AND COMPANY

Jewelers-Silversmiths.

Living up to a store policy like ours has some disadvantages.

For instance, we won't carry goods of poor quality, even though they look all right—nor sell 10-karat gold for 18-karat goods. Hence we sometimes lose a sale.

If you trade with us, we'll do our best to represent the goods correctly and only charge reasonable prices.

MOST CREEDS BEHIND TIMES, SAYS PASTOR

Rev. L. G. Landenberger Speaks for Rational Interpretation of Bible.

REV. L. G. LANDENBERGER.

REV. L. G. LANDENBERGER of St. Louis, missionary pastor of the Illinois Association of the New Jerusalem, in his lecture last night in New Thought Hall on "The Word of God: Its Rational Interpretation" urged his hearers to take their religion from the Bible, according to interpretation of modern days. He said most religious creeds are behind the times, that they still follow after the antiquated ideas of old masters, who, even at their best, were unable to solve the Bible's problems as well as the average educated layman of the present. He insisted that the rigid orthodoxy of the ancient Christians is not demanded by the Bible.

Mr. Landenberger has charge of the Swedenborg exhibit in the Manufactures Building at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

Prof. C. W. Kantner will sing a solo.

Special Services Tomorrow.

Special services will be held at Our Lady Good Help Church, corner Fifth Avenue and Jefferson Street, tomorrow. Low masses, 7, 8 and 9; high mass with full choir and sermon at 11. Many choice selections will be rendered by leading vocalists.

MAINTAINS NO HELL CAN EXIST

Pastor Charles T. Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle Believes Every Man Will Live Two Lives.

PASTOR CHARLES T. RUSSELL, of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, New York, who is speaking at the Bible Students' Convention now in session in Christensen's Hall, is probably one of the most distinctive and unique characters in the religious world today. The chief feature of his belief is that there is no hell, no infant damnation, that the millenium is near at hand, and that for those who persist in wickedness there will be two lives and two deaths, the second everlasting. But for those who repent the second death will never come, and the second life will be eternal.

He believes in none of the church creeds today. His chief reason for this is that practically all of them conflict, claiming different methods of worship must be pursued in order to obtain Divine pardon. He also says that according to most of these orthodox creeds the Bible contains conflicting statements, and that any worshipper seeking the truth in the Bible and attempting to make any one of these creeds conform to it will find himself in a slough of despond. Taking his faith, he declares, no two verses in the Holy Writ will be found to conflict with each other.

He says no man need belong to a church to be a Christian.

Pastor Russell says the prevailing ideas of the millenium, or end of the world, are all wrong. The prophecy of Zephaniah, he states, will soon come to pass, but not in the manner expected. The world will not be destroyed by fire. The wordly institutions will be dissipated, humanity will be resurrected from the first death, or sleep, and started out anew, with a new message and new conditions of environment. In other words, he says we are destined to live in two worlds, and will be given two chances for salvation.

Though Pastor Russell holds the ministry in a thriving church and numbers his congregation by the thousands, its members scattered throughout the world, he is a clergyman with a parish yet without a salary. He has ample means of his own, and refuses to permit admission fees charged or collections taken in any meeting which he addresses.

Forty years ago Pastor Russell became an infidel, because he formed the acquaintanceship of a man whose perplexing questions on Bible questions the deacons and ministers of Pastor Russell's church were unable to answer satisfactorily. Since that time he has spent $300,000 investigating the religious question, carrying his studies into the teachings of Buddha, Confucius and Mohammed and all the other leading cults of the world. He studied the ancient tomes of the oldest Oriental and Occidental libraries, and eventually came back to the Bible. After a second careful study of that book, lasting many years, he announced that he could find nowhere any grounds for the belief that man is doomed to everlasting torment.

In his study of the original manuscripts of the Bible, in the Hebrew, Pastor Russell says the word "sheol," meaning oblivion or death, has been translated into the English Bible thirty-three times as "grave," thirty-one times as "hell," and twice as "pit."

Each day during the Bible Students' Convention, at which hundreds of "unsectarian" scholars, as they call themselves, are present, Pastor Russell conducts a daily symposium of questions and answers concerning mooted points in the Scriptures.

The final feature and real climax of the convention comes tomorrow evening, when this distinguished man delivers his address on "Where Are the Dead?" At that time he will endeavor to make clear the entire nature of his religious doctrine.

Orientals Will Participate in Program of Addresses and Vocal Music at Kinnear Community Gathering.

