JAPANESE QUESTION DISCUSSED

President Roosevelt and Pacific Coast Senators Confer on Proposed Legislation Against Nipponese.

Chief Executive Urges Congressional Delegation to Use Their Influence Against Antagonistic Laws.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Jan. 22.—The Japanese legislation question in California was the subject of a conference yesterday between President Roosevelt, Senator Flint, Republican, of California, Charles W. Fulton, Republican, of Oregon, and others.

The President talked cautiously with his visitors yesterday. He went so far as to say he taught nothing pending in Congress or any of the differences between himself and Congress were of half the importance of the Japanese-California question.

Senator Flint and other Californians have told the President plainly that, while they are willing to help him, they do not place much confidence in the figures of the government as to the decreasing number of Japanese in this country.

Facts Dispute Figures. The facts dispute the figures, they declare, and they add that the Japanese are taking possession of whole townships in California. They would like to see a fair trial given to the promise of the Japanese to decrease their number, and if this trial shows that there is no decrease, then he will no longer use his influence, even after he goes out of office, to prevent hostile legislation.

Senator Fulton, of Oregon, after his talk with the White House, said that the feeling as to the Japanese in Oregon was not as acute as in California.

The fact that there was recently sent to Congress by President Roosevelt a report by the general staff of the army, the Pacific coast, and the navy, recommending fortifications for San Pedro, Cal., harbor, was made the basis for suggestions of a possibility of trouble with Japan.

At the war department this inference was given a most careful consideration. It was said the general subject of improving San Pedro harbor had been under consideration more than two years ago, but before that time the thought of any dispute between the United States and Japan.

National Military Problem. It was taken up as a national military problem involving the necessary protection of the southern coast, and without reference to any particular enemy.

Formal legislative authorization for an investigation and report as to the advisability and necessity of coast fortifications for protection of San Pedro harbor was taken May 21, last. President Roosevelt sent to Congress a report of the general staff on the subject which was accompanied by estimates of the cost of the site and the cost of the aggregate of $2,269 for big guns, submarine mines and land accessories.

Under the head of "Case of conquest" the report says that its investigation discloses that, assuming there were no effective naval opposition, an effective Oriental navy could make in a few months of time, and before its hostile intentions could be strongly suspected (four years), the entire coast (the made) land on the Pacific Coast an expedition of an established minimum of about 100,000 men, and that the force could be augmented by the end of two months more to a total of possibly 300,000.

The ease with which San Pedro harbor, unfortified and through it the entire Los Angeles bay, could be seized is apparent," says the report.

Three Divisions. From a defensive point of view the report points out that the Pacific Coast coast is divided into three grand divisions. While each division in itself is for defensive purposes, they are so related to one another as to mutually permit the occupation of any enemy.

At the same time the board points out the ease of retaining possession and the conclusion is reached that "sea, mountain and desert combine to make the position of the Japanese body and taken possession of the Los Angeles country in force, well nigh impregnable."

MERCHANTS MAKE STRONG PROTEST TO LAWMAKERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Friday, Jan. 22.—A strong protest against anti-Japanese legislation has been sent to members of both houses by the San Francisco business men who recently returned from an extended visit to Japan. At the invitation of various Japanese commercial organizations, the protest is conveyed by letter to the speaker of the House and speaker of the Senate and to all members of both houses, and is signed by the eight San Francisco merchants who made the transpacific trip. The letter is as follows:

The commercial committee of the Chamber of Commerce who recently visited Japan, beg to protest against the proposed anti-Japanese legislation now pending in the United States, and as forcibly as possible to direct your attention to President Roosevelt's bill regarding the restriction of Japanese immigration into the United States.

We firmly believe that any action by the legislature of this state which would discriminate against the Japanese residents of this state will be taken as an affront by the entire Japanese nation.

The Oriental trade passing through the ports of this state has assumed large proportions and is rapidly becoming crippled by such proposed action.

We therefore respectfully request that the action of the Japanese people be deferred indefinitely as being unwise and injudicious.

JAPANESE DIET WILL REDUCE EXPENDITURES

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 22.—The budget committee of the Diet yesterday laid out the situation of the Japanese cabinet regarding the plans for economy of expenditures which the government has mapped out. In accepting the suggestion that the premier had postponed expenditures amounting to 10,000,000 yen, the cabinet secretary of war, said that his department is endeavoring to decrease expenditures. "We are doing this because it is desirable to disabuse the mind of the world of the idea that Japan is persisting in warlike preparations."

