.
Both the outward and the return trip lay through Fairfax Courthouse to Warrenton. Arriving at the hotel at about 11 o'clock yesterday morning where the President's coming had been heralded an hour in advance, his arrival, he was greeted by a gathering of citizens and school children, to whom he spoke a few words of good cheer. The members of the President's party took luncheon at the Warren Green Hotel. Then they started on their return. A short rest, the master of the hunt of the Warrenton Hunt Club accompanied them for a few miles.

Women Particular on Shoe Sizes
Chicago Dealer Says Proposition to Mark Footwear in Plain Figures Will Not Do at All.

CHICAGO, Thursday, Jan. 14.—A proposition of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers in convention in New York, to stamp exact sizes on women's shoes, has awakened opposition on the part of Chicago retail dealers. "They say that the plan will not do because it is not in the best interest of the fair sex," they will not do anywhere.

At present but few women's shoes are marked with sizes to the public. The shoe dealer has his own private marks. "We disagree on one thing in regard to the material or size," said a shoe dealer. "If a woman calls for a shoe three sizes too small she will get it if she insists. But we first measure her and see if she does not want the shoe that fits. She does not want a shoe that she does not want it to pinch that is none of our business. Most women have no idea as to what size their feet are wearing."

THINKS SKELETONS ARE OF BROTHERS

Mysterious Disappearance of Frank and Willie McLeod in Nahani River Country in 1904 Accounted For.

TELEGRAPH CREEK, B. C., Thursday, Jan. 14.—A party of prospectors has arrived here direct from Nahani River, the north tributary of the Liard River, 200 miles north of Telegraph Creek. The party is composed of J. Morrison, William Douglas, Dawson miners, C. Young, E. Moore, Albert and Charlie McLeod, and left Edmonton last May. Charlie McLeod, who guided the party through, tells a startling story, which is corroborated by the others of the party, of the finding of the skeletons of two men ninety miles up the Nahani River. He is positive the remains are those of his two brothers, Frank and Willie, who, with Robert Weir, started from Fort Simpson in the fall of 1904 and went up the Nahani northward. They have not been heard of since. Up to this time it was believed the men had continued their travels northward, probably to the Yukon or Tanana. McLeod identified his brothers by a watch ring and parts of the clothing. The remains of Weir were not discovered. He was a stranger to the coun-

January Sale of Furniture Announcement

While, as a matter of protection, we stated in all advertisements of the January Sale of Furniture that deliveries would of necessity be at our convenience, it was our purpose throughout to make them promptly. Business proved so active, however, that despite the use of twenty wagons in the delivery of merchandise, fourteen of them for Furniture exclusively, we have been unable to keep up with the sales. No better evidence of our desire to make good deliveries can be cited than the fact that advertising of the January Sale of Furniture has been withdrawn for a week.

The foregoing facts are stated with a view to making clear to those awaiting January Sale Furniture just how earnestly we are endeavoring to accomplish delivery.
