TRAGEDY RESULTS IN UNUSUAL BIGAMY CASE

Wife No. 1, Thought Lost at Messina, Returns to Comfort Husband and Spouse No. 2.

MILAN, Wednesday, March 16.—Directly as a result of the disastrous earthquake at Messina a pointsman at the Messina Station, Scavini by name, has become the possessor of two wives.

either living or dead, proved fruitless. He gave up all hope, became resigned to his fate and ten months later, married a beautiful Messinese.

The other day a well-dressed woman arrived at the Messina Station and inquired for Scavini. He went to her and was surprised to find himself in the presence of his first wife. She explained that she had been badly wounded, and had been rescued by sailors belonging to a Russian cruiser.

AN ODD MISTAKE THAT WOMEN MAKE

Women are inclined to fall into a mistaken idea that any pain about the hips or in the small of the back is "female weakness," and must be endured as a trouble peculiar to the sex.

Kidney weakness, in man or woman, will cause backache, sharp twinges when stooping or lifting, bearing-down pains, fits of "blues," nervousness, dizzy spells, headaches, urinary disorders and swelling of the ankles or limbs.

Backache, or any such irregularity as the too frequent desire to urinate, painful or scalding passages, or sediment in the urine is good cause to judge that you have weak kidneys.

Then begin using Doan's Kidney Pills which have brought new life and strength to thousands of women.

Don't wait for a serious case of diabetes, dropsy, Bright's disease or gravel to develop.

Doan's Kidney Pills is a simple vegetable remedy, yet very quick in its healing and strengthening action on the kidneys. It contains nothing of a narcotic, poisonous nor habit-forming nature and can be taken by any man, woman or child, of even the most delicate state of health.

Seattle Proof. Mrs. L. Rigby, 162 Fifteenth Ave., Seattle, Wash., says: "The public endorsement which I gave in 1907 in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good."

Doan's Kidney Pills can be depended upon to relieve lumbago and pains in the kidneys. Whenever I hear anyone complaining of difficulties caused by weak kidneys, I advise a trial of Doan's Kidney Pills.

BARRINGTONS GLAVIS IN BAD LIGHT

Seattle Man's Testimony Proves Ballinger's Accuser Guilty of Acts Similar to Charges Against Secretary.

PLANS TO PROFIT BY OFFICIAL KNOWLEDGE

Chief Witness Against Cabinet Officer Now Engaged in Timber Land Deal Intended to Net Him $10,000.

Washington Bureau of The Seattle Daily Times and The Bellingham American-Record.

MEN here who have been following the Pinchot-Ballinger investigation, lay much stress on the fact that L. R. Glavis, so far the principal witness against Ballinger, did the very thing himself that Ballinger has been accused of doing, namely, took advantage of his knowledge secured in government service, and has since, years after the close of that service, again operations as a land attorney, they were intended to make him money.

Ballinger was accused of becoming the attorney for the Cunningham people in the matter of their coal claims, shortly following his resignation as commissioner of general land office. Glavis, according to testimony before the investigating committee, within four months after his dismissal from government employ, became a partner of W. W. Barr, of Seattle, in a series of land cases which he decided in their favor, will net Glavis $10,000.

The facts as to this transaction were brought out in the testimony of Barr who was testifying before the committee. Barr is a lumberman in Seattle, Glavis is a land attorney in the city, and the State of Washington was endeavoring to patent and at Barr's suggestion, was endeavoring to locate the records. The cases were as Glavis had supposed them to be, whereupon Barr, or rather Glavis, because of his experience, the profits to be equally divided between them. The right of the State of Washington to the land, and the profits are now pending. Barr believes that he and Glavis will win, as he has secured $10,000 as his share of the profits.

Covers Eleven Pages. The Barr testimony runs through eleven pages of the report of the committee, and shows the interest the committee has in it. The interest does not go to the question whether Ballinger is guilty as charged, but rather to the question of the extent of the profits which Glavis has received in connection with the transactions of this kind. It is greater than that of Barr, because he acted in the strenuous way in which the Glavis people have tried to show rascally on the part of Ballinger because he acted as an attorney for the Cunningham people following his retirement as commissioner.

Section 190 of the revised statutes of the United States makes it unlawful for any person to act as counsel, attorney or agent for prosecuting any case in which the State of Washington is a party, while he is such employee, and this prohibition extends to a period of two years next after he shall have ceased to be such employee.

Another interesting feature of the investigation thus far has been the absolute failure of Gifford Pinchot to produce proof of the charges made by him in his introductory statement, which was published all over the country. Nine-tenths of the Pinchot testimony, according to members of the investigating committee, was argument in support of vague surmises and suspicions held by him, and would have been ruled out in any court of record.

So far as this feature of the investigation is concerned, it is recognized here that it is deep seated and persistent. The clearing of Ballinger by the investigating committee would not be accepted with favor by the country, but on the other hand it is pointed out that the committee would confine itself to facts proved, and can take no notice of suspicions and general impressions.

CANDY DRUNK LATEST CHICAGO INNOVATION

No Necessity for Windy City Saloons to Keep Open While Candy Stores Run.

CHICAGO, Wednesday, March 16.—Getting drunk on candy has become a widespread practice among men, women and children in the state district of Chicago, that the state pure food department has taken a hand in the matter.

After- Impressions

The majority of advertised goods depend for their successful selling not so much on the advertisement itself as on the after-impression—the dimly-conscious memory of the advertisement.

Not long ago an advertising agent who had conducted a particularly successful campaign pointed out that none of the advertisements was memorable or clever in itself, yet, somehow, the total after-impression was extremely powerful.

The medium which has a position of unique prestige and unique confidence makes more vivid and more prominent this after-impression.