Vice-Admiral Makoto Saito said that the amounting to 3,000,000 yen would be made in the department of marine, of which he is secretary. He asserted that it is absolutely necessary for Japan to maintain a standard navy but that the financial condition of the country made the present economies unavoidable.

LOS ANGELES MERCHANTS CONDEMN LEGISLATION

JAPANESE LEGISLATION IMPROBABLE THIS YEAR

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Friday, Jan. 22.—Gov. J. N. Gillett repeated yesterday that there was to be no legislation against the Japanese, so far as he could see, at this session of the California Legislature. He has not decided to address the members of the legislative body in special message, nor does he deem such action necessary, in view of the wide publication of the wishes of the federal authorities. The governor has received a letter from Secretary of State Elihu Root bearing on the Japanese question, but declines to make it public on the ground that Root considers the communication of a confidential character, as having been of the same subject the secretary sent to the Governor in the last few days.

Lumbermen Oppose Parcel Post. MINNEAPOLIS, Friday, Jan. 22.—The lumbermen's convention closed yesterday. It was in favor of the parcel post reduction of the first-class postage to 1 cent per ounce; also as opposing the parcel post law in any shape, as it would be only the first step toward the transportation of merchandise by the government and would be disadvantageous to the interests of retail merchants. C. A. Finkbone, Des Moines, was elected president.

CROOKED PROMOTERS HURT WRESTLING GAME

Farmer Burns Says Most Grapplers Are Honest if Given Chance—Outs Out Managers Himself.

OMAHA, Friday, Jan. 22.—"I have always argued against faking and betting in wrestling," says Farmer Burns. "Why wouldn't I? Wrestling is my business. Why wouldn't I want to make it clean and square? No business can stand that is not."

"I am glad to see the boys entering into an agreement to throw the first man caught taking out of the business. But here is a point which people often overlook. The manager, the promoter, is more to blame for faking than the wrestler. In many of the large cities—not Omaha—a crowd of near-sports gets together and forms a pool or trust, and pulls off all matches according to certain plans. For instance, I go into one of these towns to wrestle a man and we are going to wrestle on the square, the best man to win. One of these trust bosses says: 'No, Jones is a local man and he must win. If you don't let him win, then you can't wrestle. Now, with me, if I say this unfair business is not general. If it was wrestling wouldn't last a year, old man laughed. He boasts that he never had a manager in his life, and has "rassled" for forty years, since he was eight years old. He says: 'If the boys would do like I do, manage their own matches, they would get along better. Why should I spend a lifetime training myself for my business and then cut up the proceeds of my hard labor with some other fellow?'"

"I don't want to be understood as saying that all promoters or managers are unfair. They are not, nor is the majority bad. But I say that too many of these fellows have hurt the game."

HUMAN FREIGHT CAR WANTS GO WITH JOHNSON

If Ed Dunkhorst Gets Into Ring There Will Be No Room for Black Champion.

CHICAGO, Friday, Jan. 22.—Weighing a few pounds less than one-fifth of a ton, Ed Dunkhorst, known to the ring as the "Human Freight Car," arises to hurl a challenge at Jack Johnson, More-over, the "Freight Car" has 55,000 lbs. backing. Tom Flynn, manager of vaudeville houses at Blue Island and Kensington, is the man willing to put up the money.

Dunkhorst now weighs 350 pounds. Chicago fight followers will remember the enormous candidate for ring honors who fought several years ago in Chicago as the biggest fighter in the world, ever stepped into an arena. Dunkhorst weighed only 235 pounds then. He says he can train off 75 or 100 pounds at short notice.

The "Human Freight Car" is making a bigger hit at present than he ever did in the ring. He is appearing at the Grand in Blue Island in a sketch entitled "The Cry Baby," in which Ed takes the part of the "babbling" child of the sketch is this: A woman marries a second husband. Her "baby" is away at boarding school. The new husband is anxious to see his new son. Another man insists that the "baby" should appear in a Buster Brown costume and the fun starts.

Big Ed insists he must be taken seriously this time, although his will hardly be respected. He says he slayed six goats with Jeffries once, stood off Gus Ruhlin for two rounds, and engaged in other honorable fights, which entitle him to the privilege of challenging for a prize fight. He is not a match between Dunkhorst and Johnson is that should it be arranged there would not be room for Johnson in the ring with the "Freight Car."