T. KUMAI.

TOMORROW will be known as "Japan Day" at the regular Sunday community gathering at Kinnear Park, and several Orientals will be prominent on the program as speakers and vocalists. T. Miyawawa, a prominent pastor and religious worker of Osaka, Japan, will address the assembly on the subject, "The Relationship Between Japan and the United States." Other addresses will be delivered by T. Kumai, Rev. R. Inouye, both of this city, and Rev. M. Furuya, pastor of the Japanese Congregational Church of Los Angeles.

Following the addresses a choir of Japanese, especially selected for the occasion, will sing in their native tongue.

Preparations are being made to receive a large crowd and a representative gathering of the local Japanese colony will be present.

NEGRO BAPTISTS HOLD STATE CONVENTION

Distinguished Workers Meet at Mount Zion Church and Discuss Deep Religious Questions.

Probably the most notable gathering of negro religious workers ever held in the Pacific Northwest is taking place in the Mount Zion Baptist Church, Eleventh Avenue and East Union Street, this week, where the tenth annual convention of the negro Baptists is in session. Delegates are here from all parts of Washington and Oregon.

The principal speakers participating in the deliberations are Field Secretary Rev. William Beckham, of Nashville, Tenn., said to be one of the foremost negro preachers in the world; Rev. J. Gordon McPherson, soldier evangelist; Mrs. Julia Parson, a prominent negro missionary worker; Rev. D. S. Slaughter, of Tacoma; Rev. B. B. Johnson, of Portland; Rev. H. C. Parson, of North Yakima, and Rev. J. P. Brown, of Roslyn.

The feature of these meetings is the sober consideration of deep religious questions, touching all phases of the church and Sunday School work with a view to the general raise in the moral and educational standard in the negro race of the Northwest. The musical program, conducted by R. A. Clark, is of a strictly modern character, consisting of numbers by a selected choir of negro singers and solos by talented vocalists, including Madame Annie Dupree, soprano; Charles C. Daniels, of Spokane, baritone, and John C. Payne. The final session of the convention, Sunday evening, is to be a rousing missionary mass meeting, conducted by Rev. Beckham and Rev. McPherson.

MAZDAZNAN NAME OF NEW RELIGIOUS CULT

"Mazdazman," or a religion of physical culture, especially concerning the respiratory organs, is the cult of which Rev. Otoman Zar-Adusht Hanish, of Chicago, now visiting Seattle, is a leader. Dr. Hanish will deliver a lecture on his religion at Eiler's Recital Hall, Third Avenue and University Street, at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Persons who "have no music in their souls" are considered his most needy subjects. Here is a part of his belief: "Never enter into a controversy, but remain self-centered, otherwise you will place yourself in a condition of a negative nature inviting disease and disaster. Express your happy feelings by humming a tune, or even whistling. When fatigued from overwork or from any cause, take a few breaths and take the yolk of an egg, beat it thoroughly, adding enough water to make a glassful and drink or sip it slowly." He also says, "When retiring to bed, forgive and forget the past, and when mentally distressed or in doubt, make it a point to inhale the first sentence of the following invocation. Retain breath during second sentence and exhale upon the last sentence. Repeat this procedure three times and be blessed."

The invocation follows: "Open, Oh thou world-sustaining sun, the entrance unto Truth, hidden by the vase of dazzling light. Soften the radiation of thy illuminating splendors, that I may behold thy true being. From the unreal lead me to the real and unveil the magic illusions of the phenomenal worlds that I may see the path unto realization. Amen."

EXPLAINS DOCTRINE OF SOCIETY OF FRIENDS

G. H. Little, Convener of Sect, Says They Pattern Much After Israelites.

George Henry Little, of Victoria, B. C., and formerly from England, who is acting as official convener for the Society of Friends of the Northwest, explained yesterday the belief of that quaint, interesting religious sect which hires no preachers and in which every member is more or less a teacher of the gospel in public meeting. Mr. Little said:

"What does the religious Society of Friends stand for? In these days of diversity of opinion, of divergence into side issues, of a natural desire to be popular, it is sometimes necessary to get back to first principles in order to be on safe ground. The followers of George Fox, sometimes called Quakers, a term applied in scathing derision by wicked Judge Jeffries whom Fox had bid "quake at the word of God," have always been peculiarly single among the various religious sections of the Christian Church in that they claim the direct and continuous guidance and inspi
