FIRST ORE TRAIN PULLS INTO CORDOVA

Whistles Shriek and People Cheer as Significance of Event Touches Minds of Town's Citizens.

WHOLE DAY GIVEN OVER TO BIG CELEBRATION

First Train Carries Twelve Thousand Tons of Richest Copper Ore Known to Entire Mining World.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Saturday, April 8. The shrieking of whilstles and exercise of every other noise-making agent in the town of Cordova this afternoon signalized the most important event in the place's history, the arrival of the first trainload of ores over the Copper River Railroad from the world-famous Bonanza mines. The day is to be labeled in Alaska history "Copper Day."

The whole day was given over to the celebration, and the entire population of Cordova and nearby settlements joined in emphasizing the significance of the occasion with a zest outdoing the wildest demonstration ever witnessed here.

A special train tendered by the company to representatives of the city conveyed a big body of prominent citizens over the latter end of the road as an escort of honor for the train's triumphal entry. Fitting ceremonles, with addresses by representatives of the railroad, the mines and the city, were held after the train's arrival.

The train is claimed to be the longest that ever transported a single shipment of ore by railroad. Its burden aggregated 12,000 tons, said to be the richest copper, ore known to the mining world. The first section of the shipment will be forwarded to the Tacoma smelter immediately.

The Beautiful Hair of English Women

(Annie Bly in N. Y. Graphic.)

The long, abundant and glossy tresses of English women are not due to hair tonics and heroic shampooing. There is a general belief over there that the less water put on the hair, the better it is; they say wetting "takes the life out" and leaves the hair dull, brittle and colorless. leaves the hair dull, brittle and colorless. English women with hair rich in color, clean and wholesome—and plenty of the have told me they attribute it to dry shampooing two or three times a week. They mix four ounces of therox with four ounces of orris root and sprinkle a table-spoonful of this mixture on the head; then brush the powder thoroughly through the hair. They thus also avoid the danger of catching cold and the discomfort that accompanies washing, rinsing and drying the hair.

This treatment keeps the hair light, fluffy and histrous, and is the only thing I know that will actually produce the growth of hair.

CURTISS ARISES LIKE GULL FROM SALT LAKE

Noted Aviator Makes Successful Flight in Hydro-Aeroplane — Heaviest Test in World Successful.

SOARS FOR TIME, THEN DESCENDS AMID PLAUDITS

SALT LAKE CITY. Saturday, April 8.
—From the surface of the highest body of salt water in the world Glenn H.
Curtiss rose like a gull this afternoon in his newly invented hydro-aeroplane, soared in the air five minutes and with the grace of a kingfisher dipped back into the water, from which he once more gilded into the currents of air. After a few turns in the air the inventor brought his machine to the shore, amid cheers of thousands.

Lieut. Theodore G. Ellison, U. S. N. officially represented the navy, and seemed almost as much pleased as did Mr. Curtiss at the success of the flight. Lieutenant Ellison will open a United States navy school for aviators July 1, giving instructions with two Curtiss biplanes. in his newly invented hydro-aeroplane

Lieutenant Ellison will open a United States navy school for aviators July 1, giving instructions with two Curtiss biplanes.

The ocean on which Mr. Curtiss made his first flight for naval officials in the hydro-aeroplane off San Diego, Cal., contains 3 per cent salt, while the Great Salt Lake, over which he demonstrated today, has 22 per cent salt, and is at an altitude of 4.210 feet above sea level.

The machine flitted about the water, hurling spray and tearing up waves like a motorboat for fully five minutes before it left the surface. The light air in the first place had its effect, and then the heavy water held the machine. More lifting surface will be put on the planes tomorrow.

"I can make the hydro-aeroplane fly from any water in the world," said Mr. Curtiss after his successful flight. "There is no body of water in the world heavier than this and no important body any higher."

EVERETT JAPANESE MUST DEFEND ACTION

Alien Ownership of Property in State of Washington to Be Decided in Case Now on Court Calendar.

EVERETT. Saturday, April 8.—Judge W. W. Black in the superior court here this afternoon ruled that S. Sato, the Eyerett Japanese, must defend the action begun by the State of Washington to escheat property in the red light district near the river in conformity with the state constitution forbidding ownership of lands by aliens. Arguments on the demurrer of Sato were heard by Judge Black in his chambers, the state being represented by Attorney-General W. V. Tanner and Sato by E. C. Daley, J. A. Coleman, on behalf of others interested in the property involved, asked permission to interplead.

Judge Black knocked out the demurrer, ruling the state has a cause of action, but sustained the motion to strike on the ground that the purpose for which the property is used has nothing to do with the ownership thereof.

The ruling means that later on the case will be tried on its merits. It opens the whole question of alien ownership of land in this state, contrary to the state constitution, and is of vast importance under the peculiar circumstances existing. The question of alien ownership of lands in the state has never come up before in just the same circumstances involved in the Everett case, and the points are varied and have nover been made the subject of a ruling by the state supreme court.

Teddy's Proverbial

THOSE who heard dear, old "Teddy" at the rink and also at The Washington can appreciate that it would be sacrilegious for any commercial organization to use his name only when connected with a sincere thought. We are sincere when we say that never before in the history of Seattle has there been placed upon the piano market such real honest values as we are offering at the present time, with all due respect to our worthy competitors. We realize that we have an advantage over regular retail piano houses because we make every piano that we offer for sale, excepting a few used pianos that we have taken in exchange for our own goods.

If you doubt what we say, call and investigate our claim. We do not wish to be branded as fakers, consequently we would ask in justice to ourselves that those who are interested in the purchase of pianos call and give us a chance to prove our statements. As it happens we have an extremely high-class assortment of used pianos which have been exchanged for our own goods. These we wish to turn into money. If you would care to purchase a used piano, we can furnish you a fine instrument under the $200.00 mark.

Player Pianos

Now is your opportunity to purchase a beautiful player piano. They may be had for prices ranging from $366 up, and players you would have to pay $650 for at any other place on the Pacific Coast. Almost any terms may be had. WE MUST SELL THEM.

Investigate everything in the city of Seattle in the way of bargains, then come and see us. Do not slight anybody. We wish to survive and prosper by comparison. No man should make a claim he cannot prove. And we DEFY any retail dealer in the United States to compete with the values we are offering. Why, it is presumptuous upon the part of any regular retail concern to try to duplicate values to be offered by a manufacturer.

Now is your opportunity to get what "Teddy" terms "a square deal." So come and investigate at the
